MILLIONAIRE ACCUSED BY BUTLER

COOLIDGE HAS LIGHT SUIT; BLACK BAND

BOSTON AMERICAN
THE LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION IN NEW ENGLAND
NIGHT EDITION
Vol. 20—No. 125 BOSTON, MONDAY, AUGUST 6, 1923 3 CENTS WORTH IT

Funeral Train Escapes Wreck

K. OF C. TRAIN KILLS MAN

GOMPERS MEETS COOLIDGE

P. & A. Photo

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE IN MOURNING

The widespread use of mourning bands, especially by persons in official life, since the death of President Harding has raised the question of correct usage.

According to the Crocker Mourning House on Boylston street, a recognized authority, the proper band should be of black cloth or silk, three to three and one-half inches in width. This should be worn above the left elbow.

The mourning band may be worn with any style of suit and for a period of time varying according to the closeness in relationship between the deceased and the wearer. Bright-colored ties are considered bad form, when worn with the band.

President Coolidge is wearing this form of mourning, which was originated in England and in later years has come to be universally accepted.

UNKISSED BISHOP OF 71 TAKES BRIDE

Romance entered again today in former Boston school teacher and settlement worker, aged fifty-nine years old, suffragan bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Massachusetts, when Miss Mary Kent Davey, ... Right Rev. William Lawrence, the bishop of the diocese and one of the foremost men in the church, performed the ceremony assisted by ...

Continued on Page 2, Col. 8.

GIRLS, CLAD IN KNICKERS, BARRED FROM MAINE CHURCH

Augusta, Me., Aug. 6.—Ushers at St. Mary's Catholic Church, in fully ... have been instructed not to admit women and girls wearing knickers, sea and similar apparel. It was announced today.

BEACON TRUST COMPANY

Removal to
NEW BANK BUILDING
31 Milk Street

Monday, August 6th

The Beacon Trust Company today is occupying its new Banking Quarters, especially built and equipped with every banking facility, including modern Safe Deposit Vaults.

The Officers, Directors and Employees cordially invite their friends and the public to call and inspect the Banking Quarters.

Capital and Surplus - $3,000,000
Deposits - - - - - - $21,000,000

BEACON TRUST COMPANY
Charles B. Jopp, President

MILLIONAIRE ACCUSED BY BUTLER

Latter Declares He Aided Fell in Rum Smuggling and Fears for His Life

While John R. Fell, Philadelphia millionaire, was being arraigned in court at Narragansett Pier today, charged with assaulting his butler, John Morvischek, a former captain in the Germany army, who was almost drowned at the Pier a few days ago, the American received the following letter from Morvischek:

Narragansett Pier, Aug. 4.

To the Boston American—Dear Sir: Should the word happen to me please communicate with Miss E. Forsber, Carlton Hotel, who knows how I have been threatened by Mr. Fell and Thomas Sheehan after our little quarrel and of the notice through Chief Smith to get out of town, otherwise I'll be arrested for bootlegging.

Mr. Fell submitted me with the said charges of the Wakefield Trust Company with more fills. I thought, some liquor for Fell and friends and to save the scandal to Save the charges of a most. To Fell and Charlie Cantwell I said: "Should you put me out of town I'll get subpoenaed with you to bring that the five ... of last week was pulled off by you. Fell I told to take that night to the boy next to Dougherty.

"Caswell Mr. Caswell and an

Continued on Page 3. Col. 2.

BANK STATEMENT TODAY

Bos. Cl.	$3,000,000	Bos.	$3,000,000
Bos. Nat.	10,000,000	Bos.	12,000,000
N. Y. Cl.	61,000,000	N. Y.	70,000,000
N. Y. Nat.	80,000,000	N. Y.	81,000,000

SATURDAY

Bos. Cl.	$3,000,000	Bos.	$3,000,000
Bos. Nat.	10,000,000	Bos.	8,000,000
N. Y. Cl.	61,000,000	N. Y.	8,000,000
N. Y. Nat.	78,000,000	N. Y.	81,000,000

Your Dog Saw Here—Wee Talk Saw Many Interest Begins

AUG. 10

Think of It!

If out of every dollar you earned you saved ten cents, think where you would be at the end of a year.

Start now!

Home Savings Bank
INCORPORATED 1869
74 Tremont Street, Boston 9, Mass.

HARDING FUNERAL TRAIN NEAR WRECK

North Platte, Neb., Aug. 6.—A narrowly averted wreck of the Harding funeral train occurred just as the station of Chappell, eighty-six miles west of here, was reached ...

Continued on Page 4. Col. 4

WILD SCENES IN DUBLIN AS TRADE CONGRESS MEETS

Dublin, Aug. 6 (AP).—Wild scenes occurred in Dublin today in connection with the Irish Trade Union Congress.

Delegates going ... Mansion House found the approach blocked by a crowd of demonstrators who tried to seize the building shouting "release the prisoners" and "Larkin!" (The Irish labor leader) ...

SULLIVAN NEAR FRANCE IN SWIM ACROSS CHANNEL

Dover, England, Aug. 6 (AP).—Henry Sullivan of Lowell, Mass., the seventh man attempting to swim ...

Henry Sullivan

... was accompanied in the water by ... men, members of the ... ming Club, were to take turns swimming with Sullivan. The American is the first of the several athletes now in training for the swim to attempt the feat this season.

The captain of the channel steamer Indefi reported here that he saw Sullivan six miles off Cape Gris Nez, France. The exposure apparently was going around and conditions appeared fairly good, but a northwest wind was making heavy water off the French shore.

Miss ... American woman ...

Continued on Page 3. Col. 1.

ILL, WIFE HANGS HERSELF IN ASHBURNHAM WOODSHED

Ashburnham, Aug. 6.—... ence A. Aldrich, who was found ... home into the woods Saturday and was found yesterday by a friend and ... dition, hanged herself from a tree in the woodshed at her home.

The body was discovered early today by her husband. Her sister, Mrs. Adelph Hall, lived in poor health and despondent.

RACE SCRATCHES

SARATOGA SCRATCHES

1—Rockcourt, Hanchos, Com Rano, Rags, Kidnap, Miss Brick.
3—Paula Shay, Dream Maker.
5—Singapore.
6—Atherstone.

FT. ERIE SCRATCHES

1—Hermidale, Rehus, Batonnier.
2—Tiracey, Romulus, Billy Connor, Lloyd George, All Eden, Star Right Shot.
3—Bell Fog, Sweet Bengal Home.
5—Black Hackle.
6—Cimarron, Bontire, Ferguson.
7—Breezy Sneezy.

Clear; fast.

Clear; fast.

Keep Your Hair Combed Without Oil or Grease

SLIKUM
(Reg. U. S. Pat. Office)
A Liquid—Not a Cream
KEEPS HAIR IN PLACE
No Stain — No Color
At barbers or druggists

COOLIDGE NOT TO GO WITH BODY

Widow's Wish to Keep Funeral Party Intact Causes Two Trains

Washington, Aug. 6.—At the personal request of Mrs. Harding that the funeral train bearing the body of her husband be left intact, President Coolidge has changed his plans and will not accompany the body to Marion for burial.

The change in plans was made known from Mrs. Harding that she is going the funeral party as it is now arranged, to return intact to Marion for the services and the burial.

It was then Harding's wish that the party that accompanied the body of her late husband East be kept intact and be carried back to Marion for the services and burial. Upon receipt of the telegram conveying this request President Coolidge issued an order that the ... party ... be left intact ... Washington ... Harding ... Marion ... Coolidge ... with the widow of ...

As accompanying ... President Coolidge and personal friends ... will be ... by telegraph with the ... train that will arrive in Washington tomorrow.

Harding already has ... that the ceremonies ... over following those held at ... Ohio, for President McKinley.

On the arrival here tomorrow afternoon Mr. Harding's body will be taken to the East Room of the White House. As yet no definite plans have been made as to whether a brief service will be held there before the body is moved to the Capitol rotunda, where the body will lie in state from noon ... until 8 p. m. Wednesday, ... before the funeral train will ... for Marion.

Secretary of President Coolidge ... Judge Taft, other high ... cabinet officials and foreign diplomats ... Marion will be delivered ... Thursday morning.

Mr. Taft has sent word from Can-

Continued on Page 4, Col. 7.

Interesting Announcement on Page 8

Harvey to Wear Long Pants

GEORGE HARVEY

Ambassador to England, whose retirement is expected with the advent of the Coolidge regime.

THEY TALK OVER COAL SITUATION

Labor Chief Believes President Hasn't Decided Yet About Extra Session

Washington, Aug. 6.—President Coolidge today was in conference more than half an hour with Samuel Gompers, president, and Frank Morrison, secretary, of the American Federation of Labor.

It was to Gompers it will be recalled, that President Coolidge when Governor of Massachusetts in the Boston Police strike crisis wrote the famous letter declaring "There is no right to strike against the public safety by anybody, anywhere, at any time."

TALK EXTRA SESSION

President Coolidge apparently has no present intention of calling an extra session of Congress, but those who called on him today received the impression that he had not made a final decision.

The question of an extra session was discussed by the President with Gompers and Morrison.

Mr. Gompers said the President appeared to have no intention now of calling Congress together ahead of time but was reserving any definite decision.

TO MEET AGAIN

Mr. Gompers brought up by Mr. Gompers because of his desire to submit legislative proposals on behalf of organized labor. He made an engagement to see President Coolidge again early next month to ...

Continued on Page 4. Col. 1.

R. OF C. TRAIN KILLS MAN

Montreal, Aug. 6.—An accident in which a man was killed delayed for two hours the train bearing the Massachusetts delegation to the Knights of Columbus convention. The accident occurred at Franklin, N. H., when the train struck George Prince of Franklin, N. H. Last rites of the church were administered to the dying man by Fathers J. A. Boyle and James C. Timoney, who were on the train.

THE WEATHER

Boston and vicinity: Fair tonight; Tuesday unsettled; probably fair; somewhat easterly winds becoming southerly Tuesday.

Sun rises at 5:40, sets at 7:38.

Moon rises at 12:42 a. m.
High tide at 7:00 a. m., 7:24 p. m.
Temperature: Maximum, 76 at 11 a. m.; minimum, 49 at 3 a. m.; average, 62.5.
Light all vehicles at 8:39 p. m.

FINDS FRENCH PLAYS "TOO DIRTY" FOR U. S.

New York, Aug. 6—Helen Westley, actress who went to Paris seeking plays for the Theatre Guild, returned on La Savoie today without [illegible] seen in France were "so dirty" she would be unwilling to introduce them in America.

WOMAN LEAPS TO DEATH FROM "L"

New York, Aug. 6 (I.N.S.)—A woman believed by police to be Miss E. Renard of Wheelwright, N. J., [illegible] leaped to her death from the 100-foot flatiron of the Hoffman [illegible] would be unwilling to introduce elevated station. Many witnessed the suicide.

HARDING'S CAREER OUTLINED IN FILM

The "cycle rows of President Harding's ordinary death in San Francisco has thrown the entire nation into mourning. [illegible] however, if the fullness of the true [illegible] could only better brought home to the public generally than by the extraordinary series of motion pictures contained in the current issue of the International News Reel.

In that film President Harding's entire career is outlined. He shown from the time when he first became a candidate for the Presidency up to within twenty-four hours before his untimely death.

There also are exceptionally interesting pictures of the new President, Calvin Coolidge. These pictures are exclusive and were made only day before President Hard [illegible]

Topeka, Kas. (I.N.S.)—Governor J [illegible] today is seriously ill with [illegible] according to his [illegible]

Filene's Automatic Bargain BASEMENT

TUESDAY at 9 o'clock---Filene's Basement hangs up another bargain record!

creditors force liquidation!

entire stock men's clothing

1/2 less

Georges of Boston 45-47 Summer Street

1/3 less

On sale in main basement aisle—enter from subway, also from Washington, Summer or Hawley Streets

CHOOSE AT ½ OFF

all men's tuxedos, dress suits — were $11.75, now $5.87
all topcoats and overcoats — were $14.75, now $7.37 all Palm Beach and mohairs — were $25.00, now $12.50
were $40.00, now $20.00
were $50.00, now $25.00
and prices between $5.87 and $25

CHOOSE AT ⅓ OFF

all men's two-pant good suits — were $23.50, now $15.66 all three-piece good suits — were $30.00, now $20.00 all blue serges, dark suits — were $35.00, now $23.33 all sport suits and golf suits — were $45.00, now $30.00
were $60.00, now $40.00
and prices between $15.66 and $40

OUR PLAN
10% first prices or no lost
5% after 12 selling days
10% after 18 selling days
15% after 23 selling days
goods given away to charitable institutions after 30 selling days

412 pairs trousers were $4 a pair now $2.66
were $6.50 and now $4.33 were $9.50 and now $6.33

Yes!

"Georges" was a men's good store, in business in Boston for a great many years, that first opened its doors on the site of the present Filene Building — then moving to the store now occupied by Continental Clothing Co., at the corner of Washington and Franklin Streets.

The Georges store (which had sold clothing to over 10,000 men by actual count) has only been open since October —which means all fresh, new merchandise on sale in a whole main basement aisle, almost from Washington to Hawley streets — extra salespeople!

A bargain harvest for men hard to fit: stouts, shorts, longs — good styles and good patterns and prices, 1-2 and 1-3 Georges' prices. Of course, best choosing at 9 a. m. Tuesday.

185 fine STOUT suits
62 long slim suits
172 SHORT suits
124 fine blue serges

Great news this—for the man who wants good clothes—of good woolens with worthy tailoring. Something for almost every man and savings that will bring wise folks to the bargain doors EARLY Tuesday. Suit yourself and pocket the savings.

HUNDREDS OF OTHER LOTS—NO MAIL ORDERS

'Heck,' Says Cal, Jr., and That's All Lonesome Boy Is Saying

Young Son of President Follows in Silent Pathway of Father and His Vermont Granddad

By JO SWERLING.

Northampton, Aug. 6—When Colonel John C. Coolidge of Plymouth, Vt., swore in his son, Calvin Coolidge, as President of the United States, he spoke less than fifty words.

When Cal. Coolidge was informed of the death of Warren G. Harding, which meant that he was to succeed to the highest office in the greatest nation in the world, his comment was confined to less than twenty-five words.

And when the younger son of the President of the United States, "Cal" Coolidge, Jr., was asked how it felt to be the son of a President granted that this is a silly question to ask a fifteen-year-old boy), his answer was confined to one word:

SILENT MEN

"Heck," said "Cal," Jr.

Plainly nothing to get excited about. Silent men, these Coolidges, not given to displays of emotion, thrifty in their words, and as for Calvin Coolidge, Sr., being elected or appointed or nominated has long since lost its thrill. Ever since his marriage to the pretty young schoolmarm of Northampton, Cal Coolidge has been elected to something or other: City Councilor, City Solicitor, Mayor of Northampton, State Senator, Lieutenant Governor, Governor, Vice-President, and now President, by virtue of Constitutional provision.

"Heck," said Cal, Jr., and he meant it.

"Cal, Jr." is "Cal, Sr." as the latter must have been some two score years ago. The same lean frame. The same slouchy pose. The same stinginess with words. And the same warm smile, which, when it flashes across, lights up the face like a warm lantern.

LONESOME KID

"Right now "Cal" Coolidge the Younger is the lonesomest kid in the most uncanonical town in the world. When Marion, O., found out that it was the home of a President of the United States there was Wassail and celebration, handshakings and mutual congratulations, pedestal reminiscences and chatter which didn't cease for months after the election returns were in.

Northampton isn't the least bit excited.

The day following the death of Mr. Harding, when Calvin Coolidge was sworn in by his father in the Plymouth Notch farmhouse, as the thirtieth president of this country, not one citizen of Northampton came over to the Coolidge home. Not one person called up on the telephone. In Boston, in New York, in Chicago, in the cities and hamlets all over the country, men and women talked of nothing else. But in Northampton, business went on as usual.

And lanky, slim little "Cal" Coolidge sat on the Coolidge porch with his head resting on the palm of his hand. His thoughts belonged to himself. His comment was brusque.

"Heck!" said "Cal," Jr.

The Coolidge home, by the way, is one of the most modest in Northampton. Mr. Coolidge admits that he paid $30 a month rent for it. He's not getting off cheap. It's the kind of home that when you enter invites you in. It says something excusing him for the way things look, but it's so hard to keep things in shape in such small space. The porch at Marion is a noble and roomy one. The porch at Northampton is so small that three chairs crowd it. It is a porchlet, really. The lawn in front of the Coolidge home is so small that young "Cal," desperately trying to make time pass, had no trouble in shaving the whole of it in twenty minutes.

FAR FROM FOLKS

"Cal," Jr., hasn't had a chance yet to shake his father's hand and congratulate him. He hasn't seen his mother since his father was sworn in the dim light of the now historic kerosene lamp on the Vermont farm. He hasn't seen his elder brother, John, for days, for John's having a wonderful time playing soldier at Camp Devens.

He's all by himself, and if you want his opinion, he'll tell you:

"Heck!"

A middle-aged housekeeper is the only companion "Cal" has. She is of old New England stock and regards lack of intensive effort as sinful. But "Cal" doesn't need any looking after, and the house is so small that keeping it in shape is a simple task. So the elderly housekeeper spends most of her time arranging the pillows on the sofa in the modest little sitting room.

RELIC OF 1920

One of these pillows is covered by a slip which shows an elephant charging, with trunk uplifted. Embroidered on the slip are the words "Harding and Coolidge." It's a relic of the days of 1920, when the nation was amazed with the news that two virtually unknown men—one from Ohio and one from Massachusetts—had, out of a clear sky, been nominated over the mighty and the spectacular in the queerest and most dramatic convention of the Republican party since Lincoln's time.

It is plain to be seen at the home in Northampton that the Coolidges —Calvin and Grace—left rather hurriedly. A bit of still life in the narrow little hallway leading into the house tells volumes. There are four pegs upon which to hang up clothes, and three of them are occupied by apparel belonging to the President of the United States.

OLD GARMENTS

On the first peg is a shabby raincoat. On the second is a shabby straw hat. On the third, in most incongruous propinquity to these democratic habiliments, is the coat part of an evening dress outfit. What it is doing there is a mystery. What became of the top hat that went with it? And the trousers and vest and white shirt and studs? Were they all carefully put away? If so, why was the coat left there?

The Coolidge taste in music is illustrated by the record on the cheap little box phonograph on the sitting room table. The title: "Uncle Josh and Aunt Nancy Put up the Kitchen Stove." It is one of those howlingly funny recitations in the Yankee dialect—"Cal," Jr., laughed gleefully as he played it for the edification of the visitors.

On the plain piano two songbooks. One is entitled "Plain Pieces for the Piano. The other is the Epworth Hymnal No.1.

"Fond of music?" young Calvin was asked.

"Heck!" he said.

FATHER'S SON

Surely, somewhere in the heart of this silent young son of a silent man, was a cord which if reached would respond. Trying to interview young "Cal" makes it easy to believe the story that is told of how his father came to ask the consent of Grace Goodhue's father to marry the girl. Mrs. Coolidge tells the story herself.

The young attorney came to Northampton on that occasion and went directly to the home of Mr. Goodhue.

"No," said Mr. Goodhue, "Grace's out just now, Mr. Coolidge. But we expect her back sometime in the afternoon."

"I'll wait," said Mr. Coolidge, and he sat down and began to wait. It is one of the best things he can do, Mr. Goodhue, anxious to entertain, tried ineffectually to open a conversation, but the caller declined to be tempted. Presently, in desperation, Mr. Goodhue asked:

CAME TO MARRY

"What sort of business brings you here today, Mr. Coolidge? Legal?"

"Yes," said Coolidge. "In a way. I came here to marry Grace."

After Goodhue recovered his aplomb, he demanded:

"What has Grace got to say about it?"

"I can't say," said Coolidge. "She doesn't know it yet."

Seven or eight miles from the Coolidge home at Northampton is a tobacco farm, one of scores of similar ones in the Connecticut River valley. "Cal," Jr., works on the farm, trundling there at 7.30 a. m. each morning and back at 5 each evening.

"HECK" AGAIN

"How did you happen to go to work on this farm?" he was asked. "What sort of work is it? Do you like it? Tell us what you think of the tobacco industry."

"Heck!" said "Cal," Jr., and you couldn't get another word out of him.

Silent men, these Coolidges. Not given to garrulity. We watched young Cal as he mowed his lawn. Not much of a lawn. Not much of a job. But we noticed that he didn't stop halfway. He finished mowing that lawn. He gave it a close shave. A score of persons passed—some grownups, some children of Cal's own age. Nobody stopped. A few nodded. Cal kept on mowing.

Imagine the Prince of Wales mowing the lawn in front of Windsor Castle, attired in khaki pants and a shabby shirt? Imagine! We can't.

CALVIN COOLIDGE JR.

BISHOP BABCOCK IS MARRIED

Continued from First Page.

Rev. William Herbert Dewart, the rector.

Just a merchandful of guests were in the shaded church when Miss Davey entered the chancel with her friend and confidante, Miss Martha Peabody, where the bishop was waiting with his friends of years standing, Charles Bolton, the librarian of the Athenaeum.

Just as Bishop Lawrence began the simple service, the sun pencilled its way through the stained glass windows, bathing Bishop Babcock and his bride in a warm glow of various hues.

The church was not decorated and the ceremony was probably one of the most simple and plain of any ever held in that edifice, which in years past was the scene of some of the most brilliant and picturesque gatherings known in the history of Boston.

To a reporter the bishop said: "There will be no gayety, just happiness. We are rather past the stage of gayety.

The bishop met his wife while he was engaged in ministering aid to the poor of the North End. They came on each other at the settlement down on Salem street known as "The Home by the side of the road."

Bishop Babcock is known as the "turkissed bishop" because of a recent admission to a reporter that he had never been kissed.

OWSLEY NAMES LEGION COMMITTEE

Washington, Aug. 6.—Commander Alvin M. Owsley of the American Legion appointed a committee to represent the World War Veterans at the services for President Harding. Robert O. Blood of New Hampshire is included. Ten of the committee will march in the funeral cortege.

INTERESTING ANNOUNCEMENT ON PAGE 8

BOSTON AMERICAN
BOSTON, MONDAY, AUGUST 6, 1923

REST YOUR EYES
READ THE GREEN
ADVICE OF OCULISTS

PARIS DIVORCE FOR R. I. GIRL WED A YEAR

Providence girl wedded in June, 1922, has been granted a divorce in Paris. She is only 20 years old and was Clare Samuels before her marriage. She will sail for home on August 15.

MRS. CLARE J. BERNSTEIN

Providence, Aug. 6—Mrs. Clare J. Bernstein, twenty-year-old daughter of Leon Samuels of this city, has been divorced in Paris, their friends learned today. The news caused much surprise, as Mrs. Bernstein, vivacious and beautiful "came out" but two years ago. The event was a society affair still talked of. In June, 1922, she married Mortimer Bernstein of New York. The Samuels have a cottage at Narragansett Pier.

Mrs. Bernstein, according to dispatches, is in Paris with her mother, but will sail August 15 on the Homeric for this country. She will make her home in New York.

5 DIE, 61 HURT IN AUTO CRASHES

Rival a "Nut" Girl Tells "Love Pirate"

26 INJURED IN MOTOR CRASH

Truckload of Picnickers and Auto Collide in the South End

Twenty-six persons, including women and children, were injured early today when a picnic truck collided with an automobile at Massachusetts avenue and Tremont street, South End.

Five killed and sixty-one injured is the record for Sunday and today.

Eleven of the injured persons were bundled into the East Dedham street station patrol wagon and removed to the City Hospital.

In the collision another automobile, operated by David McCarthy of No. 22 Webber street, Medford, was sideswiped, but the occupants escaped injury.

The truck was operated by Michael Bonnano of No. 4 D street, South Boston. Edward J. Doherty of No. 6 Eller street, Dorchester, was driver of the other machine.

The picnic machine, with the right of way over the Doherty automobile, was proceeding north along Tremont street. The latter car was nearly into the continuation of Massachusetts avenue when struck. Both automobiles overturned, throwing their occupants to the street.

FOLLOWED DAY'S OUTING.

The picnickers were returning from a day's outing at Rocky Point, Rhode Island.

Among those injured were: Eschar, 13; Bridget, 15; Viola, 14; Mary, 24; Gelsomino, 30; Joseph, 50, and Mrs. Margaret Pelosi, all of Hawthorne street, Everett; Mrs. Annie d'Martena, 28, of No. 3 Hawthorne street, Everett; Mrs. Catherine, Albert and Ethel McGovern of No. 91 River street, Mattapan; Mrs. Mary Roche, 24, of No. 93 River street, Mattapan; Manuel Fernando of Nantasket.

John J. Callahan, 10 years old, of North Easton, was killed when struck by an auto owned and operated by Robert W. Lenox of Church street, Milton.

Lenox was arrested charged with manslaughter.

Milton Rhyne, three years old, of Dorchester avenue, Attleboro, died at the Sturdy Memorial Hospital, Attleboro, from a fracture of skull, and John Burns, ten years old, of No. 35 Erie street, Cambridge, died at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Crowe, No. 281 Albion street, Wakefield, narrowly escaped death at the notorious "Dead Man's Curve" at Mansfield Corners, when a bee stung Mr. Crowe between the eyes and caused him to lose control of his automobile.

Hugh Conley, a sailor from Destroyer No. 49, and J. J. Conlin, a sailor from Destroyer No. 10, suffered possible internal injuries when the motorcycle they were riding struck the rear of an automobile owned and operated by Thomas W. Smithers, No. 30 Utica street, Lexington, on Woburn street, Lexington.

BABY SEVERELY CUT.

Three persons were injured and bruised in an automobile collision at State road and Massachusetts avenue, Lexington. Mrs. George D. Freeman, No. 113 Waltham street, Lexington, her daughter Jennie and her sixteen-months-old baby were severely cut and bruised.

Eight persons were injured in a motor car collision at Mystic avenue and Temple street, Somerville. Sheehan and Quinn were also arrested.

President Will Be Same Old Pal, Says His Son John

Chip of Old Block, unperturbed. Unthrilled by father's elevation, is in training at Devens.

By BERT FORD.

Camp Devens, Aug. 6.—Father will be kept busy as President, but in off hours he'll be the same dad and companion. And he will make good on his new job.

The speaker was Buck Private John Coolidge, second platoon, First Company, Citizens' Military Training Camp. Private John is far better known as elder son of the country's new Chief Executive.

There was not a trace of boasting in John's tone or manner. The Coolidges are not boasters. John is as reticent and retiring as his distinguished "daddy," and as calm and deliberate.

Rather were the words quoted above freighted with admiration and affection for, and profound confidence in "Pop" Coolidge. The utter composure with which he dealt with a subject that made his father's family the first in the Nation and which engrossed the world, showed the fibre of the lad.

CHIP OF OLD BLOCK

There are no rattle heads in the Coolidge household. Private John is a chip of the old block. He'd never be in danger of growing hoarse from talking, but the little he says carries the sense of an adult. John Coolidge is modest and intelligent. He's a young aristocrat. He will be heard from some day. And Private John is a regular royal rooter for military training for the youth of the land.

John digressed long enough to confess a secret. He said one of the biggest disappointments in his young life was when drill was abolished at Northampton High School. It was John's eagerness to get more drilling that caused him to jump at his father's suggestion that he join the Citizens' Training Camp.

"One month after I entered high school back home in Northampton," said John, "drill was suspended and I was awfully disappointed. I liked it very much. I am enjoying military routine here a lot. It's great training for every boy. I think. Builds you up physically and mentally.

LIKES DISCIPLINE

"And the discipline is good, of course. I had become rather used to doing things on schedule, because our routine at Mercersburg Academy in Pennsylvania, which my brother, Calvin, and I attend, is much the same.

"No, I'm not going to Princeton although most of the students at Mercersburg are prepared for Princeton. I'm going to Amherst, dad's college. I would rather be a civil engineer than anything else, and take a special course at Tech after I finish at Amherst.

"I would like to win a commission in the military camp, but that takes years. I do not intend to follow the army as a career. We have hardly got going here yet. Only started camp the first of the month. Officers and 'chow' and the officers are everything are fine. Rifles haven't been issued yet. The setting-up exercises are interesting and invigorating.

NOT THRILLED

"When did I learn dad was President? Friday morning early, when headed for the 'chow' line. Carl Longstreth, commander of our company, told me. Then an hour or so later I saw the headlines in one of the newspapers. I received a letter from mother that day, but it was written before Mr. Harding's death. I am very sorry for Mr. Harding and for Mrs. Harding.

"Mother wrote in her letter that she expected to come to Boston this week and would pay her first visit to me at the 1,500 student soldiers here in camp. Developments will present themselves now. No. I don't think I will go to Washington. I prefer to remain right here and work until September 3, when the camp ends.

"Did news that dad was President give me a thrill? Well, I don't know," drawled Private John reflectively. "Of course, it is a great honor, but it's dad's duty and he's done it and make good.

The fellows have razzed me a little, in a good-natured way, since they learned my love I would like to live in the White House and how it felt to be the President's son, and I have laughed it off. They will forget it in a day or two and I shall be glad.

TALLER THAN DAD

"Since Father became Vice President my brother and I have only been in Washington for the holidays. I like Washington, but not nearly so well as Northampton. I was very fond of Northampton High School, too. How do I like to have dad in official life? Well, he's always been in public life and I've got used to it. Father likes some life. We all do. We have a fine crowd of fellows in camp here. I'm very contented here."

John Coolidge is one of the young-

Above, Private John Coolidge, son of the President, whose gaze misses us for the absence of one from known photos of his dad. Below, a more recent picture, which reveals he is a new looking boy and more as than his father. Left to right, Lt. Vass, George Ross of Vergennes, Vt., and Private Charles Ross of Alton, Mo.

Coolidge Confers on Legality of His Oath

Washington, Aug. 6—The visit of Justice Stafford, of the District Supreme Court to President Coolidge raised anew the question of whether the oath administered by his father was sufficient.

The father, Colonel John C. Coolidge, is a notary public holding a commission issued by the State of Vermont. The question is whether this is sufficient authority to make binding the obligation or whether a strict compliance with the Constitution would require the administering official to hold a federal commission empowering him to administer oaths.

The President, according to Secretary Clark, regards the oath administered by his father all that is required. He desires, however, to be sure that the judicial authorities agree with him. It is understood that a final decision was not reached at the conference.

HER LETTER TO HOWARD SMITH

Another of Her Sweethearts, She Said, Married a Widow With 3 Children

Howard Edgar Smith, "love interest" of the North Shore, was asked by a Danvers sweetheart, "Who is dove?" Her letter to the "pirate," who had a girl at every port, follows:

"Danvers, Mass.

"My darling Howard:

"Received your letter today and was sure surprised to get such a quick answer. You can answer quicker if you want to, can't you, darling?

"Howard, dear, you'll scream when I tell you something. I don't know whether it is true or not but I heard it. C. B. is married. He married a widow with three children. Are you surprised? I think it is a joke, don't you?

"He certainly must have wanted a wife when he would marry one with three children. Look out, old dear, don't you slip away from him. You know he was your old pal. A heck of a one though.

Howard Smith

NO MORE SKIING.

"Dont you worry, Howard, I'll take good care of my arm from now on. I know how I suffered with it and wanted to cut off before asking for me as long as I live. I don't care what they say I am, pollow, green, pink, or anything else, I'll never go.

"Dove, Howard dear, I've got something awful to tell you. There has been a young fellow hanging around here. You know what a dark place P— avenue is for about two weeks. We noticed him but didn't take much heed of him.

"Friday night when me were going to church the young fellow who lives across the street from us came out and asked him if he was doing hanging around there. He replied that it was none of his business and that it was a free thoroughfare and he or anyone else couldn't make him get off.

SCARED BLUE.

"Then, Howard darling, I wish you were there to protect me. I was scared blue.

"It went off the other night and she was afraid to come home, so a man two houses up came down with her and he said a young fellow came to the door and asked where Howard and he described the fellow with swimming around Manhattan Island and from Albany to New York, started the Channel swim at 8:25 today. She entered the water at the Shakespeare Beach accompanied by two Dover motor boats and a pilot. Her husband kept alongside the swimmer in a rowboat to give her food as she might require it.

Continued on Page 9, Column 6.

SULLIVAN NEAR GOAL IN SWIM

Continued from First Page.

At 12:30 o'clock Mrs. Carson had reached a point five miles out. By this time the tide had turned westward. The swimmer would thus drift down the channel on the next stretch of her swim.

BIG N. Y. ORDER FOR MOURNING

New London, Aug. 6—The Thames Dyeing Company today received an order for 60,000 yards of mourning cloth. It is to be used for decorating New York business houses on Friday next, the day set apart by Presidential proclamation as public mourning day for the departed President.

Harding Memorial in Westminster, Friday

London, Aug. 6 (AP)—A memorial service for the late President Harding will be held in Westminster Abbey at noon Friday, it was announced today by the American Embassy.

General Gouraud to Represent France

Paris, Aug. 6 (AP)—General Henri J. E. Gouraud, military governor of Paris, the French who here now visiting the United States, has been made an envoy extraordinary for the occasion of President Harding's funeral, it was announced today. General Gouraud will represent the French government officially at the services.

15¢
Ready to use
GULDEN'S
MUSTARD
Absolutely Pure
ESTABLISHED 1867

FELL ACCUSED BY BUTLER

Continued from First Page.

other man wanted to pull the box at the other end of the town (Wakefield road) at the same time, but was prevented from doing so by people standing by.

"Mrs. Caswell admitted they had plenty of fun last year doing the same thing and innocent people were blamed for it."

"I love my wife and my dearest child and longing to be with them soon.

"I have worked with Fell since May 19, 1922, and was complimented for taking such good care of him by Mr. and Mrs. Van Raensaler recently. I have been honest with Fell.

"Please have my things shipped to my wife. They are at the Hyland House, Room 5. Do all you can do for them, please.

FEARS FOR SAFETY.

"This breaks my heart. I have a bad feeling something is going to happen to me. Respectfully,

"JOHN MORVISCHEK.

"P. S.—Please help my wife and child if possible. I am longing for a home."

JUMPED FROM SEA WALL.

The butler wrote the letter while police searched for his body Saturday believing he had been drowned. He had jumped from a sea wall following the alleged attack. He was found in riding, however, on Sunday and told a vivid story of his escape from his former employer.

According to Morvischek, Fell, together with Bernard Quinn, a former police officer, and Fell's chauffeur, Thomas Sheehan, set upon him near the Carlton Hotel, a few feet from the sea wall.

After receiving severe cuts and bruises, he threw himself into the water to escape his attackers. He first swam a quarter of a mile to a point off Tucker's Wharf and held onto a yacht until he was rested. He then swam a mile to Indian Rock and rested again.

From there he swam to the Point Judith Country Club and asked for shelter, but was refused. Finally, after he had walked about six miles, he reached the cottage of Frank Gamache, where he was taken in and cared for.

TAKEN BY POLICE.

Chief Smith was notified of Morvischek's whereabouts and went to the cottage and placed him under arrest on the charge of assault.

According to the police, Morvischek was discharged from Fell's employ a few weeks ago and had threatened to inform the authorities of his alleged smuggling of liquor from rum ships several miles off shore. Morvischek claims that when Fell was unable to bribe him he hired thugs to beat him up.

As a result of the fight, Sheehan and Quinn were also arrested.

LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

CAPITAL EXPECTS LODGE TO SUCCEED HARVEY AT LONDON

MANY GHANGES TO BE FORCED ON COOLIDGE

Continued from First Page.

submit labor policies which are to be discussed at a meeting this month of the federation's executive council.

The situation in the coal industry was taken up last without mention of any threatened strike.

Ambassador Harvey Faces Coolidge's Axe

Washington, Aug. 6.—George Harvey, Ambassador to Great Britain, is doomed to return to private life with the advent of the Coolidge administration.

His three days in the Capital are said to have brought President Coolidge to a realization that there are certain cabinet changes. Paramount among these in the mind of the State Department is that of Ambassador Harvey.

Secretary of State Hughes and Senator Brandegee of Connecticut called on the President at the summer White House and their mission is believed to have directly concerned the ambassador.

If Harvey fails to tender his resignation, there is no doubt but that he will be at once prompted to by Mr. Coolidge. For months, Harvey and official Washington have been at swords' points and only the strong personal friendship between Harvey and President Harding saved the former.

CLIPS HIS CHANCE

Notwithstanding the advice given to Mr. Coolidge by some of the party leaders that an extra session of Congress to deal with the farming crisis would not be a wise move, this question has not been settled. New England leaders interested in the coal situation also are demanding an extra session, and the two problems combined might prompt the Executive to issue a call.

If the gathering of Congress is deferred until December, it is doubtful that much opportunity to make a record on which he could go before the country for the Presidential nomination next summer.

Advocates and opponents of the world court are wondering what course Mr. Coolidge will pursue on this. He has been quoted as both favoring and opposing.

MAY SPLIT PARTY

Those who say he is opposed to it assert that he is too good a party man to ignore the advice of the managers that the court question will split the party with disastrous results in the election. Others declare he has indicated he will follow President Harding in the matter.

Sen. Lodge

F. W. Stearns

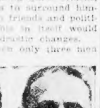
If the new executive should take a stand against the court proposal, it is believed Secretary Hughes would not remain in the cabinet. He is the court's chief sponsor, along with Secretary Hoover. Attorney General Daugherty, it is agreed on every hand, will resign upon retiring. Postmaster General New likewise is not expected to stick long. If Hoover decides to throw his hat in the ring, as many expect, he cannot remain in the cabinet.

SURE TO RUN

There is no doubt in the minds of politicians here that Mr. Coolidge will be a candidate for the renomination. It is becoming quite evident, too, that he plans to surround himself with his own friends and political advisers. This in itself would seem to indicate drastic changes.

There have been only three men

B. F. Felt



Sen. Brandegee

taken into Mr. Coolidge's inner personal circle since he became a national political figure three years ago. All of them were in town Sunday. Frank W. Stearns, expected to be the closest friend of the Coolidge family, came down from Washington with the President and continues a visit exceeding that of the executive.

James Hamilton, who managed Mr. Coolidge's campaign for the Presidency in 1920 and looked for him his Vice Presidency, which now puts him in the White House, resides in Washington. He is viewed as one of the larger hooks of the city.

BUTLER CALLS

Before returning to Boston the Coolidge party motored to the summer home of Mr. Reynolds was in conference with the President.

W. M. Butler

J. B. Reynolds

Simmons, the last of the trio, William M. Butler, Boston woolen and textile manufacturer, who succeeded Secretary of War Weeks about two months ago as one Republican National Committeeman from Massachusetts, arrived soon the scene. He and Stearns were luncheon guests of the President and remained with him for several hours afterward.

Butler, who arrived here, was trained in the late Senator Murray Crane's political school. When Coolidge was a strong adherent of the former U. S. Senator Senator Frank H. Brandegee, Connecticut Republican national committeeman, and Butler, who succeeded Senator Crane, was also a valley.

Edward D. Duffy, secretary to Governor Coolidge, has been with the President and will serving in that capacity, while J. B. Reynolds, one of the Governor's friends, who is associated with the leader of the Republican machine in Massachusetts, Mr. Stearns, are mentioned in connection with the position of secretary to the President. Reynolds also is regarded as a likely successor to Postmaster General New.

In the event of Hughes or Hughes retiring, it would not be surprising to see the undersecretaryship of the state portfolio tendered to Senator Lodge, who hails from the President's State. While the certain scenario days ahead in the Senate, Lodge is more too anxious to continue at the Republican helm. It is believed he would be averse to tossing his long public career in the State Department or at the court. St. James. This would make way in the Senate for a more vigorous leader to battle with the insurgent forces in the coming session, in which event might be made.

LODGE MAY QUIT

Then followed Secretary of State Hughes and Tom Assistant Secretary of State J. Butler Wright. Justice Woodrow Wilson, ex-President of the United States Supreme Court, also was a caller.

Edward D. Duffy, secretary to Governor Coolidge, has been with the President and will serving in that capacity, while J. B. Reynolds, one of the Governor's friends, who is associated with the leader of the Republican machine in Massachusetts, Mr. Stearns, are mentioned in connection with the position of secretary to the President. Reynolds also is regarded as a likely successor to Postmaster General New.

In the event of Harvey or Hughes retiring, it would not be surprising to see the undersecretaryship of the state portfolio tendered to Senator Lodge, who hails from the President's State. While the certain scenario days ahead in the Senate, Lodge is more too anxious to continue at the Republican helm. It is believed he would be averse to tossing his long public career in the State Department or at the court. St. James. This would make way in the Senate for a more vigorous leader to battle with the insurgent forces in the coming session, in which event might be made.

FUNERAL TRAIN NEARING END OF JOURNEY

Continued from First Page.

starting at Council Bluffs came to a stop. It was then discovered that the two-inch iron rim on one of the mammoth engine drive wheels had become loosened and warped in such a way that it was practically off the wheel.

Trainmen declared after examination of the wheel that if the engine had gone forty yards further the fire would have been thrown completely off and the engine certainly ditched, with possibilities of wrecking some of the forward cars of the train.

Credit for bringing the engine to a stop in time to prevent its being wrecked was divided between the engineer, Joe Schlegert of North Platte, and Harvey Gibson, a veteran engineer of the system, who was riding in the cab of the engine. O'Neil was sitting on the fireman's side of the cab, and when the first sign of something being wrong with the driving wheel was detected by his experienced ear, he shouted to the engineer to put on the brakes. His keen mechanical mind at once knew that the tire had been "shot," and that a wreck would occur unless the engine were quickly stopped.

After the train was halted, examination proved O'Neil's theory was correct. It was found that the engine was unable to proceed. Railroad men, who gathered about the engine, were quick to praise O'Neil for his swift discernment, and Engineer Schlegert for stopping the heavy train of seven steel coaches so quickly.

Harding's Body Nearing the East

On Board Harding Funeral Train at Omaha, Neb., Aug. 6. (AP)—The trans-Missouri West has paid his final tribute to the memory of Warren G. Harding, and the East was given its first opportunity today as the funeral train bearing his body from San Francisco to Washington sped steadily towards the national Capitol.

As eloquent and silent and impressive as were the tributes of the Western States traversed, these manifested by the people eastward from the Missouri river along the railway line to Chicago showed plainly the love and affection of the section of the country for the man who was until last Thursday evening their chief executive.

It was only because of the increased population of the States traversed today that the groups of persons who have stood mourning along the sad trail since the train left the Golden Gate City appeared in larger numbers and at more frequent intervals.

Their manner of tribute was but that of the smaller gatherings seen in the western stretches at every ranch, mining camp railroad station or corner of greater habitation, and the effect of none was lost by the woman who journeyed with the dead in the last car and who still resisted bravely against any outward sign of surrender to her sorrows.

NEARING CHICAGO.

The route followed today led through the States of Iowa and Illinois, beginning at Council Bluffs and continuing through Dennison, Carroll, Boone, Ames, Marshalltown, Cedar Rapids and Clinton, Iowa, and Sterling, Dixon, and De Kalb, Illinois, to Chicago.

Arrival within the city limits of Chicago was scheduled for 3:30 p. m. (Central Standard time), and after a short pause there, the train will speed onward around the tip of Lake Michigan and through Indiana.

Nebraskans bowed their heads in silent tribute to the late President today.

MEET TRAIN.

From the time the special train bearing his body crossed the far Western border of Nebraska until it arrived at Omaha, Nebraska paid homage to the late President.

As the special pulled in to the Union station thousands were unable to get past the iron gates separating the station waiting room from the tracks, but they peered through the iron bars while thousands of others stood on nearby elevated streets until the train pulled out.

United States Senator R. B. Howell of Omaha and Major-General George B. Duncan, commanding officer of the Seventh Army Corps area, were among those present.

State officials, headed by Lieutenant-Governor Fred G. Johnson of Hastings, came with a floral wreath bearing the word "Nebraska." They brought with them, too, a resolution of Nebraska's regrets for the departed one, and a message of sympathy for his widow.

ONE HOUR LATE.

At Sidney, North Platte and Grand Island, at which points the train stopped and at various other towns hundreds stood with bared heads as the special passed.

The train was somewhat late in Omaha, because of the storms and because the locomotive slipped a tire at Chapelle. This, however, caused no serious inconvenience, as another engine from a train following was requisitioned, and the journey was resumed.

At Council Bluffs the train did not stop, but slowed down and from 5,000 to 10,000 persons watched it go by.

At Jefferson, Iowa, the train passed through at 6:20 A. M., nearly one hour behind its schedule.

COOLIDGES AT WORSHIP

President and Mrs. Coolidge guarded by Secret Service men, arriving at the First Congregational Church to attend Sunday service. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Jason Noble Pierce. Several hundred persons stood outside with bared heads as the President and his wife arrived. There was no demonstration.

FRANK STEARNS OR BUTLER FOR "THRONE MAN"

Washington, Aug. 6.—Harding had his Harry Daugherty, Wilson had his Colonel House, McKinley had his Mark Hanna.

Who is to be "the man behind the throne" in the Coolidge administration?

It will be either one of two men—either Frank W. Stearns, closest friend of Mr. Coolidge, or William M. Butler, Republican national committeeman from Massachusetts, both are of Boston.

Frank Stearns has always been regarded as the man closest to and with more influence with Calvin Coolidge than any man living. Their friendship is one of the most interesting stories of American political life. It began years ago, when Coolidge was a member of the Massachusetts Senate. He represented the district in which Amherst College is situated.

BOTH AMHERST MEN.

Stearns, like Coolidge, is an Amherst man. Stearns was interested in some organization which he thought would benefit the college. He appealed to Mr. Coolidge's college sentiment. Coolidge was cool to the proposal, much to the discomfiture of Stearns who left the State House in a huff.

He was greatly impressed, however, with the courage of a man who would turn down a friend, and from that time on Stearns became the backer and political mentor of Coolidge.

On the other hand, Butler is considered by many the wise man of Massachusetts politics. By reputation he is a sphinx. He is the one man in Massachusetts to whom many politicians tell their plans and secrets and in whom they find a discreet confidant.

For many years he has been a close personal friend of President Coolidge. Those who know Butler and Coolidge say that it was Butler who was the real adviser in the Boston police strike.

STEARNS "DISCOVERER."

It is well known, however, that Stearns is the man who discovered the political Coolidge, backed him for Lieutenant-Governor of Massachusetts, was leading booster for him in his gubernatorial campaign and predicted years ago that some day he would be President of the United States.

COOLIDGE WON'T GO ON FUNERAL TRAIN

Continued from First Page.

nals that he will arrive in Washington tomorrow to participate in the ceremonials here and in Marion tomorrow. Woodrow Wilson hopes to take some part in the Washington ceremonies.

Those in charge of the funeral arrangements here endeavored today to complete their plans.

Hotel accommodations at Marion are not extensive, and it will be almost impossible to find sleeping accommodations Thursday night for members of the supreme court, the Congressional party, and the representatives of the diplomatic corps and others who will accompany the party of the new President to the former President's home town.

Sentimental considerations also played a part in the decision to have a second funeral train. President Coolidge, it is understood, feels that he should not spend Thursday in Marion.

That will be the last day of the former President in the little town which he loved so dearly, and it is the feeling of President Coolidge that Marion should have that day to itself and its expression of feelings toward its former distinguished townsman, without any diversion of attention to the new President.

Mrs. Harding May Go Abroad After the Funeral

Marion, O., Aug. 6.—Announcement that Mrs. Harding will make her home for the immediate future with Dr. and Mrs. Charles E. Sawyer at their place on the outskirts of Marion is regarded by her friends as premature.

She probably will return to Marion after the sorrowful days of moving from the White House are completed, but whether she will reside with the Sawyers or at the home of her brother in Marion has not been decided.

Ultimately, she has told her friends, she would like to travel a bit abroad if her health permits.

Does Your Watch Perform Properly?

UNBREAKABLE CRYSTALS JEWELRY REPAIRING IF YOUR WATCHMAKER fails to repair your watch and make it RELIABLE, let us do it for you. Our watchmakers are competent to put in thorough order Ladies' tiny Swiss and American watches. Also to repair and regulate highgrade watches to heat, cold and position. Out-of-town customers send watches by registered mail for estimate. When you want to buy a dependable watch,

WILSON BROTHERS' BIG JEWELRY STORE
Read Psalms 91, 17 WATCHMAKERS AND SILVERSMITHS 14-16-16 Tremont Row, Scollay Square Read Rom. 8, 28
Eyes Examined. Glasses Carefully Fitted and Adjusted. Open Evenings
Optical Repairing While You Wait

REVISED PRICES
Macullar Parker
"Vacation Specials"

MEN'S CLOTHING DEPT.

Odd Wool Knickers
Scotch and Domestic Tweeds, $12 to $16. Revised to $8, $9, $10, $12.

Knit Sport Coats
$15, $18. Revised, $12, $15.

White Flannel Trousers
$12, $14. Revised, $8.50, $9.50, $11.

Odd Long Trousers
$12, $16. Revised, $6.50 to $12.

Odd Gray Flannel Trousers
$10. Revised, $8.

Striped Gray Flannel Trousers
28 to 13 waist, $10. Revised, $5.50.

Striped White Serge and Flannel Trousers
$12, $13. Revised, $9.50, $10.50.

Palm Beach Knickers
Natural, Sand, Gray, $8. Revised, $6.

Linen Knickers
Oyster White and Natural. Special at $6.

MEN'S FURNISHING DEPT.

Silk Shirts
All Silk Broadcloth, at price of fine Madras; sizes 14, 15, 15½ in quantity. Few 17½. $6.50. Revised, $4.15.

Hosiery
English, Extra Fine Lisle, $4, $4.50. Revised, $3.50.

Hosiery
Imported Fine Lisle, with Fancy Clocks, $4. Revised, $3.

ALL STRAW HATS AT FINAL PRICES

Macullar Parker Company
"The Old House with the Young Spirit"
TREMONT STREET AT BROMFIELD

SALE

Now $8.50
A comfortable Blucher Oxford for men—it was exceptional value at $10. No. X7643.
At the Downtown Store of Temple Pl. 15 West St.
THAYER McNEIL COMPANY

Try this
PEAR CUP

Heat ½ cup water and ½ cup sugar until the sugar melts. Add and boil the juice of 1 lemon. Peel, core, and dice 4 California Bartlett Pears and pour the syrup over them. Serve cold in sherbet or cocktail glasses and sprinkle ½ teaspoon of finely chopped crystallized ginger over each serving.

When fresh California Bartlett Pears are off the market use diced or canned California Bartlett Pears with the above recipe and obtain excellent results.

A postal will bring you our new Calif. Fresh Pear Recipe Book. Address California Pear Growers Association, 316 Pine Street, San Francisco, California for HOT WEATHER

Fresh California Bartlett Pears

The first bite will convince you of the reviving effectiveness of the cooling, refreshing juice that Nature has stored in fresh California Bartlett Pears.

During the hot weather there is nothing that you can put into your stomach that will feel as grateful—that is as good for you as these luscious, thirst-quenching, appetizing California Bartlett Pears.

They are being sold everywhere.

They cost so little that you need not stint yourself.

CALIFORNIA PEAR GROWERS ASSOCIATION SAN FRANCISCO

INTERESTING ANNOUNCEMENT ON PAGE 8

BEACON TRUST BUILDING

31 MILK STREET — BOSTON, MASS

BANK GREETS FRIENDS IN BEAUTIFUL NEW HOME

With the formal opening of its new banking quarters in the newly erected building at Milk, Arch and Hawley streets, the Beacon Trust Company today greeted its thousands of friends and customers in what is acknowledged to be the most beautifully designed and perfectly appointed banking quarters in New England, if not in the entire United States.

The entire main floor, basement and portions of the second and third floors of the eleven-story fire-proof building will be occupied by the bank. The balance of the building will be rented for offices. The new building covers the site and replaces the structure formerly known as the Bowdoin Building, affording a total floor area of about 9,500 square feet. The total space occupied by the bank aggregates about 30,000 square feet.

The main banking room is located in the street floor, and occupies a space of about 6,000 square feet.

Entrance to the banking room, from the main entrance on Milk street is made through a lobby finished with dark, multi-colored American boulder marble, into a foyer, at each side of which are located the tellers' cages and the desks for the bank's executives. Directly in front of, and a short distance from the main entrance, are stairs leading to the safe deposit vault in the basement. Standing at the head of this stairs, the opening to which is protected by a heavy bronze hand rail, the vista presented is of a heavy steel railing extending from floor to ceiling, behind which stands a huge vault, of apparently infinite depth, the opening to which is protected by a circular steel door of gigantic proportions.

At both sides of the main floor are the tellers' cages, of heavy bronze ornamented with a pleasing conventional two-tone leaf and beacon design. At the front, on both sides, behind low railings, are placed the desks of the various banking executives. These desks and chairs are of special design, and like all of the woodwork in the bank, except that of the president's office, customers' room, conference and directors' rooms, are of genuine Mexican mahogany.

In the centre of the foyer, between the tellers' cages, are located the customers' tables. At the rear are the heavy glass, French Lorraine bronze-framed doors, through which entrance is made to the corridor. Here are placed the three high-speed elevators serving the upper floors, and through this corridor entrance may be made to the bank and upper floors from the entrance on Arch and Hawley streets.

MR. JOPP'S OFFICE.

To the left of the main entrance is located the office of Charles B. Jopp, president. This room, flooded with daylight, is beautifully panelled with highly grained American walnut. The same wood is used in the specially designed massive desks and other office furniture. In one corner stands a beautiful hall clock of ancient workmanship and handsome appearance. It is the finest specimen of a number of fine clocks obtained during many years in which the collecting of old clocks has been Mr. Jopp's hobby. Into this office has been incorporated every convenience for the modern busy executive, yet so skillfully has the arrangement been handled that the effect is one of restfulness and quiet comfort.

To the right, entering from Milk street, is the customers' room. This, like the president's room, is finished in American walnut, and incorporates every convenience for the use of the bank's customers. The men's wash room and a luxuriously appointed retiring room for women customers are located at the extreme right-hand corner of the main floor.

Reached by a winding staircase from the executive's space at the right, overlooking the main banking room, is a large conference room for the bank executives. The wood work and furniture in this room also is of American walnut. All of the furniture is of special design. A bank clock on the wall at the extreme end is from President Jopp's collection.

CAREFUL RESTRAINT SHOWN.

The pleasing effect of the main quarters is due not only to the general design and the materials used, but also to the careful restraint shown in the embellishment. There is nothing of the florid garishness so commonly associated with banking quarters. The effect of rich beauty is obtained, not by elaboration of detail, nor by lavish use of colorings, but by the soft light tones of ceiling, walls and columns contrasting harmoniously with the dark rich tones of bronze and woodwork.

The safe deposit vaults in the basement represent the latest development for the protection of valuables. The vault, installed by the Mosler Safe Company, is both burglar-proof and fireproof. The outer walls are of concrete, reinforced by a meshwork of steel rails bolted together, and the interior of forged steel sections, highly polished and handsomely finished. The whole construction is designed by the Mosler Safe Company to be the final word in vault engineering. Provision is made for about 1,500 deposit boxes with an ultimate capacity of 10,000 boxes of various sizes, each under individual lock and key.

13-TON VAULT DOOR.

Entrance to the vault itself is through a doorway protected by a huge steel door weighing nineteen tons. This door contains every device which modern mechanical genius and skill can devise for protection against intrusion. Yet so perfectly balanced is this door that it moves easily with but a slight touch—less than a ten pound pull being required.

Particular attention has been given to the convenient arrangement of the coupon rooms located near the entrance to the vault. All the rooms are furnished in Mexican mahogany, equipped with individual lights, chairs and glass counters.

The directors' room, located in the front of the basement, is one of the finest specimens ever created of the cabinetmakers' art. Beautifully panelled with American walnut from floor to ceiling, brilliantly lighted by a chandelier of exquisite design and with numerous wall lights, it ranks as one of the finest board rooms to be found in America. A fire place is located in one end, in which are placed a pair of massive andirons, once the property of the late General Charles H. Taylor. Birch logs give a touch of coloring that at once attracts favorable attention.

The building itself is of steel frame construction with facing of Indiana limestone. In the banking quarters the stonework of walls and columns is of rare Travertine stone, of volcanic origin, showing in the irregular indentations of its surface the effects of volcanic gas action. Botticino marble is used for the dado and counter screens. All of this stone is imported from Italy. As a border in the floor, the dark, multi-colored American boulder marble is used.

Portions of the second floor will be used for the bookkeeping departments of the bank. The recreation rooms and kitchen for the use of the employes will be located on the third floor.

Every possible device for the protection of the bank is to be found in the equipment. The vault is protected by an elaborate electrical alarm system. Every desk and each teller's cage is equipped with a push button by which the burglar alarm may be rung, even though the teller has been covered and forced to throw up his hands.

The present beautiful banking building which the Beacon Trust Company takes possession of today is a monument to the ability and judgment of President Charles B. Jopp and the officers with whom he has been associated in the management of the institution.

REMARKABLE PROGRESS

Nineteen years ago when, at the age of twenty-nine years, Mr. Jopp left the City Trust Company upon its absorption by the Mercantile Trust Company, to assume the presidency of the Beacon Trust Company, he was the youngest bank president in the United States, and the institution over which he came to preside had but $2,000,000 in deposits, a capital of only $400,000, and a surplus of but $100,000.

Today deposits average $22,000,000, the capital has been increased to $1,000,000, the surplus to $2,000,000 and Beacon Trust Company stock, having paid large dividends for many years, is virtually unobtainable in the market.

The manner in which Mr. Jopp has guided the destinies of the bank to such great success is illustrated by the care and attention which he has devoted to the new banking quarters. Every detail has had his immediate supervision. Years of study and

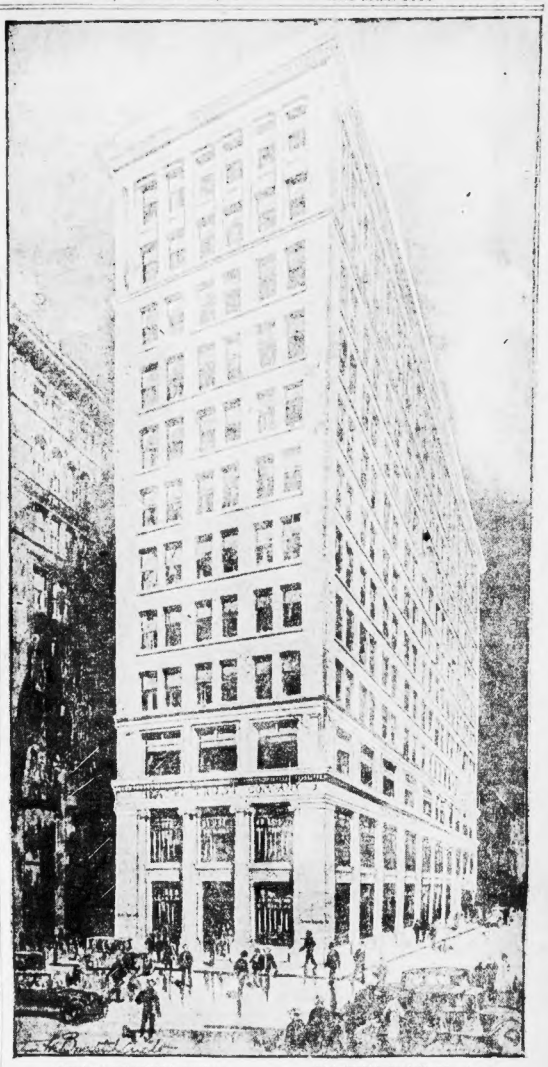
Continued on Page 6, Column 1.

On and after TODAY,
MONDAY, August 6th, 1923,
We will be located in our new building at
31 MILK STREET.

We cordially invite your inspection of our new banking rooms.

With new facilities and modern Safety Deposit Vaults we are enabled to offer you additional service.

BEACON TRUST COMPANY
BOSTON, MASS.
New Telephone Number: Congress 8010



ARTHUR H. BOWDITCH, Architect
BOSTON, MASS.

MILK STREET REALTY CO., Owners
BOSTON, MASS.

Ira G. Hersey & Sons Co.
75 Wareham Street, Boston
General Contractors

BEACON TRUST BUILDING
SLEEPER & DUNLOP
Agents
161 DEVONSHIRE ST., BOSTON
Phone Main 1267-1268-2083

PLUMBING FIXTURES
For BEACON TRUST BUILDING
Were Furnished by
F. W. WEBB MFG. CO.
Showrooms at BOSTON
50 to 60 Elm St.
LOWELL
Middle and Palmer Sts.

Complete Heating and Ventilating System
FOR THE
Beacon Trust Building
INSTALLED BY Cleghorn Co.
Power, Heating and Ventilating Contractors
54 Batterymarch St.
Tel. Main 1546

The New Safe Deposit and Security Vaults
Were Designed, Built and Installed by The Mosler Safe Co.
Builders of Vaults for 15 Federal Reserve Banks
NEW BUILDING SECURITY VAULTS FOR THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF BOSTON

YALE LOCKS
— AND —
HARDWARE
of Special Design
— AND —
Stanley Ball Bearing Door Hinges
Furnished by
J. B. HUNTER CO.
HARDWARE
60 Summer St., Boston

Concrete Floors
CONSTRUCTED BY The Scully Company
SAND AND GRAVEL
INDUSTRIAL CONSTRUCTION
118 First Street Cambridge

Paint Work for Beacon Trust Bldg. Done by
JAS. I. WINGATE & SON
PAINTING CONTRACTORS
Painting of Every Description—Interior and Exterior
563 Boylston St. B. B. 2352

Trucking and Rigging
By
C. B O W E N
51 Sudbury St., Boston

Indiana Limestone
Cut and Quarried by
SHEA & DONNELLY CO.
BOSTON, MASS. BEDFORD, INDIANA

CHARMING GIRL CONTEST ENTRIES CLOSE NEXT WEDNESDAY

WINNER HAS CHANCE FOR FAME AND A CAREER

There was a very intriguing letter in the mail of the Charming Editor today. That would look more modest if it read in the mail of the Editor of the Charming Girl Contest.

For you know one has to be modest with such a lot of beauty pouring in across his desk day after day, with its accompanying wave of inviting eyes, baby lips, sweet cheeks that smile and cupids and a heart.

But back to this very unusual letter.

Says the clever writer: "I do not send her picture."

"You tell us yesterday about objective and subjective beauty. That seems like a stuffy old grammar lesson. But I caught enough of it to be interested. Tell me more about the beauty that comes from the face and how it affects the beauty of the face."

SMILES AND BEAUTY.

That's really all the letter has to concern this column. She did ask for some help about beauty secrets, but that's too deep for me, for there have been so many beautiful girls standing in these columns, it seems that each one has a beauty secret of her own.

There used to be a girl who waited on a lunch counter in Bellows Falls, Vermont, a great many years ago, when the Charmer had Editor used to sleuth divorce trials and murders in that region.

She was a plain girl, but she smiled. Her smile became so famous, so fascinating that, trainmen, businessmen and traveling men, at much inconvenience to themselves, used to change trains there just to eat at her lunch counter.

So did the Editor. Editor and he now watched from time to time. Editor could see the natural loveliness that just grew into her face. Psychologists would explain that it was the outward reflection of her happy soul growing and developing.

ENTER THIS CONTEST.

Writers and psychologists are all agreed that beauty begins in the soul and by the magic of kindly reflections can transform the face into a mirror of loveliness and beauty. It will repay you to enter this contest.

So much for the kinds of beauty. You have a good chance in this contest if your character beauty will show in your photo. You may have your picture taken at any of the studios mentioned on the coupon —free of charge. And to the winner, there is the fairyland of entertainment at Atlantic City, and other things done, with the utmost privacy and most cherished of all a career.

It is worth trying for. Remember the contest closes on Wednesday at noon.

Good luck all and don't forget what the little quakeress used to say —Maybap.

2 LINERS FROM EUROPE ARRIVE

After being held up for five hours by a fleet for the White Star liner Celtic, carrying A. Holme, docked at Commonwealth Pier with 24 saloon passengers, 73 second-class and 566 third cabin passengers.

The Cunard liner Aquitania, Captain Dodd at the Cunard docks in East Boston with 1100 passengers, most of whom were immigrants.

With only one day left before the finish. Among those who have been a rush three pictured above. They are as of noon today. At top, Miss Chase Paula of Roxbury; at left, Miss Dorothy Quinn, of Boston.

WEST END POLICE GET LIQUOR IN TWO RAIDS

Two [illegible] were staged over West End, by Sergeant Simon and Patrolman Fraser and Slack, Sergeant Brooks and Patrolmen Kelley and Leonard executed two purchased [illegible] of liquor from Isaid Rosen [illegible] No. 14 Anstard street, West [illegible] and Cambridge street, [illegible]

HOLYOKE DOCTOR DIES ON AUTO TRIP

Holyoke, Aug. 6.—Dr. Edward T. Laduke, fifty-eight years old, died suddenly at Milwaukee, Wis., of apoplexy. Dr. Laduke, with his daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Philip McKeague, and their daughter, Clair, were on a two weeks' auto trip at the time.

2 DROWNED IN FRESH WATER ACCIDENTS

SWIM IN OCEAN

Drownings in New England waters this year to date:

Salt water	15
Fresh water	62
Total	77

A boy and woman lost their lives in drowning accidents.

Peter J. Donahue, Jr., twelve years old, of No. 21 Summer street, Weston, was drowned in Roberts Cove, Charles River, when he attempted to change seats in a canoe with Malcom McLeod, fifteen, of No. 15 Loring street, Weston.

The Donahue boy was paddling the canoe and became tired and asked the McLeod boy to take a turn at it. The canoe was about thirty-five feet from the shore and the water was seven feet deep when suddenly one of the boys lost his balance and the canoe capsized.

McLeod, who saw where Donahue had sank for the third time, attempted to bring him to the surface, but was unable to get hold of him because of the weight of his clothes.

Sergeant Peter Chaisson, who was near the spot at the time, dove for the body and when he brought it to the shore an automobile was pressed into service and rushed it to the Waltham Hospital where he was pronounced dead.

The strangest drowning accident that ever happened in Waterville, Me., occurred when Mrs. Jennie Roy, thirty-five years, found her death in Snow Pond and then floated out on top of the water, instead of sinking. She was taken ashore and men worked for an hour trying to revive her, but to no avail.

Thirty-one persons were rescued from drowning by surf guards and Metropolitan Park police at various Greater Boston resorts on Sunday.

WOMAN AIDS MEN FIGHTING POLICE

Three East Boston policemen battled for more than twenty minutes before they subdued four men and a woman who had attacked them. One of the men has face battered by a policeman's night stick—is at the East Boston Relief Hospital under police guard.

The man at the hospital is Alfredo Cicotti, 27 years old, of No. 14½ Havre street, East Boston. Those locked up at the East Boston police station are: Paulo Sircusca, 33 years old, of No. 136 Bremen street, East Boston; his wife, Annie, the same age; Albert Ciarello, 18 years old, of No. 215 Havre street, and Frank Ciarello, 17 years old, of No. 141 Havre street.

FIND ABANDONED AUTO IN LEXINGTON

Frederick J. Spencer of Lowell street, a Lexington assessor, found a sedan in the woods near the Lexington - Burlington line. The registration plates had been removed and the engine number had been scraped off. The front tires were flat and apparently the machine had been there for some time. A gun and in the car was the name of Frank O'Reilly. The police think it a stolen machine.

FAKE STATISTICS ON CRIME CHARGED

New York, Aug. 6.—According to fidelity insurance companies if bonding false crime statistics in order to boost business, Police Commissioner Enright reported to Mayor Hylan that burglaries in New York city, during the first six months of 1923 showed a decrease of 6.9 per cent from the same period in 1922, and a graduated decrease through the years which amounted to 48.4 per cent, since 1917.

CHARMING GIRL TOURNAMENT

Quest for the Most Fascinating Young Woman in Boston or Vicinity

CHARMING GIRL EDITOR, BOSTON AMERICAN,
80 Summer St., Boston (8), Mass.:—

Please enter me as a candidate in your tournament to determine who is the MOST CHARMING girl in Boston or vicinity. If chosen as "Miss Boston," I agree to accept the week's free trip to Atlantic City, N. J., with my mother or other suitable chaperon.

Full Name ..... Age .....
Occupation .....
Address ..... Telephone .....

I desire to nominate the following named person as a candidate in the above-named tournament.

Full Name ..... Age .....
Occupation .....
Address ..... Telephone .....
Signed ..... Address .....

A girl may nominate herself or a friend may nominate her. Girls between 14 and 30 years of age, inclusive, may obtain one photograph for this tournament by arranging for a free sitting at any of the following studios—Otto Sarony, No. 161 Tremont street; Champlain, No. 161 Tremont street; Waid, No. 168 Tremont street; Ye Craftsman, No. 561 Boylston street, and Warren Kay Vantine, No. 154 Boylston street.

MAN TOPPLES FROM BOAT; DROWNED

William Dinham, sixty-five years old, of No. 218 Bennington street, East Boston, was drowned off Spar Buoy No. 2 at the entrance to North Channel, when he fell into the water from the motorboat Alice. The party was returning from a fishing trip off Brewster Island and was in tow of the motorboat Moose.

Oscar Olsen of No. 142 Wadsworth street, East Boston, startled by the cries of his son, Nils Olsen, observed that Dinham had fallen overboard. He dove several times before bringing up the old man's body.

At the United States Wharf, Fort Strong, Dr. Carpenter applied methods of resuscitation and failed. The latter is connected with the Long Island Hospital.

Early yesterday morning the motorboat Alice chugged from the Brokers Yacht Club, Harbor View, East Boston. Later its engine became disabled and Captain Frank Gallagher of the House was hired to tow.

Police believe that Dinham had a heart attack and toppled into the water. Associate Medical Examiner Bolckow will hold an autopsy.

GIRL TAKES POISON IN SOUTH BOSTON

Policemen of South Boston found the unconscious form of Miss Alice Impalair, seventeen years old, on the sidewalk near her home, No. 197 West Third street, South Boston. The girl had swallowed a quantity of iodine. After she drank the poison and then leap day on the sidewalk were questions the police were unable to answer. At City Hospital she told the doctors that she had taken the poison with suicidal intent.

CATCH BOYS IN AUTO AFTER CHASE OF MILE

Roland M. Isaac, sixteen years old, No. 48 Upland road, Lynn, and Jerome Leavitt, twenty years old, No. 1 Addison avenue, Lynn, were arrested by Traffic Policeman Charles Hum-phries after an exciting automobile chase of more than a mile on Upland road. A summons will be issued charging the youths with taking the car of Louis E. Shook, Sr., at 93 Western street, Lynn, and riding in it without the owner's permission.

2 DYING, LOSS $100,000, IN TORNADO

Springfield, Aug. 6.—Two persons are dying, five others are seriously injured, fifty homes were wrecked and property valued at $100,000 was destroyed in a heavy storm that swept over West Springfield.

Three horses and scores of hens perished in the storm, that cut a swath 250 feet wide and a mile and a half long.

Mrs. Louis Zerra suffered a broken back and her death is expected. The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Estabrook received a fracture of the skull. Mrs. Zerra and the boy were buried in debris when their home was wrecked.

Napoleon Bonley suffered injuries when he was buried under falling timbers. The others were only slightly hurt.

The horses were killed when they were picked up by the wind and hurled to the ground. They landed a mass of broken bones. The hens suffered decapitation.

The tornado was ushered in with a tremendous roar. Within a few moments debris was flying high and a smokestack on the Wyco Electric Company plant was hurled through the air, landing on top of a house some distance away. A motorboat on the Connecticut River was torn from its moorings and sunk by a waterspout.

Police and firemen worked for hours clearing away the wreckage and in looking for other possible victims. Most of the fifty houses wrecked were of wood.

Starts for Swim in Garb of Eden; Hooch Blamed by Police

Brockton, Aug. 6.—William McTee, 28, of Whitman, was seen on his way to the Salisbury Brook, where he said he was going bathing.

William had forgotten to wear street clothes or a bathing suit and the neighbors on Concord street phoned the police. The latter arrived with a plentiful supply of blankets in which William was taken to the Police Station. The police say that he had been indulging in moonshine. He was booked on charge of disturbance. No trace of his street clothing has been found.

HURLEY Thor

Electric Washing Machine

The Perfect Cylinder Washer

Genuine Thor No. 25 with Swinging Wringer
$125

$5 DOWN Balance
$2.50 Weekly

Also other types from $95 up

Buy a Thor today—do your washing under the sanitary conditions of your own home. Over 750,000 housewives, many of them your neighbors, use and recommend the Thor.

All wringers have soft-cushion rolls—can't break buttons. A size for every family. Pay only $5 on delivery—the balance as you use the machine. Call and see the wonderful Thor today.

Thor Electric Shop
209 Tremont Street
Telephone: Beach 5098—1096—5461

Pettingell Andrews Co., Distributors

HURLEY MACHINE COMPANY, CHICAGO
Manufacturers of Thor Electric Cylinder Type and the Superior Electric Oscillating Type Washing Machines. Also Thor Automatic Ironers and shaft-driven brush type Vacuum Cleaner.

Sold by dealers in all cities. Write for names.

LARGEST MAKERS OF ELECTRIC WASHING MACHINES—EST. 1906

Beacon Trust Co. Greets Friends in New Home

Continued From Page 3.

planning, careful siting of features noticed upon trips to other banking centers and minute detail judgment in architectural design, have enabled him to so direct the architects and builders that the result, as shown in the new structure, is believed to provide the Beacon Trust Company with a home that for convenience, beauty and distinctiveness will be of any other banking institution outside of New York city and equals the finest to be seen in the metropolis.

SHARE IN HONOR.

Associated with Mr. Dodge as officers and directors and sharing with him the honor of the new structure are Vice-President Frank H. Lovell, vice-president Alvah W. Nelson, treasurer Robert Dodge, assistant treasurer Leverett A. Hazen, assistant treasurer; Walter H. Pratt, assistant treasurer; H. H. Pierce, assistant treasurer; Edward J. Rambacher, Jr., assistant treasurer; James H. Turnbull, assistant secretary; and the following directors: Charles F. Adams, Richard deB. Boardman, N. P. Kneass Brooks, Cecil H. Cummings, Charles H. Dow, George R. Hall, William P. Hale, Edmund S. Kelley, George H. Lawrence, Isaac F. North, Gardner Poole, Lewis I. Prouty, Burt W. Rankin, A. A. Rosenbaum, Philip Stockton, M. J. Sughrue and Charles E. Wyzanski.

A general invitation is extended to all residents of Greater Boston and visitors from other places, regardless of what their banking affiliations may be, to inspect the new building at any time during banking hours.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT BUILDING.

The Beacon Trust building, in which are located the banking quarters of the Beacon Trust Company, is an eleven-story, fireproof structure of modern steel frame and stone construction, specially designed for banks and office purposes. The plans were prepared by Arthur H. Rowden, architect, of Boston, and the general contract was awarded to Ira Bond & Son Co., well known Boston contractors.

An unusual feature in connection with the handling of the building is the method of ventilation. The building has mechanically cold and air from which is heated and above the sixth floor level all air is cooled. Just how this is done is of interest. The upper floors of the building are served by three electric passenger elevators, easily accessible from all offices.

The first story, the two mezzanine floors and the first basement floor, a space of 100 feet by 100 feet, are occupied by the Beacon Trust Company. The upper floors are rented to tenants.

SHAFT IN BASEMENT.

A shaft in the basement of the building contains the ventilating apparatus. Air is drawn in from the outside through a screened opening in the wall and passes through a series of washing and filtering devices. The steel frame work was started about August 1, 1922.

DELAYS HAMPER CONTRACTOR.

The ability of the Beacon organization was put to a severe test, owing to the delays in transportation due to the shopmen's strike and the difficulties in obtaining materials. As a result of the efficient organization this was overcome and the building was completed June 1, a year before the contract for finishing and decorating. A uniformity of finish is obtained all through the building, so that a decorative harmony exists on every floor. The soft-toned ceiling, the glazed effects, the treatment of the iron work in antique bronze effect, and the skilful disposition in the finishing of the Mexican mahogany and American walnut to bring out the beautiful patterns of the woods, reflect great credit upon the decorator's organization.

VENTILATION AND HEATING.

In the matter of heating and ventilation, the equipment in the new building represents the very latest advances made in these sciences. The scientific system provides for a complete change of air in the main banking room, basement and second floor at least three times an hour, and the air, washed and filtered, is automatically maintained so that it will never go below a temperature of 65 degrees, nor above 71 in either warm or zero weather.

Large blowers are placed in the basement, forcing the fresh, pure air into the building, while other large suction fans withdraw the vitiated air. The heating and ventilating system is admittedly the best in any other problem which required and received careful consideration. The J. R. Hunter Company, to whom the sub-contract for the hardware was awarded, supplied the Stanley hollow metal doors and trim for the partitions. These are equipped with mortising ones jamb special, patented hardware that insures the easy action of the door in opening and closing. As a further insurance in this respect, Stanley ball-bearing, non-detachable washers with copper bushings are held on all hinges to prevent the entrance of both dust and moisture. When assembled these washers are packed with a non-fluid oil and require no future attention.

LOCKS OF SPECIAL DESIGN.

The door locks, knobs and plates were supplied by J. R. Hunter Corp. The Beacon Trust Company of ribbed motif was worked out in a French-Lorraine design with a special bronze color finish. These locks were designed and manufactured for J. R. Hunter Company by the Yale & Towne Manufacturing Company.

In making these designs, patterns were first made of plaster paris and submitted for correction. Other plasters were then submitted until the exact design desired was obtained, when the metal casting patterns were made.

DECORATION VERY ARTISTIC.

The decorative treatment obtained, most unusual and extremely pleasing, is the work of James I. Wineate & Son, who were awarded the contract for painting and decorating. A uniformity of finish is obtained all through the building, so that a decorative harmony exists on every floor. The soft-toned ceiling, the glazed effects, the treatment of the iron work in antique bronze effect, and the skilful disposition in the finishing of the Mexican mahogany and American walnut to bring out the beautiful patterns of the woods, reflect great credit upon the decorator's organization.

VENTILATION AND HEATING.

In the matter of heating and ventilation, the equipment in the new building represents the very latest advances made in these sciences. The scientific system provides for a complete change of air in the main banking room, basement and second floor at least three times an hour, and the air, washed and filtered, is automatically maintained so that it will never go below a temperature of 65 degrees, nor above 71 in either warm or zero weather.

Large blowers are placed in the basement, forcing the fresh, pure air into the building, while other large suction fans withdraw the vitiated air. The heating and ventilating system is admittedly the best in any bank building in Boston. The building is heated by what is known as the vacuum vapor system, using steam at a pressure of not more than one pound, even in the most severe weather. The steam required is generated by two 150 horsepower boilers.

PLUMBING FIXTURES MODERN.

The plumbing equipment is in every way as modern as the various other fixtures of the bank. The plumbing fixtures, which were furnished by F. W. Webb Manufacturing Company of Boston, are of the latest type designed for use in bank buildings. Lavatories throughout are of double-lipped vitreous china; those in the public toilet rooms are the free standing type, while lavatories in the offices have integral back. All are equipped with nail bearing, self-closing basin cocks, which are positive in operation. Toilets throughout the building are of the Webb Company's "Patrol" design, having simple water pan and extra large water way to guard against stoppage. Closets are fitted with the well-known "Royal" flush valves. Urinals are of the stall pattern, of white solid porcelain, and are flushed with "Royal" flush valves. Drinking fountains are located in the basement for the use of the bank employes.

MANY SEEK SPACE.

It is but natural that a building so finely equipped, and conveniently located, would attract a large number of applicants for space. The management of the building is in the hands of Sleeper & Dunlop, one of Boston's most prominent real estate brokerage and management organizations. In view of the location of the bank in the building, selection of tenants has been in accordance with a desire to have only organizations and individuals of recognized standing. Sumner Dunlop will have a suite of offices on the fifth floor about September 1. Other tenants who have already leased spaces, ranging from one room to full floor space are: Arthur Perry & Co.; Chas. A. Phelan & Co.; Kidder Mutual Life Ins. Co.; Roberts, Homer & Cushman; Sherman Service, Massachusetts Mutual Life Ins. Co.; Mutual Life Insurance Co. of N. Y.; Deerance, Sullivan & Co. Negotiations are being arranged, and it is expected that a full quota of tenants will occupy the building as soon as the finishing touches to the interior are made.

"Prices retained on Swift & Company sales of carcass beef in Boston for week ending Saturday, August 4th, on shipments sold out, ranged from 19 to 20 cents to 22.25 cents per pound and averaged 21.41 cents per pound.—Advt.

TUESDAY

Double Legal Stamps

Representing a 5% Discount

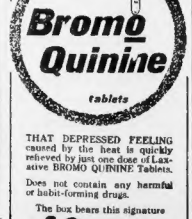
GILCHRIST CO.

Hot Weather Headaches

When you cool off suddenly and then sleep in a draft, you get a Cold. The natural result is Headaches, Neuralgia and Sore Muscles.

To Stop the Headache and Work off the Cold,

Take



THAT DEPRESSED FEELING caused by the heat is quickly relieved by just one dose of Laxative BROMO QUININE Tablets.

Does not contain any harmful or habit-forming drugs.

The box bears this signature

E. W. Grove

Price 30c.

INTERESTING ANNOUNCEMENT ON PAGE 8

GRAVE COAL SHORTAGE LOOMS, EVEN IF STRIKE AVERTED SEPT. 1

U. S. FIGURES PROVE THIS CERTAIN

More Produced Daily Than Ever; Shortage to Be 21,216,000 Tons

Washington, Aug. 6 (U.N.S.)—America is facing a grave shortage of anthracite coal which a strike in the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania on September 1, may hasten, but which cannot be escaped even if the impending strike is averted, according to conclusive figures obtained today from government agencies in Washington.

Coal specialists in these agencies agreed the strike, if called, would precipitate an acute shortage while otherwise a severe shortage will manifest itself by the first of the year. Although more anthracite coal is now being produced per week than ever before in the history of the industry and with all of the man-power immediately available being used almost to capacity, there will be a shortage of approximately 21,216,000 tons of anthracite on September 1, 1923, if production is ended at that time by a strike, and a shortage of approximately five million tons on January 1, 1924, even if there is no strike and production continues at its present high rate.

Up to the present time the movement of anthracite coal from the mine has averaged, this calendar year, according to official figures of the United States geological survey. This exceeds the 1921 average of of 35,000 to 36,000 cars per week, and the federal fuel distributor and the United States Bureau of Mines, between 38,000 and 39,000 cars per week. This exceeds the 1921 average granting to the anthracite coal operators the most favorable computation, will be the equivalent of approximately 2,000,000 tons per week.

State to Boycott Hard Coal in Case the Miners Strike

The Joint Special Coal Investigating Committee of Massachusetts today issued an ultimatum to representatives of both the anthracite operators and miners.

The Committee informed both factions that in event of a strike on September 1, it will vigorously push a boycott against the use of anthracite.

In serving notice of this intention, the Committee stated that "the temper of the descendants and successors of those who participated in the Boston Tea Party and who fought a Lexington and Bunker Hill is not such that they will dear further with those to whom they have intrusted the duty of supplying them with so vital a necessity as fuel. Should that trust be further abused for selfish purposes."

LYNN YOUTH KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Kenneth L. Moore, 18 years old, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, No. 217-B Union st., Lynn, died in Lynn Hospital, after being struck by an automobile. Death was due to concussion of the brain. Ernest B. Hart, No. 554 Chatham st., Lynn, driver of the car, was freed by the police. Young Moore was crossing Chatham st., near Ingalls. Hearing the horn sounded by Hart, he started back but was hit and knocked down, his head striking the pavement.

Kenneth L. Moore.

BROCKTON PASTOR WEDS MAINE GIRL

The marriage of the Rev. Charles E. Butterworth of the First Universalist Church of Brockton to Miss Eunice Annie Bickford of Auburn, Me., took place at Goddard Chapel, Tufts College. Mr. Butterworth was a newspaper writer and cartoonist before entering the ministry.

INTERESTING ANNOUNCEMENT ON PAGE 8

Mrs. Park Benjamin Wins Divorce and Right to Remarry

MRS. PARK BENJAMIN

Who won divorce on charge that her husband had gone to South America with another woman.

Brother of Caruso's Widow Ordered to Pay Wife $75 Weekly; She Is Given Custody of Their Two Children

White Plains, N. Y., Aug. 6 (U.N.S.)—Miss Katherine D. Benjamin was today granted a formal interlocutory degree of divorce from Park Benjamin, New York stock broker and brother of Mrs. Enrico Caruso.

The formal order issued by Supreme Court Justice George H. Taylor, Jr., of Mount Vernon, granted Mrs. Benjamin $75 a week alimony and custody of the couple's children, Park Jr., and Betty.

Mrs. Benjamin, who now resides in New Rochelle, testified before Referee Frederick R. Weeks that her husband was in South America. The couple were married in 1909.

Justice Taylor granted Mrs. Benjamin the right to remarry. Benjamin is forbidden to remarry without the express permission of the court.

The testimony upon which Mrs. Benjamin secured her divorce was the alleged sailing of her husband to South America in company with a young woman whose identity is unknown.

'CRIMINALS!' JUDGE TELLS TRAFFIC PIRATES—3 JAILED

Fifty men, charged with various violations of the traffic law, were rounded up in Judge Murray's court today for a lecture by the court before the hearings began.

Judge Murray said to them:

"Conditions in Boston have become intolerable. Those who drive cars without licenses, or registration, or who speed, or who operate cars while intoxicated, are nothing short of criminals.

"The rest, who park their cars on the streets when parking is forbidden, who drive without requisite lights, are criminally careless. I don't want to put any man into jail, but the time has come to show that the law must be obeyed.

The first three, Patrick J. McCarthy, No. 624 Second street, South Boston; Harry M. Goodwin, No. 180 Harvard street, Cambridge, and John J. Bowen, No. 104 Fellows street, Roxbury, were charged with driving their cars while under the influence of liquor. Each was sentenced to a month.

2 CHILDREN DROWN, 3 RESCUED, AT N. Y. SANITARIUM BEACH

Rockaway Park, N. Y., Aug. 6 (U.N.S.)—Two child patients of the Hebrew Sanitarium here were drowned today in the surf while bathing. Three compatitions were rescued by policemen. The dead are: Pauline Higgins and Marian Levin.

The children had ventured into the surf beyond the danger line, despite warnings. Those rescued were semi-conscious when brought ashore. Artificial respiration revived them.

LAND AND SEA FORCES MOVE TO ATTACK AMOY WEDNESDAY

Amoy, China, (AP).—Quiet has prevailed here since last Friday. Admiral Yang, representing the Peking government, is moving on Amoy with four gunboats and two transports. Land troops are moving on the city from Foochow. An attack by land and sea is expected Wednesday. Amoy is defended by Southern troops, friendly to Sun Yat Sen.

ANTI-FASCISTI CHIEF SEIZED WHILE CARRYING SWORD-CANE

Rome, Aug. 6.—Police arrested Giuseppe Mingrino, Communist deputy from Pisa, when they found him walking the streets carrying a sword stick.

Signor Mingrino attracted attention as the founder and leader of the "Red Guards," a Communist organization formed to fight Fascismo.

ONE DEAD, ONE MAY DIE; MOONSHINE, THAT'S ALL!

Brattleboro, Vt., Aug. 6 (I.N.S.)—Two hours after drinking moonshine whiskey at a lumber camp in Vernon, five miles south of here, Alvin Wilson, forty-three, of Brattleboro, died and a fellow workman, Aimee Goddarre, became seriously ill. The latter is on the dangerous list but is expected to recover.

An autopsy will be performed on the body of Wilson today by Dr. Charles F. Whitney from the State Medical Laboratory at Burlington. Officers who were sent to investigate found an empty gallon jug which contained the liquor.

BANDITS MISS $70,000; YEGGS GET $75,000

New York, Aug. 6. (I.N.S.)—Harbor bandits failed early today in an attempt to loot a safe containing $70,000 in the offices of the Iron Steamboat Company.

Alertness of James Malone, night watchman, frustrated the attempt. He heard a door slam, investigated, and saw five men at work in the company's office.

He notified the police. The robbers fled, and escaped amid gunfire in a motorboat.

Bernard Klein, jeweler, at 1884 Fifth avenue, today estimated his loss at $76,000 as the result of a visit of safe blowers last night.

ANDREW BAILEY FIRE HERO AT HOLDERNESS

Andrew J. Bailey, eighty-two, the first Harvard man to enlist in the Civil War and for more than twenty years a corporation counsel of Boston, raced through the smoke filled halls of the Mount Livermore Hotel at Holderness, N. H., to spread alarm of the fire that burned the hotel to the ground according to information reaching here today.

Then, when cut by the flames, Mr. Bailey directed the salvaging of valuables and aided volunteer firemen in checking the march of the fire to other nearby buildings.

Despite his advanced years Mr. Bailey was one of the most energetic workers and guests say his personal efforts resulted in the saving of several thousand dollars worth of personal effects.

Women of the men, fearing for his health, offered to have him driven to another hotel, he refused to move until all the women had been cared for.

Andrew Bailey is well known in Massachusetts through his frequent appearance in different sections as a public speaker. During his four score years he has saved three persons from drowning and helped rescue work at four fires. He has an enviable war record.

Mr. Bailey gained some publicity several years back when, at a dinner at the Boston Press Club, he confided to his audience that he had not had any trousers pockets for a quarter of a century. The reason, he said, was because he had promised his wife to break himself of the habit of putting his hands in his pockets.

MOVE BROKERS FROM JAIL TO JAIL

New York, Aug. 6—Transfer of William F. McGee and E. M. Fuller, bucketing stock brokers, from Ludlow street jail last Saturday to Governor's Island, and their secret removal from the island, under federal guard, will be explained as soon as the information can be given without jeopardizing the interests of the government, United States District Attorney Hayward said today.

The prisoners were committed to jail last March when during bankruptcy proceedings against them, they failed to produce records of the firm, which they had been ordered by the U. S. Supreme Court to turn over to the Referee in Bankruptcy.

United States Marshal Heath, in whose custody the prisoners have been since their removal from the jail, said their transfer from place to place was in accordance with Judge Goddard's orders.

5 SHOTS FAIL TO HALT RUM CAR

Derry, N. H., Aug. 6.—An automobile listed as the property of C. Morris of Maplewood avenue, Manchester, was fired upon five times by Chief of Police George E. Dustin who with two special officers from this town, attempted to bring the suspected rum running machine to a halt without success.

The chief, following his custom, was on the boulevard stopping suspected autos, when along came the machine. Commands to halt served only to increase the speed of the car.

The chief and his assistants gave chase for about a mile.

Despite the several shots fired, the officers were unable to check the car, which finally evaded them after it is alleged a woman in the machine threw two gallons of liquor from the machine.

Telegraph Briefs

Wallace, Idaho—Forest fires, raging for two weeks over 200 square miles of cutover timber on Marble Creek in Shoshone County, are practically under control, fire headquarters said today.

Ardmore, Okla.—Mrs. Jake L. Hamon, of Ardmore, widow of the late Republican national committeeman, has been commissioned by Governor Walton to represent Oklahoma and women of the state at the Harding funeral. Mrs. Hamon was a third cousin of the late President.

New York, Coney Island had its record crowd for the year when 800,000 persons fled there to escape the heat in the city yesterday.

Franklin, N. H.—George Prince of Franklin afeet was killed by the Montreal express here as the train was slowing down.

OFFICE PARTITIONS

Oak, cypress, birch, made in sections, in stock for immediate delivery. Prices very low. Interior woodwork, Low Rates. Bank, Store and Office Fixtures.

JAMES A. GLASS

Office: 27 Kingston Street, Boston
Factory: Lawrence, Mass.

INQUIRY FOLLOWS SEWER PIT DEATHS

Mayor Harland A. McPherson of Lynn will order an investigation to determine who issued the permit, if any, to remove the manhole cover over the Gurney street cesspool in which two men lost their lives. The men, James Hussey, 49 years old, No. 41 Elm street, Lynn, father of seven children, and Frank McGarvey, No. 10 Newton avenue, Lynn, were sewer employes and making repairs. Hussey entered the pit and was overcome. McGarvey lowered himself in a heroic effort to save his fellow-workman from the gas. Firemen and police with a stretcher had formerly rescued the bodies. J. Eric Johnson, fireman-chauffeur of Engine 5, Chief Hodgson, was overcome in the effort.

James Hussey

PAPER WORKER HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

Berlin, N. H., Aug. 6.—Thomas G. Sheridan pleaded not guilty today and was held without bail for the September term of the Grand Jury at Colebrook on a charge of the murder of Felix Croteau.

The two men were employed in a paper mill. Croteau was shot Saturday night in front of Sheridan's house, which he had formerly been a boarder. It is alleged that the two had quarrelled.

N. E. ARMY HEAD GOES TO HARDING FUNERAL

Major-General B. W. Brewster, in command of the military forces of New England, has gone to Washington, where he will attend the funeral of President Harding.

Jordan Marsh Company

2580 Pairs of Women's Silk Hose

1.89 Pr.

LITTLE wonder that our Hosiery Section is a scene of enthusiastic buying when such events as this occur! High grade Silk Hose—all first quality and full fashioned. Some with plain and fancy embroidered clocks. In the season's popular shades as well as black.

To Fight Drug Evil

MRS. WALLACE REID.

Wife of late film favorite, arrived in Boston today on her anti-narcotic crusade to save others from the drug evil.

MRS. WALLY REID IN BOSTON ON DRUG CRUSADE

Dorothy Davenport, widow of the late Wallace Reid, arrived in Boston today on the Twentieth Century for a weeks campaign in her crusade against narcotics.

What Carrie Nation was to liquor Miss Davenport wants to be to drugs. The world is familiar with the story of how drugs brought to an end one of the most promising careers in the field of motion pictures—how dope killed Wallace Reid, one of the best beloved of film stars.

For years Mrs. Reid worked silently to bring her noted husband out of the stough into which dope had carried him. Up to the last moment she worked to save him from the slavery which in the end claimed him, as it claims many thousands each year.

Her visit to Boston is, in a way, a visit home. Miss Davenport is a daughter of Harry Davenport of Boston and a niece of the famous Fanny Davenport. The Davenports of Boston have been one of the leading theatrical families in this country for generations.

The Boston Lodge of Elks, which has indorsed Miss Davenport's drug crusade, sent a committee to the station to welcome her. She proceeded directly to the Copley Plaza, which will be her headquarters during the time she lectures in this city.

Some months ago Miss Juanita Hansen, another motion picture star, appeared here and lectured against the drug evil. The large attendance at each of her appearances testified to the public interest in the fight to eliminate drugs in America.

JAILS ALLEGED ASSAILANT OF WOBURN GIRL

William App of North Woburn, accused of kidnaping and attacking eight-year-old Grace Drew of No. 124 Howard street, Melrose, was ordered to Salem Jail today.

App's mother and mother-in-law furnished real estate collateral they claimed to be worth $7,000. Judge Madden charged it to be worth less than $2,000.

App's wife and three-year-old daughter, Margaret, were in court.

"Please here, Daddy," said the child as App was led to jail.

In court also was little Grace Drew with her parents. The girl, fainting her attack at Libby Park, Burton, where she was taken by App in an automobile, then left to die until he had been confined to the Malden Hospital. The attack occurred on July 7. One a few days ago was she well enough to sit in a chair and face a group of men reporters assembled by police. Out of them she picked App and said he was her assailant.

App has repeatedly denied the charge and asserts he is "being framed" by police.

His arrest followed the patching together of two sets of automobile license numbers seen by passers-by on the day of the kidnapping. They tallied with his license.

CABLE BRIEFS

Tokio, (I.N.S.)—Retirement of one army officers of all ranks in accordance with the military adjustment scheme was announced today.

Vienna, (I.N.S.)—Traffic was resumed on Hungarian railways today following the collapse of the railroad workers' strike. Victorious action by the Budapest government prevented the spread from becoming a political movement.

Madrid (I.N.S.)—A number of striking bank clerks returned to work today. Officials claim the strike will soon collapse.

KING OF SPAIN BUYS SHARE IN GAMBLING DEN

B. C. F. BERTELLE
Universal Cable.

Paris, Aug. 6.—King Alphonso of Spain is reported to have purchased a one-third interest in the Deauville Casino and his new partners, Cornuche, whose skyrocketing career from waiter to the partner of kings is the talk of his small empire at Deauville, and Henri Letellier, the millionaire publisher, who was for merly engaged to Fanny Joyce.

According to Parisian gossip at La Potinière, Deauville, Cornuche and Letellier have completed a most profitable deal.

In the passing of a one-third interest in the fashionable gambling resort at this time Deauville say those who in Paris have a mission to make and unmake new fashionable places, has reached the zenith of its power. The ton of the wave has begun, although every table in the Casino annex was occupied until the breakfast hour, does not promise to be as profitable as previous years.

King Alphonse

$10,000 RECORD BANK.

Ten thousand dollars is thus far the record bank with no one calling it overnight. Also the races have been somewhat less attractive.

Scores of mannequins paraded before hundreds of American fashion buyers and a dozen American correspondents, but apart from a crowd of curious tourists, few members of the well fashionable guard were present.

A mystery American woman, calling herself "Mrs. James Brown," a modiste, rode to the Grand invariably in black lace of the vintage of 1914, has simply astounded the seasoned masters at Aix Les Bains, where the cure this year has been the highest since the war.

KAHN AT BIARRITZ.

For four successive nights this week this mysterious beauty started to play with thousand dollars and run it up within a few hours to sums varying from $20,000 to $60,000, only to end by losing.

After winning each bank she solemnly hissed a large emerald signet ring on her engagement finger. She is of third and registers from New York.

Otto Kahn has gone to his villa at Biarritz. Col. Horne is leaving for Scotland. Bernard Baruch is taking the cure at Vichy. Senator Lodge is expected at Deauville. Those touring the Alpine region include Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Mrs. Whitney, Sir Edward and Mrs. C. P. Converse and Judge and Mrs. Seeligson of San Antonio.

CONTRACTOR'S WIFE AND CHILDREN VANISH

Mrs. Delsare Silvie of No. 1941 Boston street, Walsan, has disappeared from her home and with her two children by her first marriage, Willard and Violet Pasqualleri, aged seven and five years, respectively. Her husband, Chesar Silvie, a contractor, has asked the police to search for her and the children. He told the police he suspects his wife has eloped.

Jordan Marsh Company

Summer Play Suits—for Outdoor Boys

Specially Priced

1.85

Regular boys are strenuous and active and like comfortable, practical clothes. For this type there is nothing like the flapper suit, which has a roomy, loose-fitting pair of pants and a blouse with short sleeves and sport collar. These suits are particularly good for camp or vacation wear.

Just now, when boys are hardest on their clothes, we are offering these special values.

One model is the popular one-piece model in tan, blue or gray chambray in striped cotton flannel and in khaki for youngsters 3 to 10-year size. Also in the two-piece style for boys 5 to 16-year sizes.

Both models at the special price of

1.85

$1000.00 CASH

will be paid by the Boston American for original coloring (in water colors or crayons) of the nationally-famous comic characters which NOW appear daily in the Boston American.

This cash-rewarded test is put on to introduce our new

4-PAGE COLORED COMIC AND MAGAZINE SECTION

which will become a regular feature of the Evening American on and after

MONDAY, AUGUST 20th

4 PAGE COLORED COMIC and Magazine Section

FREE—EVERY DAY

BEGINNING AUGUST 20th, WITH YOUR

BOSTON AMERICAN

TOOTS AND CASPAR

BRINGING UP FATHER

POLLY AND HER PALS

US BOYS

JERRY ON THE JOB

SIMPLE RULES GOVERNING THE TEST

1. This Test is intended for Children. No professional artists will be permitted to participate. Begins August 6 Ending September 8th.

2. Clip the Comic designated each day in the American Comic Pages, paint or crayon this carefully; attach the coupon appearing on the Comic Pages, properly filled out with your name and address. Hold all of these until September 8, then mail to "Comic Editor, Boston American, 80 Summer St., Boston (8), Mass."

Any one colored Comic may win the first award, but we give you the opportunity of making a new trial each day from August 6th to September 8th.

No suggestions mailed before September 8 will be considered.

3. The Boston American reserves the privilege of retaining any or all color suggestions. No suggestion will be returned to entrant.

4. Awards will be made by competent judges selected by the management.

5. All cash awards will be MAILED to successful entrants. Do not call for awards at the Boston American.

6. The Boston American reserves the right to withdraw or amend the rules as seems advisable.

7. Formal announcement of awards of this Test will be printed in the Boston American at end of Test.

$1000 CASH

Will Be Awarded to the Successful Young Artists as Follows:

1st	Award	$100.
2nd	"	90.
3rd	"	75.
4th	"	60.
5th	"	50.
6th	"	40.
7th	"	30.
8th	"	25.
9th	"	20.
10th	"	15.
Next 20 Awards $10 each ..		200.
Next 20 Awards $5 each ...		100.
Next 50 Awards $2 each ...		100.
Next 95 Awards $1 each ...		95.
Total		$1000.

Watch the American Constantly for Interesting or Valuable Announcements

BOSTON, MONDAY, AUGUST 6, 1923

BOSTON AMERICAN

TO LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION IN NEW ENGLAND

THIS PAPER IS NOT COMPLETE WITHOUT THE FIRST SECTION—GET BOTH

SECTION II

Only Boston Paper With Associated Press, International News, Universal Service and Cosmopolitan Wires

More Comics, Fiction, Pictures and Features Than any Other Boston Paper

PLAN TO ROB LED TO BOWER MURDER

Free Girl And Doctor Trapped By Wife

WIFE AND GIRL SHE CALLED "VAMP"

ALICE MANSFIELD (left); MRS. MORRIS

GIRL AND DOCTOR FREED

Attorney for Wife Who Had Trapped Couple Declines to Press Charge

Haverhill, Aug. 6.—The case of Dr. Abraham S. Morris, former city physician of Haverhill, and Miss Alice Mansfield, charged with a statutory offense, took a surprising turn in the Central District Court today before Judge Otis J. Carlton.

Attorney Fred Magnuson, who appeared for Mrs. Morris, informed the court had his client did not care to press the charges against her husband and the Mansfield girl.

In view of the fact that Mrs. Morris had surprised the girl in her home with the physician, during the absence of Mrs. Morris, this caused astonishment in court. The judge, acting on the statement of the lawyer, dismissed the case.

Mrs. Morris appeared to be the most surprised person in the room.

"This is not what I had expected," she said. "It looks very peculiar to me. I don't propose to let them get by with it, at all. I intend to engage other counsel and take the case to the Supreme Court. My husband is using political influence, as I knew he would.

"I shall sue for divorce, but before that I intend to see that the statutory offense charge is pressed."

In her arms Mrs. Morris held a package. She opened it and took from it some dainty lingerie.

Handing the garments to Miss Mansfield, she said:

"Here. You may need these when the cold weather comes."

I was on July 23, according to the story told by Mrs. Morris, that she came home rather unexpectedly from a camp in Maine, accompanied by a police officer, and found Miss Mansfield and Dr. Morris together in Dr. Morris' bedroom.

Dr. Morris and the girl were placed under arrest on the statutory charge, and pleaded not guilty. Efforts to effect a reconciliation were fruitless.

MATTAPAN BOY STRANGELY SHOT

Photo diagram of the interior of the office at No. 67 Sudbury street, West End, where eighteen-year-old Richard Stone was wounded by an unidentified assailant who had trailed him there from the Pennsylvania depot in New York.

BANKS' NEW CONFESSION NAMES VET

Thomas Kirkland, a Former U. S. Cavalryman, Sought as One Firer of Fatal Shot

Fear of Vengeance wreaked on his loved ones led Barney Banks, Lawrence taxi driver, to make confessions implicating others while he shielded the real slayer of Patrolman Arthur J. Bower of the Methuen police, shot to death in "Peter's Paradise" on the Lowell-Lawrence road, Banks declared today.

Then he charged Thomas Kirkland, a former United States cavalryman, with firing the fatal bullet that sent the slain man spinning to his death from the running board of the murder car.

Banks said that Kirkland had threatened to kill him and his sweetheart, Rosa Goldman, after girl previously implicated if he ever "squealed."

This and other information given by the taxidriver in his fourth and last confession resulted in Chief James W. Riley of Methuen and State Officer William Murray going to Nashua today to question the owner of a green touring car corresponding to the one described as the murder machine in Patrolman John McDonald, Bower's companion.

IN PLAN TO ROB.

The police are convinced now that Banks and his companions on the night of the crime drove in a green Paige touring car bearing a New Hampshire license to Roseland park, and that after the murder they ran up the cashier of that resort.

Then after the killing they think the car was fled to Lawrence, where machines were shifted and Banks started away in the Dodge sedan he still had in his garage, where he was picked up by the police of Haverhill, 61.

It was further believed that at least one other man was present when the murder occurred, not his death, although Banks now claims that Kirkland was the only one with him.

HOLDUP PLANNED.

Kirkland, Banks declares in his confessions, had discussed with him to rob the cashier of the Roseland dance hall. They arrived after the dance was over, however, and were planning to stage the holdup on the following night, when Bower and his fellow officer, McDonald, came upon them.

Banks, the confession states, had met the two former buddy in the 12th United States Cavalry, and plotted the holdup.

It was while they were discussing plans, confession stated, that the two Methuen policemen approached their machine. McDonald Banks said in his confession, continued in the police automobile while Bower remained with them.

"Show us your license and registration," Bower demanded.

REFUSED DEMAND.

Fearing that compliance with the officer's demand would reveal his identity and thus spoil their plans for the holdup, Banks said, he refused to show the papers, although he had them in his possession.

Thereupon Bower is said to have ordered the men from the car with the announcement that he was about to search the machine.

It was then, Banks said, that he shot the officer in the leg with his .45 calibre revolver. His companion then whipped out his revolver and fired the fatal shot, with the exclamation:

"Yes, and take that too."

The murderers then sped away just as Patrolman McDonald returned and fired a volley at the fleeing car. Banks then drove the machine to Lowell, he said, where he left Kirkland and returned to Lawrence.

Kirkland is described as about twenty-four years old, six feet tall, dark complexioned. A livid scar on the left side of his face, due to a stab wound, would also serve to identify him.

Bower, the murdered Methuen policeman, was buried in Methuen Sunday. Hundreds attended services for the murdered officer.

BOMBS SPREAD NEW TERROR IN RUHR

Dusseldorf, Aug. 6 (A.P.)—Since the explosion of a hand grenade here Saturday, which wounded two members of a French troop on march, similar accidents have occurred in various parts of the Ruhr, giving rise to the fear that a recrudescence of violence against the authorities of occupation had been begun.

A bomb was found in Essen, with fuse attached, opposite the building occupied by the coal syndicate. A German, Johann Dalbowski, was arrested in connection with the discovery.

Near the station of Essen West, a bomb was exploded. It did little damage.

A package of explosives was found in Dortmund near the wall of a house occupied by a colonel of the 45th French Regiment, and another package was discovered in the garden of the house in which the general commanding in Dortmund lives.

Close to the station at Mulheim, near Essen, a hand grenade was flung at a French sentinel. He was unhurt.

An attempt was made to sabotage a French balloon at Altenessen. The culprit was arrested.

Berlin Repudiates Ruhr Bombing

Berlin, Aug. 6 (A.P.).—It is unknown whether there is justification for the French suspicion that the bombing at Dusseldorf last Saturday was the act of Germans, but should inquiry prove such to be the case the government would be deeply regretful, says an announcement made in official quarters.

The government, it is added, can only emphatically repeat its recent communication to the Paris nuncio that it condemns every form of violence and believes that such acts can fulfill no useful purpose, merely serving to injure Germany's cause.

Germans Agree to Let Coal Go to Italy

Paris, Aug. 6 (A.P.).—The German coal operators in the Ruhr have come to an understanding with the Franco-Belgian authorities operating the Ruhr railroads under which the Germans will cease their opposition to the shipment of coal on reparations account to Italy over the lines operated by the Allies.

This arrangement announced at the Foreign Office, is regarded in French official circles as a sign of the weakening of passive resistance to Allied action in the Ruhr.

FANNY BRICE GIVES UP NEW NOSE PLAN

New York, Aug. 6.—Several weeks ago Fanny Brice, actress, decided to have her face made over according to the new 1923 streamline models—a feat which modern plastic surgery has rendered as simple as having the dining room walls done over.

But Miss Brice had forgotten a contract signed with Flo Ziegfeld, Jr., to appear in one of his Fall productions. Ziegfeld showed the contract called for Miss Brice's nose and features "as is," and that any attempt at remodelling would invalidate the pact.

He said to Miss Brice:

"When I signed this contract with you it included your nose, of course. Change your nose and you cancel the contract. So you'd better leave it alone."

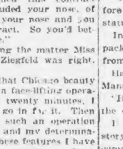
After considering the matter Miss Brice concluded Ziegfeld was right. She said:

"When I saw that Chicago beauty surgeon perform a face-lifting operation in less than twenty minutes, I thought I might go in for it. Then I decided maybe such an operation might be painful and my determination wavered. These features I have been wearing for many years have always served me pretty well, so I decided I had best be content with them.

"Of course Mr. Ziegfeld's attitude set me thinking, too. So I have decided to indefinitely postpone my facial operation. My regular nose will have to do for this season, at least."

MRS. LIVINGSTON, W. C. T. U. LEADER, DIES

Mrs. Deborah Knox Livingston of Newton Highlands, national director of citizenship, Women's Christian Temperance Union, is dead at her Summer home at Osterville. She was widely known as a lecturer before women's clubs and for years was a force in the movement to bring about country-wide prohibition. She was a member of the executive committee of the World Temperance Alliance.



Mrs. Livingston.

Mrs. Livingston suffered a nervous collapse last Spring and was brought to her Summer home, where she grew steadily weaker. She was born in Scotland, forty-eight years ago, and came, with her parents, to this country, when about ten years old.

RECONCILIATION OF THE HOHENZOLLERNS

London, Aug. 6.—A reconciliation has taken place in the Hohenzollern family, according to a dispatch to the London Daily Mail. Duke and Duchess of Brunswick arrived at Doorn from Germany. Hitherto the Duchess had refuse to meet her stepmother. Her father, the Duke of Cumberland, also arrived at Doorn from Vienna, traveling by automobile.

Princess Hermoine Photo copyright by Underwood & Underwood

BANDITS DRUG, ROB CHAUFFEUR; GET $303

Two youths attacked George A. Molloy, 23 years old, a chauffeur, of No. 798 Dorchester avenue, as he was walking home on Southampton street, drugged him with ether and robbed him of $308 in cash and a diamond ring valued at $110. Following the robbery the bandits fled, leaving their victim unconscious in a nearby lot. Molloy lay for hours before he was discovered by a patrolman. Molloy was returning from the Carney Hospital. He had been there to pay a bill for $882, but had found he was to accept payment.

ITALY HOLDS UP DISARMAMENT TREATIES

Paris, Aug. 6. (AP)—Discussion of the proposed treaty for general and partial guarantee pacts, making possible a reduction of armaments by the temporary disarmament committees of the League of Nations in session here, is prolonged by the opposition of Italy to the compromise project agreed upon by the French and British.

Italy objects to the provision under which the partial pacts by work two or more powers may in case of threatened war come into force at once, while the general guarantee pact becomes effective only after the Council of the League has given notice to that effect.

Italy is supported by South American representatives, notably Francisco Urrutia, Colombian Minister to Switzerland, and by the Spanish and Scandinavian delegates who demand that the partial agreements shall become workable the same as the general pact, only after the council has passed them.

In answer to this the Czech and British delegates have pointed out the probability that if the members of the council were compelled to ratify partial agreements effective the result would be that those pacts would be made outside the league.

PARENTS SEEK DR. IN VAIN; BOY DIES

Salisbury Beach, N. H., Aug. 6.—Harry E. Starnard, 13 years old, of No. 168 Crawford street, Lowell, died of acute indigestion, while his parents and sister conducted a frantic search for a physician. The boy collapsed in his father's machine nearly in front of a doctor's house, while they were rushing him to Salisbury Beach police station. Medical Examiner Hurd pronounced death due to a spasm, resulting from an attack of acute indigestion.

The Starnard family was on a two-weeks' outing and had planned to live in tents for the entire time.

BOY LOSES ALL TOES; CRUSHED BY TRAIN

Thirteen-year-old Thomas Dunn of Roxbury was crippled for life when run over by two cars of a New Haven Railroad train in Southampton street railroad yards.

The boy, who lived at No. 4 Orchard street, was playing in the yards, according to the story he told the police. He fell down just as a New Haven train was being backed onto a siding. The cars' rear feet were on the rails. All toes on both feet were severed. The wheels of two empty coaches passed over his feet.

Thomas was taken to the Haymarket Square Relief Station in a police ambulance.

Hospital physicians said he would live but that he would be crippled.

WIFE DEAD, CHILD ILL, MAN KILLS HIMSELF

Despondency over the death of his wife and the illness of his daughter is believed to have prompted Carl J. Manson, sixty-eight years old, of No. 914 Main street, Melrose, to commit suicide by gas at his home.

Manson was found dead in his bed by a friend, Elias J. Gustafson of No. 832 Main street, who came to visit him. Gas was flowing from an open gas cock in a stove in the kitchen.

Indications that Manson had planned the suicide were first learned by friends, when, following the death of his wife a week ago, and the subsequent removal of his critical condition, Manson bought a friends that he expected to follow daughter Emma to the hospital in a double grave, explaining to his his wife days few days.

BANDIT STEALS HIS VICTIM'S TROUSERS

A lone bandit attacked Joseph Thomas, forty-one years old, of Summer street, Lynn, at a lonely spot on Orchard street, beat him into unconsciousness and robbed him of his money. The robber did not wait to search his victim but hurriedly tore his trousers from his body and escaped. The police later arrested Charles Wassel, of No. 87 Orchard street, after a battle and charged him with assault on Thomas and larceny from his person. Thomas identified Wassel as his assailant. The police meanwhile applied first aid in the form of a spare pair of trousers to the holdup victim.

Injured by Fall

STANDISH WILCOX

Standish Wilcox, secretary to Mayor Curley, suffered a fractured left wrist when he tripped over a rug in Hotel Touraine and fell. He was taken to the City Hospital, and after having the fracture reset, went to his home at No 2 Fallon street, Roxbury.

PHONE GIRL VANISHES FROM SOMERVILLE

The end of the police of Somerville and surrounding cities and towns was invoked in a search for Miss Alice Reid, 20 years old, a former telephone operator at the Somerville Exchange, who left her home at No. 7 Walnut street, Somerville, shortly after 8 o'clock Friday night to get some ice cream and has not since been seen or heard from by members of her family.

Miss Alice Reid.

The police say they can learn of no reason why the girl should leave her home. Miss Reid had no extra clothing or money with her when she left the house. Her absence was reported to Chief Kendall, who communicated with police of Greater Boston.

Miss Reid is of dark complexion with black hair, 5 feet 8 inches in height and weighing 15 pounds. She was dressed in a light georgette dress, black cape, black shoes and stockings and wore a black hat with white trimmings.

YOUNG BANDITS GET $20,000 IN GEMS

Chicago, Aug. 6 (I.N.S.)—Two young, well-dressed bandits held up the diamond-setting firm of G. J. Fried Company early today, escaping with rings, diamonds and other jewelry, valued at approximately $20,000.

'LOVE PIRATE' HEARS RIVAL IS 'NUT'

Continued from Third Page.

to H—— and it was the one that is hanging around.

"Gee, Howard dear, I'll never go out again if a night unless someone in the house is with me. Gee, the face of Howard, I don't know who he is because I get a good look at him and he is no friend of mine.

"He came in our dining room and living room there is an archway and one can see right in from the sidewalk and I was telephoning to A—— and I saw the fellow looking in and I believe the I pulled every curtain in the dining room down. Such is life, alright.

SOME ONE A NUT.

"J—— K—— sure is a nut. He ought to know that I haven't any love for him and still he sticks around and writes me to go out with him and I always slam him but he doesn't mind. I was talking about you the other night.

"M—— was here and we were talking about all the good times we had with when M—— was going home he went home with her and he asked her if she thought I cared for him. He wanted to know all about you and he said he knew I liked you because I am always talking about you.

PATIENT WAITER.

"I'm glad you aren't falling for all the silly girls because you know there's a country girl patiently waiting for you. I have waited so far so I think I'll stick it out. 'A patient waiter is a sure winner.' Talking about girls 'making up,' Howard, I think I'd get the prize.

"A—— tells me that I 'make up like a regular frog but she 'makes up' as well as I do. Gee, Howard, I forgot about the night I was sarcastic. When was it? What was it about? I'm going to take some pictures Sunday so the next time I write I'll send you some.

"I'll close now, sweetheart, and take care of yourself and don't do anything you know I wouldn't do. What is love? I wonder if we're in love or ever will be? Yes? No? Write soon to your, with all my love ——.

C——

"(Kisses)—XXXXXXXX XXXXXXXX XXXXXXXX."

YOUTH SHOT BY GUNMAN AFTER HIS ROLL

Richard Stone, eighteen years old, a traveling salesman, of No. 8 Wilcox street, Mattapan, found in a West End office with a bullet in his breast, told the police he had been trailed from New York by a gunman, who shot him when he refused to surrender his cash.

Stone was found in the office of the chemical firm by whom he is employed, at No. 67 Sudbury street, West End, by ambulance men of the Haymarket Square Relief Station. He was taken to the Relief Station and then to the City Hospital. His name is on the danger list.

The wounded youth told the police that he met his assailant in the Pennsylvania Station in New York. There Stone returning from a business trip was counting the money in his wallet when the stranger saw the roll of bills.

The gunman, Stone said, threatened death if he refused to surrender the money, but the youth ignored him.

Arriving here he proceeded to the office of his employers, where he deposited the money in the safe. Hardly had he done so, when he heard a knock at the front door, he said. He answered the knock and was confronted by the New York stranger.

The latter again demanded the money. Stone turned and ran up the stairs followed by the stranger. When they reached the office, Stone said, his pursuer, whipped out a revolver, fired one shot at him and fled.

Stone succeeded in crawling into the office to a telephone, after he fell, and called his family physician, Dr. H. E. Stone of No. 810 Blue Hill avenue, Dorchester. The latter notified authorities of the Relief Station of the youth's condition.

Stone described his assailant as about thirty years old, five feet three inches tall, weighing 120 pounds and dark complexioned. He had a fresh cut on his face and wore a dark suit and a straw hat.

9 DIE IN PARTY OF 10 HIT BY LOCOMOTIVE

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Aug. 6.—The death toll of yesterday's crossing today when Carmello Didimigeo, 38, one of the two survivors of the picnic party of ten passengers in the truck struck by a New York Central passenger train, died in a hospital. Capriotto, who was driving the truck, failed to notice the approach of the rain. Mrs. Capriotto, four of her children, Alber Maivestuto, an infant and Angelo Bartolo were killed outright. A four-year-old daughter of the Capriottos died on the way to a hospital.

ROX. WOMAN TAKES POISON BY MISTAKE

Mrs. Louise Oxenhorn, twenty-two years old, No. 100 Lawrence avenue, Roxbury, is on the danger list in City Hospital from strychnine poisoning. According to her husband, Morris Oxenhorn, his wife mistook strychnine tablets for aspirin tablets. He found her on her bedroom floor, writhing in agony, and summoned a taxicab and took her to the hospital.

Largest Evening Circulation in New England

This Day in History, August 6, 1923

THIS is the anniversary of the death, in 1660, of Velasquez, the famous Spanish painter, who remains as the greatest master of naturalism the world has seen. Some of his portraits are in this country.

Magazine Page

The Peopling of Asia

DR. ALES HADLICKA, ethnologist, says the peopling of Asia constitutes one of the greatest problems of anthropology. He concludes that the cradle of humanity was essentially south western Europe.

THE WAYS OF A HUSBAND—By ANN LISLE

A Splendid Sequel to the Famous Story of Wedded Life, "When a Girl Marries"

MR. Derringforth examined me quizzically through his pince-nez and asked me if I knew how I'd acted.

"How?" I asked.

"Just like a woman," he chuckled.

I managed to smile at his pleasantry, though it annoyed me to have him suggest that the woman in business didn't show the same steadfastness of purpose to be expected from a man. After leaving his office, I retraced my footsteps to Haldane's. I couldn't rest until I made sure that my dear old friend had saved the magazine to which he had devoted his life. And his first words made up to me for some of the anguish of the past days.

"Haldane's is safe!" he cried, seizing both my hands and leading me to the window where the bright afternoon sun flooded our faces. His face had a look of buoyancy and even of youth. It was in satisfying contrast to the gray desperation I had shown in the morning. "You brought me luck."

"Your banker saw you through?" I asked.

"Yes, ma'am!" shouted Loren Haldane, tightening his grip on my hands. "It's a mighty conservative little bank. And they told me frankly that they had about all the outstanding loans they cared to handle for the next sixty days. But they said 'twas an honor to help Haldane's. It's easy to get money. All you have to do is ask for it."

The old man chuckled with new life and hope.

I wanted to laugh or cry. I didn't know which. But the thought that I had been instrumental in saving the man on whose magazine I got my start in the city, touched me deeply. Nor did I forget that it was through the Haldane offices I had come to know Jim. And I felt that I hadn't sacrificed Neal and was still in a position to make this up to Pat. So I could be cheerful, too.

I went back to my own office in a frame of mind more nearly honest than I'd found to know until Neal came home.

None of the agencies we had been praying for Neal had any report to make. He seemed to have dropped out of existence. But I felt that things were beginning to right themselves and that Neal be bound to come home soon.

Betty and I worked hard all day. Toward evening Pat telephoned to state that everything was all right and that under the circumstances he felt I wouldn't mind having Jeanie and him spend another night under my roof.

Money in Safe

Understanding that he had secured the necessary cash too late for me to take it to Darrill Tompkins before morning, I felt that it was best for the money to be guarded by the full moon of our family. So I told him how gladly I'd share my home with him and Jeanie again. And forcing back into a hidden recess of my mind the hurt Jeanie's attitude toward Neal had caused me, I finished the day's work and prepared to go home.

Again Jim called at my office to take me home. This in itself was enough to make my heart sing. Even when we got downstairs and I found Jeanie and Pat waiting in the taxi, I felt I could afford to beam. We were all a little solemn until we had arrived at the apartment and had stowed the sixty thousand dollars Pat carried in the wall safe Jim installed shortly after we came back there to live. This precaution came from our experience with Dick West. Its value has never so strongly appealed to me as now.

Dinner went along smoothly, and though none of us could forget how recently Phoebe had left us, we managed to rise above morbidness. There was an undercurrent of nervousness in the background, but we all strove to put forth brave and quick efforts in our conversation and even out of our minds. And then, after dinner as we sat in the living room trying to keep to casual, endless topics, Jeanie said plaintively:

"I feel as if I ought to be home with my baby."

"Listen to her tone of possession," taunted Jim. "Well, Pat, old man, rather you than me as an amateur father."

Jeanie laughed consciously.

"Little Phoebe has made an improvement in father," she remarked carelessly. "And I know she's safe with us. I don't question that if she were with you, Neal, you'd be foolish enough to hold her over to young Neal the minute he condescends to come back and claim her."

"Won't you?" I asked breathlessly.

Virginia's eyes flashed.

"To a thief!" she asked. "Anne, you trust me reason. For your sake we won't prosecute Neal. But we aren't going to sentimentalize him or act as if he is a suffering hero."

I turned to Pat, sure of his understanding, looking for his support.

"Pat, dear, surely you will make Virginia understand that Neal isn't the basest soldier. That must be clear to all of us."

Pat's voice was low and full of regret as he answered me.

"To me, yes, Anne. Always."

Unjust View

That Virginia would influence Pat to think of Neal as a deliberate absconder had never occurred to me. Yet when Pat declared that it wasn't time whether or no Neal was a thief, I realized that Virginia must have invested him to this unjust and uncharitable viewpoint.

Stirred by the cruelty of Pat's loss of faith in Neal, I cried in anguish:

"Oh, you can't — you mustn't believe that Neal is the most honest soul in the world."

Copyright, 1923 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

To Be Continued Tomorrow.

Fashion Changes .:. .:.

DRAWN BY POPINI

Copyright, 1923, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

JUST suppose all the fashions that have been—all the "silhouettes" that have caught the eye of mankind during the roll of the centuries—came trooping before the eye of a modern young man. The poor chap would have a time of it trying to decide which was the most ravishing, which gave beauty its supreme opportunity, which really upset HIM most. What a panorama! What a quaint procession of fancies devised by HER extraordinary fertility.

Imagine him lulled for a moment by such a spectacle, for example, as the hoopskirt girl, dazzled perhaps by the charm of the effect. What chance would the hoopskirt girl have, what chance would HE have, if the modern girl drifted into the picture, the girl of TODAY? Ask Cupid. He's sitting there chinking it over profoundly.

—POPINI.

THREE-MINUTE TRIPS

ARREST FOR HOUSE FIRE

By TEMPLE MANNING

THE history of crime is varied and stormy. Inhabited originally by a race of swarthy Indians, known as the Araucanians, it was next invaded by the Incas, those mysterious and remarkably cultured aborigines—or supposed aborigines—of the neighboring country of Peru.

It was as early as 1535 that this regime was interrupted by the invasion of the Spanish into Chile under the leadership of the daring and adventurous Diego de Almagro. And it was not until after several centuries of bloody warfare that the natives agreed to any sort of treaty with Spain and won their independence as a country.

Since that time Chile has advanced with such rapid strides that today she is well up on the list of important countries in the western hemisphere.

To her mother country, Spain—Chile bears much the same relationship that the United States does to England, in that they have the same manners, customs and language.

But in some of her laws Chile is very different from other countries. And in one law in particular Chile holds an unique distinction.

This is the law regarding fires. For in Chile, the damage from a fire is not left to the householder, to ensure himself or have all of your household goods and treasures destroyed.

As in France, a man is guilty of a crime until he is proved innocent, so in Chile a man is considered guilty of having set his house on fire until he proves that he had nothing whatever to do with it.

For when a fire occurs, the owner or the occupant of the burned building is promptly arrested and brought before a court of law. There, legally speaking, "the burden of proof is on him," until he convinces the court that he is guiltless.

Needless to say, there are very few "fire sales" in Chile and such a thing as a joke about a fire is never heard.

The satisfaction of a large settlement from an insurance company is of little comfort in Chile. It is not only personal loss which is suffered, but real embarrassment in publicly appearing and proving yourself innocent of having set your own house on fire.

Copyright, 1923, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

WHEN DID IT HAPPEN?

1—When was the first bank chartered in the United States?

2—When did the marshes of Cherry Valley, N. Y., occur?

3—When was the war between Germany and Denmark?

4—When was the Southern Confederacy formed?

5—When was the last lottery held in England?

(Answers to three queries will be printed tomorrow.)

ANSWERS

To Saturday's Questions.

1—The present Library of Congress building was opened to the public in November, 1897.

2—The National Geographic Society was founded in 1888.

3—The 19th Amendment to the United States Constitution, giving suffrage to women, went into effect, August 26, 1920.

4—President Andrew Johnson was impeached in 1868.

5—Moscow was burned by the Russians, to prevent its falling into the hands of Napoleon, September 16, 1812.

Copyright 1923 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WHO SAID IT AND WHERE

"Blood and iron."

Bismarck, while representing Germany at St. Petersburg, recommended in a letter that by "blood and iron" certain measures should be put through, a policy that marked Bismarck's whole regime, and gained him the name of the "Iron Chancellor."

"Make hay while the sun shines."

An old piece of advice to make most of opportunities which Heywood has placed in his collection of proverbs.

"To pursue the even tenor of their way."

This oft-quoted line used in referring to the ordinary, everyday, uneventful mode of living, is from Gray's "Elegy in a Country Churchyard."

Copyright, 1923, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

To clean white paint dissolve a piece of ammonia about the size of a walnut in half a pail of water and rub the paint carefully with a sponge. Dry with a clean cool duster.

• • •

Sprinkle a little salt on the bottom of the frying pan and this will keep the fat in boiling from splashing on to the grate and hands, especially when frying meat, sausages etc.

• • •

When cheese becomes dry, steam it for half an hour over a saucepan of boiling water.

• • •

If a piece of crusty, stale bread is put in the water in which onions are boiled it will prevent any smell.

BEST PATTERNS 10c

YOUR CHOICE OF LATEST STYLES

The Boston American offers today more of its new and stylish dress patterns at a price never before equalled elsewhere. It will cost from 15c to $1 to duplicate these patterns anywhere else. Orders MUST be on OFFICIAL COUPON.

4307

SLENDER AND MATURE FIGURES

4307. Linen and checked gingham are combined in this model. One could have wool jersey with plaid or checked taffeta or woolen for contrast. Braid and embroidery, too, are pleasing for decoration.

The pattern is cut in 7 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. A 38-inch size requires 4¾ yards of 40-inch material. To trim as illustrated requires ⅝ yard of contrasting material. The width of the skirt at the foot is 2¾ yards.

4082

FOR THE WOMAN OF MATURE FIGURE

4082. Fashion has planned this style for grace and comfort. Striped and plain ratine are here combined. This is also a good model for tub silk, taffeta and crepe.

The Pattern is cut in 7 Sizes: 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust measure. To make the dress for a 38 inch size will require 6 yards of one material 32 inches wide. As illustrated, it will take 2¼ yards of plain material for sleeves and front, and 2¾ yards of striped material. The width of the skirt at the foot is 2¼ yards, with plaits extended.

Boston American Dress Pattern Coupon

Pattern No..... Size..... | Pattern No..... Size.....

Pattern No..... Size..... | Pattern No..... Size.....

Name .....

Street .....

City or Town..... State.....

Fill out and mail (enclosing 10 cents for each pattern) to PATTERN EDITOR, Boston American, 80 Summer St., Boston 9, Mass.

Shave With Cuticura Soap The New Way Without Mug

SECRETS OF HEALTH AND SUCCESS

DR. REED GREETS YOU.

By Charles A. L. Reed, M. D.
Former President of the American Medical Association.

ON making my bow to you, the readers of this newspaper, there are a few things I wish to say which I believe will lead to that feeling of cordial friendship I hope will always exist between us.

Dr. Reed.

I have sought this means of communication with you because I feel that not I, but the profession and the science which I represent have a message that is deeply related to your welfare and happiness.

This message is made up of many facts you ought to know, because they are of fundamental importance in that struggle for existence from which neither you nor I, nor anyone else, may hope to escape.

Shall the "struggle" be a sporty contest full of exhilaration and joy, leading to success?

Or shall it be a painful experience, full of stress and disappointment, leading to final failure?

My daily communications with you will be directed as nearly as possible to the solution of your individual problem in the light of these great questions. But they will often show that what is your individual problem may be equally the problem of every other person, and, therefore, the problem of the community and the state as well.

While it is true that in the analysis each of us must solve his problem and find the answer to his or her own great perplexities my purpose in these articles shall always be to give you simple suggestions which may aid you.

From day to day those who do me the honor of reading these articles will find in them specific hints to the preservation of health, therefore making more certain the achievement of success.

The medical profession has always sought to do this way thing through its daily contact with you. I shall have accomplished much of service to you if these articles of mine shall send you to seek your doctor earlier than you are accustomed to do.

And your friend, the doctor, will be glad, even though quick application to him for advice may reduce the total calls you may make upon him and, consequently cut down his income from you. For what your doctor most desires is not to make you well, but to keep you well.

Although I cannot undertake to answer personal letters, I shall at all times be eager to receive suggestions from you. Write me what you would like me to write about and—if I have not already written on that subject—I shall be glad to write for you a special article. Thus any health problem you may have will be answered for you and for all our friends to read.

I am thinking you in advance.

Tomorrow I shall tell you some things about you, three lines of defence against disease.

Copyright, 1923, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

YOUR BEAUTY

NEW SERIES OF PRACTICAL VALUES

By Maria Jeritza,
The Famous Prima Donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company and One of the Most Beautiful Women of the Day.

BEAUTIFUL eyes are often looked upon as a gift of fortune. But while it is true that we are not responsible for the color and size of our eyes, we can do much to make them lovely.

For beauty of the eyes depends to a very great extent upon their well-being, the general health and the thought they reflect.

Sensitive eyes of the general health is extremely important. Lack of sleep shows itself first of all in the fatigued look about the eyes and the tiny wrinkles that crisscross about their corners.

My second suggestion is—attend to your general health by eating simply and at regular hours, drinking plenty of water, exercising and in every way keeping physically fit. The eyes quickly mirror fine physical condition by a clear unclouded look and the absence of even the slightest redness.

Do not use your eyes by a bad light. This isn't necessary. Time is always a way out, provided you are willing to go to the trouble of finding it. Better by far work by a good artificial light than by unsatisfactory, shadowy daylight. Do not work with the sun shining full upon your reading, sewing or whatever your work may happen to be.

If you have to expend conscious effort in order to see your work, get a better light. You need it.

Do not bend over your task with doubled backbone and crooked neck. Try to plan so that you can always work with your back and neck erect. This, too, can usually be managed by intelligent planning.

Keep your eyes clean. This is important and is too often neglected. The eyelashes are dust traps. An eye cup filled with warm water applied to your eyes twice a day should keep them fresh and clean. Throw your head well back when you apply the cup, hold it close to your face and blink your eyes in the water several times. Then dry them gently.

The next time you notice a network of tiny wrinkles about the corners of your eyes, due to sleeplessness, overwork, worry or exposure to a high wind, put lanolin gently and generously into the skin about your eyes. Be careful not to let it get into the eyes themselves. After an hour wipe off what has not been absorbed.

Then retire and after a good night's sleep you will find the wrinkles faded out. Repeat the process several nights and they should go altogether.

But the most important suggestion of all for the woman, is this: Observe. Train your eyes really to see.

A. R. Lotell wisely sings:

So great the distance and the heavens so far,
We failed to find the mighty, new-born star.
So near at hand the humble bank we passed,
We never saw white violets in the grass.

Look for beauty everywhere and you will find it, and reflect it in bright and irrisistibly lovely eyes.

Kill those foul odors

Don't merely cover up foul odors with another smell. Use Sylpho-Nathol! It kills them and their cause.

Sylpho-Nathol makes bathrooms, sinks, ice-boxes and garbage pails sweet-smelling. It keeps the home healthful. Use it daily as you do soap—25c, 35c, 65c and $1.25.

THE SULPHO-NAPTHOL CO. Boston, Mass.

SYLPHO-NATHOL

YOU DON'T NEED A FINE COMB

If you use KIL-VE for your children's heads. For sanitary reasons, your domestics should use it, too. Absolutely harmless, non-oily, non-sticky and doesn't interfere with color or growth of hair. KIL-VE destroys all vermin, and the eggs or nits that cling to the hair. Buy it today at drug stores—35c, 65c and $1.25.

Don't be ashamed to ask for it.

SCHWARZ'S KIL-VE

DESTROYS VERMIN ON CHILDREN'S HEADS

Ready for use No boiling

Makes cotton look and feel like linen

De Luxe Fiction
THE BOSTON AMERICAN pays the highest prices for fiction and features.

Largest Evening Circulation in New England

Magazine Page

Read the Best
AS GOOD READING [illegible] as you

BLACK OXEN

By GERTRUDE ATHERTON

Year's Best Selling Novel Reveals Mysterious Return of Youth and Beauty to Old Woman

"And you think I am Mary Zattiany's Daughter?"

By Arrangement with Associated First National Pictures, Inc., in Whose Film Version Corinne Griffith Will Appear as Countess Zattiany

START THIS BEST-SELLER HERE TODAY

A [illegible] creates a sensation at [illegible] sitting in her seat at the [illegible] audience through her [illegible] Clavering and her friend Dan [illegible] interested, and the [illegible] that she is the image of [illegible] Opie, although ten years younger [illegible] the three seem to be a [illegible]

READ ON. THE THRILLS COME FAST

(CONTINUED) [illegible] Mary Zattiany's father over [illegible] Hartwell [illegible] Opie [illegible] rooms after [illegible] the [illegible] He decided [illegible] evening in [illegible]

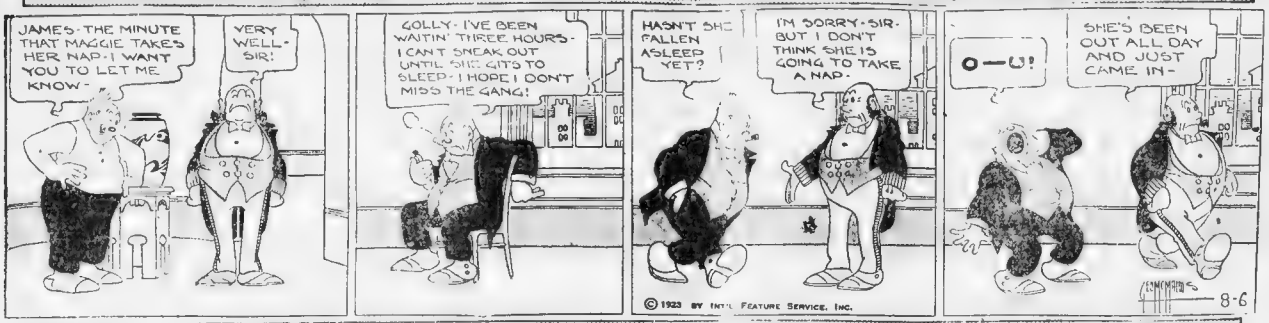
[illegible] Dennis [illegible] would [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

$1000 FREE--SEE OTHER COMIC PAGE--$1000 FREE

BRINGING UP FATHER

Jiggs Misses a Great Chance

By George McManus



Smile at These

By Nat F. Dorfman

IT'S not the heat as much as it's the cooling on the part of the hot's Faire proprietors at all the Faire

[illegible]

HISTRICAL NOTE

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

HUH

[illegible]

[illegible]

Most [illegible]

MONEY AND LUCK IN YOUR NAME

[illegible]

All
Loving Mothers
Everywhere
Deserve
Exceptional
Rewards

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

Gucci
Riches
Always Cicotte
Ford

[illegible]

Every Man
Isn't Lazy
EMIL KLOSE,
261 W. Newton st., Boston,
(Care G. Honnessey.)

SO THIS IS MARRIED LIFE

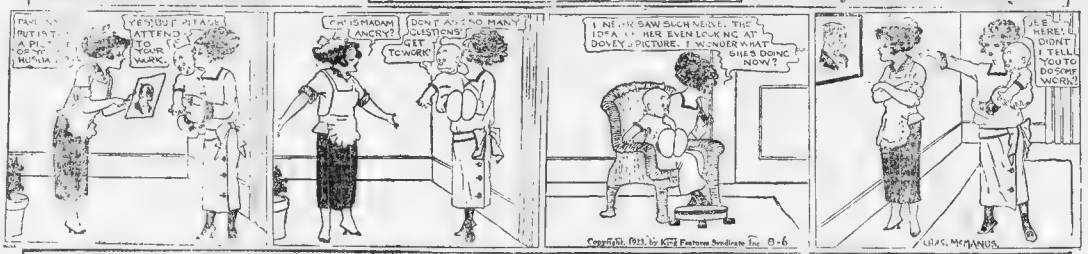
All Dressed Up a la Swiss

By Zere

THE NEWLYWEDS

Her Mind Isn't on Her Work

By Charles McManus



JERRY ON THE JOB

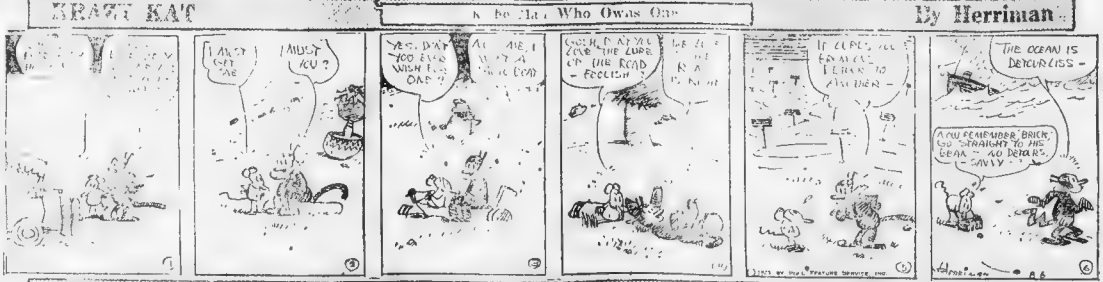
No Credit Where No Credit's Due

By Hoban

KRAZY KAT

As to Him Who Owns One

By Herriman



HELPFUL HENRY

Sally Puts Her Foot Down

By Arnot

Medbury Says—

By John P. Medbury.

MOST [illegible] hour work [illegible] women everywhere [illegible] home. A woman [illegible] ten hours a day [illegible] and the [illegible] rupt her.

AND as long as the [illegible] kick, the [illegible] to make a holler [illegible]

ONE guy even took the clock out of the kitchen so his wife couldn't watch it.

SHE had worked [illegible] before he [illegible] to quit work [illegible] keith started [illegible]

IT got so that she used to stop work every [illegible] and [illegible] to shake [illegible]

AT the factory she had a fore- [illegible] but [illegible] to her honesty.

OF course on Saturday [illegible] she doesn't lay down on the job.

THE day they got [illegible] asked him how [illegible] Price for it.

BUT he made her work [illegible] at home, but she had to go back to the factory for a vacation.

OF course she tried to combine the work of [illegible] No [illegible] of [illegible] those [illegible] who [illegible]

AND a husband can [illegible] put [illegible] and ask her to help.

WHEN there [illegible] the [illegible] the time to [illegible] a woman would [illegible]

IT'S hard work on a woman to work eight hours [illegible] for twenty dollars [illegible] then marry some [illegible] work eight hours [illegible]

OF course she gets her [illegible] less [illegible] and dead [illegible]

THE state says [illegible] must not head over [illegible] more than eight hours [illegible] but it doesn't say [illegible] over and [illegible]

ON [illegible]

IF a girl want [illegible] her [illegible] dollars capital [illegible] she [illegible] and [illegible] to kill herself.

IN matrimony [illegible] and dollar means that if a man [illegible] dollars capital [illegible] he [illegible] and [illegible] to kill himself.

OYSTERS IN SEASON

A lightning rod on the weather bureau.

Trying to get fat by drinking stout.

Building an extra [illegible] on the ice box.

A man with two chins leading a double life.

A book agent trying to sell a life insurance agent.

Printing the baseball [illegible] on fly paper.

A Laplander riding on the sub [illegible]

A dog catcher calling a [illegible] further.

"Rolling the bones" in a cemetery.

Playing solitaire in a one-piece bathing suit.

An Eskimo [illegible]

WHEN IN LOVE

With a girl who likes to enter marathon dancing contests don't buy her a phonograph.

With a girl who has an enormous appetite, ask her to bring some lunch along when you take her out to the bathing beach.

With a minister's daughter always put a dollar on the collection plate.

With a butcher's daughter, be careful not to pull any bones.

With a girl who lives in the suburbs, buy a commutation ticket and save money.

With an artist's model, show interest in her work.

BOSTON SPORTING AMERICAN

BOSTON'S NEW RED SOX BOSS AND FAMILY

NEW SOX OWNER REAL BASEBALL MAN

Dempsey Denies He Ducks Wills

WILL FIGHT HIM AFTER FIRPO

By THOMAS L. CUMMISKEY

New York, Aug. 6—Jack Dempsey says it is a laugh [illegible] he is dodging Harry Wills to meet Firpo and that he will [illegible] Firpo if

Cobb and His Tygers Opened Series at Fenway Park

Ty Cobb and his Tygers opened at the Fenway today in one of those four games in the Hub affairs. The double-header comes Wednesday. It is a scheduled bargain, a rarity that has appeared several times in this season's peculiar program.

The Sox have won with much frequency for them lately, and still cherish hopes of getting out of the cellar. The A's, who have dropped a dozen in a row are "going" back rapidly, and the Tygers haven't been tough picking for the other boys lately, either.

DEMPSEY WILL DEVELOP K. O. WALLOP

By WARREN W. BROWN.

New York, Aug. 6—Jack Dempsey [illegible]

GENARO TO GET VILLA MATCH

By JACK CONWAY

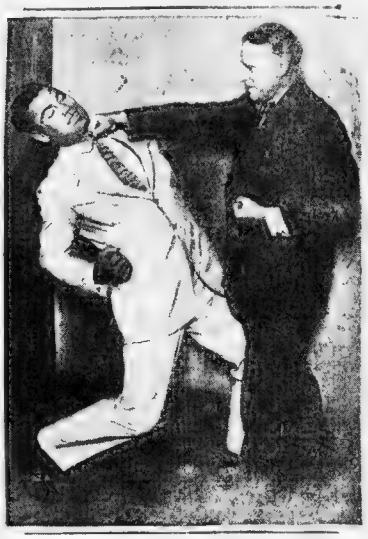
[illegible] American [illegible] to [illegible] new world [illegible] and special matches [illegible] Pancho Villa.

The [illegible] promoter of [illegible] and Francisco [illegible] has [illegible] with [illegible] promoter [illegible] agreed to [illegible] to [illegible] to [illegible] completed [illegible] are expected in [illegible] "The [illegible] of the game [illegible]

GENARO HAS WON TWO DECISIONS FROM VILLA

GENARO AGAIN PROVED MASTER OF FILIPINO

Sleuth Slips One Over on Champion Jack



Jack Dempsey [illegible]

QUINN TO PUT HUB ON TOP

By NICK FLATLEY

[illegible] Queen of [illegible] and [illegible] of [illegible] one day [illegible] Ruth [illegible] here, [illegible]

HUNDREDS OF BUSHERS WANT CHANCE TO SHINE.

SCOUTS WILL GET OUT EARLY ON TRAIL OF COMERS.

WHITE'S STARS TO BATTLE FILENE'S

WHITE'S		FILENE'S
Ledroumus	ss	Nazzaro	ab
Miller	2b	Mevers	2b
Cluney	p	Godwin	1b
Baffos	1b	Ford	p
Billings	c	Madden	cf
Smith	ab	Murphy	cf
Brasil	lf	Foley	ss
Connors	rf	[illegible]	c
Cobb	cf	Sullivan	lf

[illegible]

Babe Hits 2 Home Runs, Total 27

By Universal Service.

New York, Aug. 6—Babe Ruth hit two home runs in the ninth game the Yankees won from St. Louis. They increased his total for season to 27, only one behind Ed Williams, the slugging Philadelphia outfielder.

Ruth's record clouts were made in the first and the sixth innings.

RENAULT KNOCKS OUT HERRO IN 2 ROUNDS

By Universal Service

STANLEY HILL POST NINE BEATS CONCORD

TODAY'S SCORE CARD

FENWAY PARK

[illegible]

TIGERS	AB	BH	BAv
Haney, 2b	330	106	321
Jones, 3b	135	27	200
Dale, 1b	263	77	293
Camp, cf	318	103	324
Heilman, rf	373	127	341
Vitt, lf	278	67	241
Fothergill, ss	246	76	309
Bassler, c	208	6	029
Oldham, p	61	13	213
Team average	3144	931	.296

RED SOX	AB	BH	BAv
Scott, 2b	275	69	251
Pinelli, c	361	82	227
Ruether, p	286	95	332
Bates, 1b	354	118	333
Pipgras, cf	244	68	279
Howe, lf	316	106	335
Scott, 2b	268	68	253
Wambsganss, ss	274	70	256
Quinn, p	40	1	025
Team average	3250	806	.248

HOW THE CLUBS WILL STAND TONIGHT

	WIN	LOSE		WIN	LOSE
[illegible]	[illegible]		[illegible]	[illegible]

[illegible] to the post favorite. Yet [illegible] away from the fact that Cobb has had the Indians [illegible] Walker in their previous meetings.

Did You See This?

COLORED GIANTS SEEKING GAME

[illegible]

William Dollard [illegible]

Motors Back at Newark

The fans of Newark, N. J., are happy because motor-paced racing has been restored to good standing there.

MR. GALLAGHER & MR. SHEAN — In the Basement

Words by Jo Everitt
Pictures by Charles Saxon

OSTERVILLE BEATS ARLINGTON MILLS

INTERESTING ANNOUNCEMENT ON PAGE 8

MUGGSEY MUFFED ONE
Even the best of them make mistakes. John McGraw, one of the best of them, has made several. His latest came when he allowed Mike Cvengos to escape the Giant fold and join the White Sox

BOSTON SPORTING AMERICAN

GLASS MEETS GLASS
Fred Fulton is contemplating a trip to England, there to encounter the belligerent Joe Beckett. What a breaking of glass there will be when this pair climb into the roped arena

HARVARD MUST CHANGE CREW POLICY TO LAND GLENDON

EXPERIENCES IN CUBA SETTLES THAT POINT

By CHARLES E. PARKER

[illegible] Harvard man G[illegible] after graduation has year.

Marathon Relay From Philadelphia to Atlantic City

Philadelphia, Aug [illegible] connection with the A[illegible] City Athletic Club has been appointed

ZELIS AMUSING YARN ON CUBAN EXPERIENCES

[illegible]

BARNUM'S PICK OF SPOT FOR RELAXATION

[illegible]

BIG DOINGS ON REGATTA DAY.

The regatta season [illegible] events of the [illegible] water [illegible] happened [illegible] boats [illegible] regatta [illegible] course. The third [illegible] point. [illegible] mark. The race [illegible] Dick [illegible] minute [illegible] Adams [illegible] bind the [illegible] two lengths [illegible] quarter. [illegible] last length.

It [illegible] Boston [illegible] he must wake up. He hoped on last beyond the mile mark, a swarm of canoes jutted slightly upon the course. They were filled with Cubs a fewest frails. Pennants

Ether Sleuthing the Latest in Detective Stories

Charles C. Kolster radio inspector [illegible] district, watch com[illegible] Boston's [illegible] to super[illegible] in this [illegible] govern[illegible] for [illegible] of the [illegible] Radio J[illegible] Standard [illegible] Kolster [illegible] been with Brown [illegible] ington may give him an [illegible] following a predictionary sweep, or they may decide that Station [illegible] would better be silent [illegible] Sunday.

Kolster [illegible] Mr. Kolster walked in, found Kelley at the transmitter.

He didn't need to introduce himself, as all radio fans know Mr. Kolster. It was a perfect case of getting caught [illegible] at No. 26 Wilmore [illegible].

BOSTON AMERICAN

AND SO IT GOES
All-year-round football is nowhere plan at Lehigh. And only a few months ago everybody was talking football retrenchment and the coordination of the game. Oh well!

SO IT WOULD SEEM
Whether Jocko Conlon made a wise move in turning down the Rochester contract to sign with the Braves is a moot question. With Rochester he would have had greater opportunity to play.

RUTH A MORE VALUABLE PLAYER THIS YEAR THAN LAST

BAMBINO CLOSE TO HEILMAN

Babe Ruth — Eddie Collins

LEADS AMERICAN LEAGUE IN HOME RUN DRIVES

Rogers Hornsby — Rube Bressler

Indoor Sports — By Tad

EASTERN TEAMS BEAT THE WEST

Rogers' New Pitcher Won Nine Straight in Minor League

MILTON TOWN TEAM BEATS THE RED SOX

K. O. ARTISTS ON FIRPO-WEINERT PROGRAM

STANDING OF CLUBS

AMERICAN LEAGUE

	W	L	Pc.
New York	67	42	.615
Cleveland	63	46	.578
Chicago	61	47	.565
Detroit	57	50	.533
Washington	56	51	.523
St. Louis	54	53	.505
Philadelphia	46	62	.426
BOSTON	37	69	.349

RESULTS YESTERDAY
Boston 3, Detroit 2
Chicago 5, Philadelphia 3
Washington-St. Louis, rain
GAMES TODAY
Boston at New York.
Cleveland at Washington.
Chicago at Philadelphia.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

	W	L	Pc.
New York	69	39	.639
Pittsburgh	68	39	.636
St. Louis	61	46	.570
Chicago	58	51	.532
BOSTON	49	61	.450
Brooklyn	47	61	.435
Cincinnati	45	64	.413
Philadelphia	36	73	.330

RESULTS YESTERDAY
Boston 4, St. Louis 0
New York 2, Brooklyn 1
Pittsburgh-Philadelphia, no scheduled game.
GAMES TODAY
Boston at St. Louis
New York at Cincinnati
Brooklyn at Chicago.

EASTERN LEAGUE

	W	L	P.
Hartford	72	42	.632
Waterbury	69	45	.605
Springfield	64	49	.566
Bridgeport	58	55	.513
Providence	54	59	.478
New Haven	51	62	.451
Worcester	47	66	.416
New London	36	77	.319

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS
Hartford 5, Albany 3
Worcester 7, Bridgeport 2
Springfield 4, New London 3
New Haven-Waterbury, rain
GAMES TODAY
Hartford at Albany
New Haven at Springfield
Waterbury at Bridgeport
Worcester at New London.

TWILIGHT LEAGUE

	W	L	P.
Medford	7	1	.875
Malden	5	3	.625
Somerville	5	3	.625
Boston	4	3	.571
Melrose	3	4	.429
Lynn	2	5	.286
Everett	2	6	.250
Woburn	1	6	.143

GAMES TODAY
Boston at Everett
Malden at Somerville
Medford at Woburn
Melrose at Lynn.

CANTABS HAVE A GOOD LEAD IN SECOND HALF

Greater Boston Twilight League

JOIE RAY BREAKS CONNOLLY RECORD

Val Hewitt

Ray Daley

Golf at Lexington
The Lexington Golf Club will hold a handicap vs. par event on Saturday.

Batting Orders for Twilight League Games Today

AT TUFTS OVAL

LAWRENCE	DILBOY
Kennedy, ss	Marcotte, ss
Duval, 2b	O'Doherty, 2b
Sweatt, 1b	Hynes, lf
Burke, 3b	Lee, rf
Bradbury, lf	Corrigan c
Sullivan, cf	Halligan, 1b
Barcroft, rf	St. Angelo, cf
Duncan, c	Sampson, 2b
Spaulding or Hewitt	Facin, O'Brien, or Graham, p

AT READING

READING	MALDEN
Rosell, lf	Dore, 2b
Connor, ss	Manion, 2b
Talbot, cf	McCarthy, lf
Chamberlain, c	Murphy, 1b
Tarmuth, rf	Hayes, ss
Mitchell, 1b	Polsdefer, rf
Doucette, 2b	Solomon or Pfeng, cf
Kelly, 3b	Coughlin c
Fitzgerald, p	Quinn Shea, p
Griffin, Hughes, p	Vail
Linus, p.

AT THE C J GIBSON PLAYGROUNDS DORCHESTER

CORNETS	DORCHESTER
Welsh, ss	Day, lf
Mueller, lf	Westrich, 2b
Callahan c	Robbins, ss
McDonald, 1b	Mathieson rf
Robinson, rf	Woodman cf
Jackson, 2b	Stone, 1b
Merritt, 2b	Langston p
Roche, cf	Ryan Tuohy
Baxter, Clements, p

International League
AT JERSEY CITY
Third Game

Baltimore	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Jersey City	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	1

Batteries—Barbarich and McCarthy; Lauterborn and Egan.

AT BALTIMORE

Baltimore	1	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	2
Jersey City	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	1

Batteries—Wolf and Nelson; Bryan and Lee.

AT BUFFALO

Toronto	2	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	3
Buffalo	2	0	0	0	2	0	0	0	1	5

Batteries—Weiss and O'Neill; Sherdel and Wilke.

Leading Home Run Hitters of Season

Name	Club
Cy Williams	Phila.	25
Ruth	Yankees	23
R. Williams	Browns	19
K. Miller	Cubs	18
Fournier,	Dodgers	16
F. Meusel,	Giants
Heilmann,	Tigers	15
W. Wera	Browns
Hornby	Cards
Leary	Athletics
J. Meusel	Giants
Brower,	Cleve	12
Ziegler,	Phila
Lassiter,	Pirates
Kelser,	Phila
Miller,	Athletics	10
Ellis	Browns
Margarete,	Reds
O'Farrell,	Cubs	10
Burns,	Red Sox	10

YESTERDAY'S HOMERS
Ruth, Yanks — F. Meusel, Giants
Powell, Braves, 2 — Bottomley, Browns
Burns, R. Sox — Dugan, Yanks
J. Griffith, Dodgers 1;
Day's Totals 5

SEASON'S TOTALS

National League	589
American League	805
Total	805

NOTRE DAMES LOOKING FOR BATTLES

Ed Rennington

H. A. Donnelley

SEAR HILL TOURNEY AUGUST 17 AND 18

CONCORD TIGERS BOOK TWO GAMES

INTERESTING ANNOUNCEMENT ON PAGE 8

No Starch—Why?

Starch means discomfort, saw edges. Damp starch breeds bacteria. Ordinary collars need starch to keep their bands from buckling. The VAN HEUSEN needs no starch. Its multi-ply fabric, light and flexible, is curved in the weaving. Bandless, it will not wilt or buckle. That's why it's hygienic and durable as well as comfortable and incomparably smart.

VAN REAL
A smart, cool summer VAN HEUSEN

50¢ VAN HEUSEN
the World's Smartest COLLAR

PHILLIPS-JONES CORPORATION 1125 BROADWAY, NEW YORK

Play Where Cooling Mountain Breezes Blow

Leave the cares and clamors of the hot and noisy city for the mountain quiet that soothes and rebuilds.

Stand on the roof of the world, with the stars for your nearest neighbors, and revel in the stimulating balsam-fragrant air.

Trap-shoot, golf, fish, bathe, play tennis, canoe, tramp, ride, motor, dance—and learn that the joy of living is more than a printed phrase.

All of the White Mountain resorts are units of one big and ever-growing vacation family, sharing the same magnificent air, the same superb scenery and the same outdoor activities. Let our Hotel and Travel Editor, Mrs. Marjorie L. George, know about what hotel rate you wish, and she will submit a list of houses that will meet your requirements, whether you are interested in a world-famous hotel or a homey boarding house or farm. She will also give information concerning train service and make your hotel and transportation reservations for you, without charge. This Bureau is here to help you, so come in, telephone (Main 5180) or write, just as you find most convenient.

HOTEL AND TRAVEL BUREAU
BOSTON AMERICAN
80 SUMMER ST., BOSTON, MASS.

NEW YORK, BROOKLYN, HARLEM, BOSTON, CATSKILL, POINT, ROCHESTER, SYRACUSE, WASHINGTON, ATLANTA, CHICAGO, DETROIT, MILWAUKEE, SEATTLE, TACOMA, SAN FRANCISCO, OAKLAND, LOS ANGELES, PASADENA, LONDON AND PARIS

HOTEL ADVERTISERS: Why not put these Bureaus to work for you? Through advertising in the Boston Daily American you secure their combined services.

MISS DAVIES PROCLAIMED GREATEST FILM ARTIST

MARION DAVIES WINS UNSTINTED PRAISE

There is two scenes in this film which is so worth coin, miles to see the play, at the Robert Edison up on Windsor and the scene where Marion Davies is thrown on the pub lic streets by a then a pic leader.

Miss Davies was exactly the per...sonality to PUT ...DOS. She swept from one mood into another, ...ed scores upon scores of ...ds, each ...ding ...ctions

SUN AND GLOBE

QUINN MARTIN, New York World—

ROBERT E. SHERWOOD, New York Herald—

BARRETT CLEVERLEY, New York Tribune—

FOLLETT D. PARSONS, Morning Telegraph—

SCENES FROM "OLD, OLD NEW YORK"

...ing, and that is, Marion Davies ...and come up to our expectations. We have always been a Marion Davies booster since she first appeared in ...sm and we have no fear for her performance

S. JAY KAUFMAN in the Evening Telegram

...

KELLEY ALLEN, Women's Wear

...

LEWIS ROMPS AWAY WITH OWN SHOW

By N. PAUL ALLEN

"T

AND THEIAN FORECAST.

...

10 MINUTES OF LEWIS

...and ... and ... and ...

$1000.00 FREE—Color the Comics—$1000.00 FREE

POLLY AND HER PALS

Talk What Hurts Me — By Cliff Sterrett

ABIE THE AGENT

Talk About Generalship — By Hershfield.

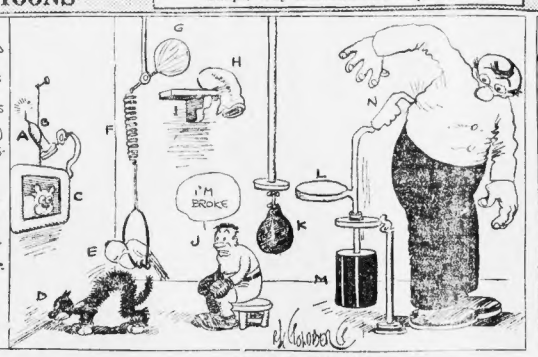
US BOYS

Emily Is in for It — By McNamara

GOLDBERG'S CARTOONS

Simple Way to Scratch a Mosquito Bite — By Rube Goldberg

WHEN CANDLE (A) BURNS TO STRING (B), STRING PARTS AND PICTURE OF BULLDOG (C) DROPS IN FRONT OF CAT (D). CAT GETS SORE AND RAISES BACK. FUR TICKLES PARROT (E) AND WAKES HIM UP LAUGHING, CAUSING SPRING (F) TO VIBRATE FAN (G) WHICH BLOWS FOLDED NEWSPAPER (H) OFF SHELF (I). DISCOURAGED MIDGET PRIZE-FIGHTER (J) PICKS UP PAPER AND READS ABOUT BIG MONEY FIGHTERS ARE GETTING. THIS GIVES HIM COURAGE AND HE STARTS TRAINING BY PUNCHING BAG (K), WHICH HITS PLATFORM (L), PUSHING IT UP. COUNTERWEIGHT (M) PULLS IT DOWN IMMEDIATELY. REPETITION OF THIS ACTION CAUSES WOODEN HAND (N) TO MOVE UP AND DOWN GIVING PROPER RELIEF.



THE THIMBLE THEATRE

He Needs No Assistance — By Segar

THE BEST JOKE I EVER HEARD

The Boston American will pay $1 for each "Best Joke" published. Address "Best Joke," Boston American.

One day Father Riley got into a taxicab and directed the chauffeur to drive him to St. Peter's Church. The chauffeur drove up to a fine looking building and stopped. Father Riley got out and said: "Is this St. Peter's Church?" "No," said the chauffeur. "This is All Saints' Church, but you will find St. Peter in there somewhere."

PHYLIS COLLYER,
No. 2 Tower street, Worcester.

DEFINITIONS

Up-to-date Business Man—Any modern business man who has more stenographers than he needs, so that he can take the prettiest one out to lunch.

Up-to-date Stenographer—Any stenographer who takes luncheon invitations.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Boston American will pay $1 for each letter published on "The Most Embarrassing Moment in My Life." Address Embarrassing Moments, Boston American.

While talking with one of my customers at the door of her home recently, her four-year-old daughter, a bright little thing with big brown eyes, came bounding from another room, and laughingly cried, "Hello!" I said "what a beautiful little girl, and what big beautiful eyes you have.

"I never thought there was such handsome eyes in the whole state of Massachusetts, but tell me where in the world did you get them?

It is needless to say that the young mother colored and I nearly fell through the floor.

CHARLES E. RAYMOND,
No. 84 Milford street, Boston.

SMART SAYINGS OF CLEVER CHILDREN

The Boston American will pay $1 for published smart sayings. Address "Smart Sayings," Boston American.

One morning when my mother was washing my little sister's face, she said, "Hurry up, Mama, wipe my face, I don't want to get rusty."

HELEN D. RAFIGAN,
No. 218 Taylor street, Saugus.

WARNING NOTE

When a man shows no passing interest in beautiful women nor meals at a brilliant affair, it's a sign he'll come out of the swim right after he marries THEM or else.

PHIL OSSIFY SAYS

A lot of people don't consider themselves well off until they get an automobile and then they're really never well off until they get rid of it.

A word to the wives is often sufficient to start a man off on an evening of explanations.

$1000 CASH

will be paid by the Boston American for original coloring (in water colors or crayons) of the nationally famous comic characters which NOW appear daily in the Boston American.

This cash-rewarded test is put on to introduce our new

4-PAGE COLORED COMIC AND MAGAZINE SECTION

which will become a regular feature of the Evening American on and after

MONDAY, AUG. 20th

SIMPLE RULES GOVERNING THE TEST

1. This Test is intended for Children. No professional artists will be permitted to participate. Begins August 20, ending September 8.
2. Clip the Comic designated each day in the American Comic Pages, paint or crayon this carefully, attach the coupon appearing on the Comic Pages, properly fill out with your name and address. Hold all of these until September 8, then mail to "Comic Editor, Boston American, 80 Summer St., Boston (8)." Any one colored Comic may win the first award, but we give you the opportunity of making a new trial each day from August 6 to September 8.
   No suggestions mailed before September 8 will be considered.
3. The Boston American reserves the privilege of retaining any or all color suggestions. No suggestion will be returned to entrant.
4. Awards will be made by competent judges, selected by the management.
5. All cash awards will be MAILED to successful entrants. Do not call for awards at the Boston American.
6. The Boston American reserves the right to withdraw or amend the rules as seems advisable.
7. Formal announcement of awards of this Test will be printed in the Boston American at end of Test.

$1000 CASH

Will Be Awarded to the Successful Young Artists as Follows:

1st Award		$100
2nd	"	90
3rd	"	75
4th	"	60
5th	"	50
5th	"	40
7th	"	30
8th	"	25
9th	"	20
10th	"	15
Next 20 Awards, $10 each		200
Next 20 Awards, $5 each		100
Next 50 Awards, $2 each		100
Next 95 Awards, $1 each		95
Total		$1000

Cut out this comic, or any other of the thirty which will appear each day on this page. Color them any way you please.

Send in your colored entries at the end of thirty days with the coupon below filled in. You may be one of the five hundred and five persons who win prizes for the best coloring.

It is not necessary to color all of the thirty comics to enter the contest. You may color as many as you like, but do not send them in until the end of the contest.

Here is No. 1:

COUPON

ENTER ME IN THE $1000 CASH AWARD COMIC COLORING TEST

Clip any one Comic strip appearing in the Boston American, color with crayon or water colors, using no more than four different colors. See Page 8 for full particulars.

My name is .....

Street or R. F. D. .....

City or Town .....

State .....

Attach this coupon to your colored suggestion.

FINANCE AND TRADE

By MONROE ROBERTS

Though keenly interested in Germany's projected twelve year international gold loan of five hundred million gold marks, Wall street bankers today expressed considerable doubt as to the possibility of placing any of the new bonds among American investors.

The success of the new loan would undoubtedly be an excellent initial step in the endless chain of the Devil's Dance of the mark and the dam ruining up of dollars of worthless paper from the government printing presses.

At the present valuation equivalents the proceeds of such a bond issue would run the country of about forty trillions of paper marks and enable the government to distribute for them a new form of currency based on the gold reserves.

In order to carry the annual drain to the small income for interest to be offered in the new currency denominations. The present issue of 4.20 gold marks, equivalent to one American dollar, would be only 2.5 per cent per annum. Even at 6 per cent the annual interest on subscriptions for the bonds would be redeemed to twelve marks or less per year on four dollars.

A slight premium will accrue to those who exchange gold or present the new bonds for redemption, thereby the bulk of the assignments will be paid with paper marks.

As to security, the entire plan rests on considered contingencies and the psychological of all available precedents as a guaranty of the repayment of the principal with interest. Germany's debts in the aggregate of 33,000,000 marks annually will be met out of the proceeds of the new bond issue.

The new bonds will probably feature the lottery features which would make such a wide appeal to European investors and would have been used to such advantage by the governments of France, Switzerland and other European countries in floating their bond offerings.

In view of the practical benefits all classes of citizens that will result from the much needed stabilization of German currency, it is expected that there will be a generous response to the government's gold bond issue.

The decline in quoted stock prices the last four months is considered to have discounted whatever falling off in business may have been experienced in recent weeks so that the technical position of shares is in position to respond to any favorable new. The stock market is now believed to be in position where the trend is decidedly bullish upon any sign developments. It is because of this belief that the street and investors in general will watch anxiously for some definite lead by President Coolidge with regard to his foreign policy.

Publication of the U. S. Steel corporation's earnings for the six months, showing more than the most sanguine estimate as an illustration of what may be expected from the large industrial consolidations, when they make public their statements for the first half of this year.

Earnings of some companies, such as American Locomotive have been so good that they are actually embarrassing dividends.

Railroad earnings continue to show no halt in the possibility that they will be others to transportation breaks records. Shippers and buyers of raw materials are expected to begin to anticipate their needs much sooner before the end of this year. They are Baltimore and Ohio, Virginia, the Baltimore and Ohio and Pere Marquette. Those properties are doing very well.

Although a report that the important oil producers may soon be able to extract some benefits from the conferences which they have been holding in Washington with officials continues gloomy and discharged with production showing further expansion the trade is not ready for the oil shares. However, the belief is drastic that the shares that could be bought at moderate prices are likely to have been practically destroyed. While the indicted Standard Oil element of the U. S. Steel Corporation has been a disturbing factor of this week and is expected to show a substantial falling off in the business of itself it becomes of little moment the better performance of the rest from market is having a restraining influence. An advance last week in the price of gasoline will prevent lower prices for steel products. The inauguration of the eight-hour day is going into effect for which will tend to hold prices at least at the present level.

FOOD PRODUCTS PAYMENT MADE

United States Food Products Corp's income tax account with government has been adjusted and payment made. Plan of reorganization of the company, which was held up pending settlement of the tax matter, will now be pushed by bankers, bondholders' committee and others interested.

INTERESTING ANNOUNCEMENT ON PAGE 8

General List in New York Strengthens Under Steels After Good Start

U. S. STEEL HAS BETTER THAN POINT GAIN

NEW YORK STOCKS

Best Comparative Daily Table Published in New England

1923 High.	1923 Low.	Stock and Div. Rate in $	Open.	High.	Low.	Latest.	Prev. Close.
14⅝	6¾	Ajax Rubber	6¾	6¾	6¾	6¾	6¾
4⅝	2⅜	Alaska Gold Mines	2¾	2¾	2¾	2¾	2¾
25	15	Allied Chemical	24	24	24	24	24
47⅝	34	Allis-Chalmers	47⅛	47⅛	47⅛	47⅛	47⅛
29¼	20¼	Am Agricultural Chem	29¼	29¼	29¼	29¼	29¼
43⅝	35	Am Beet Sugar	35	35	35	35	35
25⅝	17	Am Car & Foundry	24⅝	25	24⅝	25	24⅝
115	103½	Am Can pf (7)	104½	104½	104½	104½	104½
35⅝	14	Am Cotton Oil pf	16	16	16	16	16
9⅝	4⅝	Am Hide & Leather	4⅝	4⅝	4⅝	4⅝	4⅝
69⅝	44	Am Hide & Leather pf	61⅝	61⅝	61⅝	61⅝	61⅝
14⅞	10	Am Ice Securities	10	10	10	10	10
14⅞	10	Am Int Corp	10	10	10	10	10
21	10½	Am Ship & Comm	11	11	11	11	11
69½	44	Am Smelting & Ref	44	44	44	44	44
40⅜	31	Am Steel Foun	31	31	31	31	31
40⅜	31	Am Sugar Ref	31	31	31	31	31
41⅜	34	Am Tel & Tel	41	41	41	41	41
122⅝	122	Am Tobacco pf	122½	122½	122½	122½	122½
125⅝	125	Am Tobacco pf (6)	125½	125½	125½	125½	125½
144⅛	141	Am Woolen	141	141	141	141	141
54⅝	54	Anaconda Copper	54	54	54	54	54
104	104	Assoc Dry Goods 1st pf	104	104	104	104	104
59⅝	56	Assoc Dry Goods 2d pf	56	56	56	56	56
44⅝	44	Atchison	44	44	44	44	44
93⅝	93	Atlantic Coast Line	93	93	93	93	93
44⅝	44	Baldwin Locomotive	44	44	44	44	44
76⅝	76	Baltimore & Ohio	76	76	76	76	76
50⅝	50	Barnet Leather	50	50	50	50	50
100	100	Barnet Leather pf	100	100	100	100	100
44⅝	44	Bethlehem Steel B	44	44	44	44	44
61⅝	61	Booth Fisheries	61	61	61	61	61
14⅝	14	Brooklyn Edison	14	14	14	14	14
124⅝	124	Brooklyn Union Gas	124	124	124	124	124
7⅝	7	Brown Shoe	7	7	7	7	7
27⅝	27	Brunswick Terminal	27	27	27	27	27
70⅝	70	Buffalo & Susquehanna	70	70	70	70	70
71⅝	71	Burns Bros (10)	71	71	71	71	71
21⅝	21	Butte & Superior	21	21	21	21	21
10⅝	10	Butte & Superior pf	10	10	10	10	10
11⅝	11	Butte & Superior pf	11	11	11	11	11
13⅝	13	Butte Copper & Zinc	13	13	13	13	13
41⅝	41	California Packing	41	41	41	41	41
41⅝	41	Canada Southern	41	41	41	41	41
122⅝	122	Canadian Pacific	122½	122½	122½	122½	122½
19⅝	19	Central Leather	19	19	19	19	19
111⅝	111	Central Leather pf	111	111	111	111	111
143⅝	143	Central of New Jersey	143	143	143	143	143
54⅝	54	Chandler Motor	54	54	54	54	54
47⅝	47	Chesapeake & Ohio	47	47	47	47	47
6⅝	6	Chicago Great Western	6	6	6	6	6
88⅝	88	Chicago Great Western pf	88	88	88	88	88
144⅝	144	Chicago Milw & St Paul	144	144	144	144	144
116⅝	116	Chicago Milw & St Paul pf	116½	116½	116½	116½	116½
41⅝	41	Chicago & North Western	41	41	41	41	41
99⅝	99	Chicago & North Western pf	99	99	99	99	99
13⅝	13	Chicago Pneumatic Tool	13	13	13	13	13
8⅝	8	Chicago Rock Island	8	8	8	8	8
18⅝	18	Chile Copper	18	18	18	18	18
48⅝	48	Chino Copper	48	48	48	48	48
32⅝	32	Chrysler Motor	32	32	32	32	32
77⅝	77	Cluett, Peabody	77	77	77	77	77
31⅝	31	Colorado Fuel & Iron	31	31	31	31	31
45⅝	45	Columbia Gas & Elec	45	45	45	45	45
67⅝	67	Comp Tab Rec	67	67	67	67	67
124⅝	124	Continental Can	124	124	124	124	124
63⅝	63	Corn Products	63	63	63	63	63
125⅝	125	Crucible Steel	125	125	125	125	125
74⅝	74	Cuba Cane Sugar	74	74	74	74	74
74⅝	74	Cuba Cane Sugar pf	74	74	74	74	74
37⅝	37	Cuba Cane Sugar pf (8)	37	37	37	37	37
17⅝	17	Cuban-American Sugar	17	17	17	17	17
61⅝	61	Cuban-American Sugar pf	61	61	61	61	61
58⅝	58	Cuban Cane Products	58	58	58	58	58
9⅝	9	Cuban Cane Products pf	9	9	9	9	9
35⅝	35	Cuban Dominican	35	35	35	35	35
24⅝	24	Cuban Dominican pf	24	24	24	24	24
27⅝	27	Cuban Dominican (6)	27	27	27	27	27
16⅝	16	Cuban Tobacco	16	16	16	16	16
68⅝	68	Del & Hud Co	68	68	68	68	68
69⅝	69	Del Lack & Western	69	69	69	69	69
22⅝	22	Denver & Rio Grande	22	22	22	22	22
22⅝	22	Denver & Rio Grande pf	22	22	22	22	22
20⅝	20	Detroit Edison	20	20	20	20	20
67⅝	67	Dodge Bros A	67	67	67	67	67
21⅝	21	Dodge Bros B	21	21	21	21	21
24⅝	24	Dome Mines	24	24	24	24	24
31⅝	31	Dominion Coal	31	31	31	31	31
27⅝	27	Dominion Coal pf	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Iron & Steel	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Iron & Steel pf	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (6)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (7)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (8)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (9)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (10)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (11)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (12)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (13)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (14)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (15)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (16)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (17)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (18)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (19)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (20)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (21)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (22)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (23)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (24)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (25)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (26)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (27)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (28)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (29)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (30)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (31)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (32)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (33)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (34)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (35)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (36)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (37)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (38)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (39)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (40)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (41)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (42)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (43)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (44)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (45)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (46)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (47)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (48)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (49)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (50)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (51)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (52)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (53)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (54)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (55)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (56)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (57)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (58)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (59)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (60)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (61)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (62)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (63)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (64)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (65)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (66)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (67)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (68)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (69)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (70)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (71)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (72)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (73)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (74)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (75)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (76)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (77)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (78)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (79)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (80)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (81)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (82)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (83)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (84)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (85)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (86)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (87)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (88)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (89)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (90)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (91)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (92)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (93)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (94)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (95)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (96)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (97)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (98)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (99)	27	27	27	27	27
27⅝	27	Dominion Textile pf (100)	27	27	27	27	27

TRADING QUIET IN BOSTON MARKET

Trading was quiet today on the Boston Stock Exchange. Most price changes were confined to fractions, considerably more up than down.

Quincy was the outstanding exception, closing at 71¼ at 25¾.

Massachusetts Gas, Osceola, Ventura Oil, Hardy Coal, Michigan Copper, New Cornelia, Swift & Co., Edison, Warren Brothers and Waldorf were quoted at a shade lower.

Copper Range, Calumet & Hecla and Adventure sold a lot off.

United States Smelting, Creek Coal, Torrington and Morgenthaler sold unchanged.

On the Boston Curb there was general dullness. Eureka sold unchanged at 8. Osceola Smelting yielded 2 to 7 and United Verde Extension 1 to 3 points.

Hornblower & Weeks' market letter today said: "In asking a clearer outline of prices Europe has put them to their level until early fall, and still hold to the opinion voiced Tuesday that conditions of commerce and trade would largely determine the market's direction during that period of time."

Boston Stocks

Prices on the Boston Stock Exchange had the following range:

Stocks.	Open.	High.	Low.	Latest.
Allouez Mining	17	17	17	17
Am Locomotive	71¼	71½	71¼	71½
Am Pneumatic	17¼	17¼	17¼	17¼
Am Tel & Tel	122¼	122½	122¼	122½
Amoskeag	77½	77½	77½	77½
Boston Con Gas offs	105½	105½	105½	105½
Cal & Hecla com offs	42	42	42	42
Consolidated Gas	61¾	61¾	61¾	61¾
Copper Range	29¼	29	28¾	29
Eastern Mfg Co	8¼	8¼	8¼	8¼
Eastern Steamship	76	76	74	74
Edison Electric	164½	165	164½	165
Hardy Coal Co	30¾	31½	30¾	31½
Hood Rubber	54	54	54	54
Inland Creek Coal	101	101	101	101
Isle Royale	21	21	21	21
Mass Gas pf	66	66	66	66
Morgenthaler	151	151	151	151
Mohawk	77¼	77¼	77¼	77¼
Mass River Power pf	82	82	82	82
New Cornelia	18	18	18	18
Osceola Mining	33	33½	31	31½
Park City Mining	3¼	3¼	3¼	3¼
Producers & Refiners	20	20	20	20
Quincy Mining	25¾	25¾	25¾	25¾
Studebaker	102¾	102¾	102¾	102¾
Swift & Co	103½	103½	103½	103½
Torrington	44	44	44	44
Trinity Copper	50c	50c	50c	50c
Union Twist Drill	8½	8½	8½	8½
United Shoe Mach	34¾	35	34¾	34¾
United Shoe Mach pf	25¼	25¼	25¼	25¼
U S Smelting pf	43	43	43	43
U S Steel	96¾	98¼	96¾	98¼
Utah Metals	60c	60c	60c	60c
Ventura Oil	24½	24¾	24½	24¾
Warren Bros	29¼	29¼	29¼	29¼
Warren Bros 1st pf	32	32	32	32
Waldorf	65c	65c	65c	65c

GOVERNMENT BONDS

(Liberty bond figures in 32ds)

Liberty 3½s	99 26	99 26	98 26	99 26
Lib 1st 4s 1927-42	97 28	97 28	97 28	97 28
Lib 1st 4¼s 1927-42	98 00	98 00	97 28	97 28
Lib 2d 4s 1927-42	98 00	98 00	97 28	97 28
Lib 2d 4¼s 1927-42	98 00	98 00	97 28	97 28
Lib 3d 4¼s 1928	98 14	98 14	98 14	98 14
Lib 4th 4¼s 1938	98 11	98 11	97 28	97 28

BONDS

Chile June R 8s	93½	93½	93½	93½
R's Mass Br R 8s	72	72	72	72

Boston Curb

Boston Curb quotations follow

	Latest
Cons Copper mines	17s
Capital Mining	20c
Crystal	20c
Eureka	8
Jerome	20c
Osceola Smelting	33
Ruppert	3
Tonopah Extension	2
Ex Vale Extension	28

Boston Notes

FALL RIVER dividends for third quarter total $677,675, or 1.575 per cent, on capitalization of $43,015,000.

SENECA Copper is moving along rapidly in developing No. 2 shaft at Gratiot, the openings in which are being extended from week to week until a veritable network of laterals is reaching out from the shaft pit.

COPPER Range is awaiting improvement in the labor situation before placing the new rock house at No. 2 Trimountain into commission.

ARCADIAN Consolidated will begin drifting on the 1250-foot level this week, according to present plans.

Studebaker Corporation is spending $6,000,000 for new construction and betterments. This will increase manufacturing capacity somewhat.

International Telephone Co.'s current assets as of June 30, last, amounting to $4,249,963 are three times the current liabilities of $1,397,131.

Kennecott Copper's financial structure now consists of nearly 3,500,000 shares of stock and $15,000,000 7 per cent bonds due in 1930. On the basis of current quotations for bonds and stock, Kennecott is given market value of approximately $144,000,000.

Callahan Zinc-Lead produced 6,220,000 pounds of zinc concentrates, 1,380,000 pounds of lead concentrates and 12,635 ounces of silver in July.

FAIRHAVEN MILLS declared quarterly dividend of 3½ per cent, and extra 1 per cent, on common, both payable Aug 15, stock of record August 1.

Money in Cotton

$10 buys guarantee option on 20 bales of Cotton. No further risk. A movement of $10 from option price gives you an opportunity to take $200; $2,000, etc. WRITE TODAY FOR PARTICULARS and FREE MARKET LETTER.

Liverpool, Hull, Bales & W. Branch, Dept. F-32
1309 Baltimore Ave., Kansas City, Mo.

How Business Is Today

Cottons—Demand light, although improving in some directions; prices of primary goods slightly firmer; production greatly curtailed.

Silks—Demand low; raw silk prices take upturn after long decline; goods production curtailed.

Woolens—Demand for women's wear fabrics strong; prices firm; production close to normal.

Furs—Demand comparatively light; prices unchanged; production under normal for season.

Apparel—Fair demand for women's apparel, but light for men's clothing; prices unchanged.

Leather—Demand sluggish; prices unchanged except for some grades of shoes which are higher; shoe production for Fall now in getting started.

Metals—Steel demand light; prices firm; lead stronger.

FARMS GAIN IN EUROPE, SAYS CREDIT MEN'S HEAD

American farmers hould not 'the tendency in Europe toward breaking up big estates into small farms because this is causing a decrease in the foreign markets for American agricultural products, according to the August letter, of Secretary Treasurer J. H. Tregoe, sent to the membership of the National Association of Credit Men.

Agriculture is reviving faster in Europe than industry, according to this economist. Commercial credit managers are urged by Mr. Tregoe to regard this subject with interest and advise their customers that a great change is in a few years a revolution in our agriculture.

In some of the central and Eastern European nations," he says, "Russia, Rumania, Hungary and Czecho Slovakia, there were large estates with the result that there was a peasant class made up of farm laborers who had no hope of owning farms. The spirit of the new governments responded to the spirit of the people; these large estates are being broken up into small holdings.

"Even Great Britain is yielding to the spirit and contemplates the parcelling out of some of its beautiful estates for the production of food stuffs. But six percent of Great Britain's population were agriculturists; 40 in France; 90 in Russia; 75 in Rumania and about 80 in Jugo Slovakia.

"The effect of this phenomenon was felt this year in a smaller market for our foodstuffs. As the movement increases and production increases there will be a further impairment of our markets for some of our grains.

"It would seem to be high time for our agriculturists to figure on the results of this land movement abroad and to diversify their own production so that we may not have a serious excess in any particular crop with prices that inconvenient surpluses always create.

"For the present prosperity predicters of foodstuffs who depend on foreign markets for the absorption of surpluses beyond our abilities to consume should be helped to obtain markets."

Replies to Investors

Send stocks queries, with stamped, self-addressed envelope, to Frank H. Melson, Financial Editor, Boston American, No. 80 Summer street.

N. Y., ONTARIO & WESTERN.

To R. R. R., Dorchester:

The decline in New York, Ontario & Western refunding 4s has been due to the fact that in 1922 the company failed to earn its fixed charges, and the additional fact that the net result of operations during the first six months of 1923 was an operating income of $50, as compared with net operating income of $1,418 in the corresponding period of 1922. The refunding 4s are secured by a first lien on valuable property and it is not considered probable that they would remain undisturbed in the event of reorganization. All in all, however, that in view of the earnings position of this road your purpose would be best served by making a change in par-for-par exchange for some good 6 per cent or 5½ per cent bond.

STANDARD OFFERINGS.

To P. T. H., Melrose:

We submit below a well diversified list of bonds and preferred stocks from which you may select in whatever amounts you wish. These are offered subject to prior sales. Preferred stocks—Standard Oil of New Jersey, New York Telephone, American Locomotive, United States Steel, National Biscuit, Endicott-Johnson, Allied Chemical and Dye. Bonds—Alabama Power first 5s, due 1946, yielding about 5¾ per cent; Great Western Power first 5s, due 1946, yielding about 5.7 per cent; Carolina Clinchfield & Ohio first 5s, 1938, yielding about 5.7 per cent; Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis refunding and improvement 4s, 1929, yielding about 5.7 per cent, or the Series C 6s, 1941, yielding about 5.6 per cent; American Sugar Refining 6s, 1937, yielding about 5.8 per cent; American Smelting 5s, 1942, yielding about 5.7 per cent; Kingdom of Norway 4½s, 1952, yielding about 6.2 per cent.

BETHLEHEM BONDS.

To J. C. K., Boylston st.:

The most conservative of the Bethlehem Steel bond issues is the first and refunding 5 per cent, mortgage, 1942, selling recently to yield about 5¾ per cent. The following two good mixed bonds comply with your tax requirement: Louisville & Nashville Southern Monon 4s, 1952, yielding about 5¼ per cent., and Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis general 5s, 1993, yielding about 6.2 per cent. The five stocks you have under consideration would be suitable as part of a woman's investment.

TIDE WATER OIL SURPLUS GREATER

Tide Water Oil for six months ended June 30 reports surplus of $3,036,435 after expenses, depreciation and depletion, equal to $6.11 a share on $45,000,000 stock, against $2,083,734, or $4.19, in the corresponding period of 1922.

Mex Oil Output Gains

Total Mexican oil production for week ended July 28 was 3,042,000 ba.rels against 2,492,000 for preceding week, an increase of 550,000.

Dividend Guide

Send for 28-page booklet, which describes the leading dividend paying stocks. Copy FREE.

WITHINGTON & CO.

27 State Street, Boston
Private Branch Exchange, Main 7207

AMERICAN LOCO UNLIKELY TO BE MERGED

Rumors of a proposed absorption of American Locomotive by American Car & Foundry need not, it appears, be taken seriously. A director of American Locomotive, questioned on the subject, said: "I have heard suggestions, but as suggested, oil and water don't mix."

American Car & Foundry, as stated some time ago by Dear, Jones & Co., has a large investment in American Locomotive. It is understood to own between 40,000 and 50,000 shs of the 100,000 shares outstanding.

These holdings are an investment point of view. We feel, however, that in view of the earnings position of this road your purpose would be best served by making a change in par-for-par exchange for some good 6 per cent or 5½ per cent bond.

STANDARD OFFERINGS.

To P. T. H., Melrose:

We submit below a well diversified list of bonds and preferred stocks from which you may select in whatever amounts you wish. These are offered subject to prior sales. Preferred stocks—Standard Oil of New Jersey, New York Telephone, American Locomotive, United States Steel, National Biscuit, Endicott-Johnson, Allied Chemical and Dye. Bonds—Alabama Power first 5s, due 1946, yielding about 5¾ per cent; Great Western Power first 5s, due 1946, yielding about 5.7 per cent; Carolina Clinchfield & Ohio first 5s, 1938, yielding about 5.7 per cent; Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis refunding and improvement 4s, 1929, yielding about 5.7 per cent, or the Series C 6s, 1941, yielding about 5.6 per cent; American Sugar Refining 6s, 1937, yielding about 5.8 per cent; American Smelting 5s, 1942, yielding about 5.7 per cent; Kingdom of Norway 4½s, 1952, yielding about 6.2 per cent.

BETHLEHEM BONDS.

To J. C. K., Boylston st.:

The most conservative of the Bethlehem Steel bond issues is the first and refunding 5 per cent, mortgage, 1942, selling recently to yield about 5¾ per cent. The following two good mixed bonds comply with your tax requirement: Louisville & Nashville Southern Monon 4s, 1952, yielding about 5¼ per cent., and Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis general 5s, 1993, yielding about 6.2 per cent. The five stocks you have under consideration would be suitable as part of a woman

CALL MAIN 5180

Telephone Your Want Ad. You Need Neither Call Nor Write. We Save You Time.

The Boston American's Want Ad office is no further away from you than your own telephone. If you want help, a tenant, a room, anything, pick up your phone. Call Main 5180 for quick and efficient Want Ad service.

CALL MAIN 5180

REAL ESTATE HAPPENINGS

That the selling of realty by auction by trust companies and estates is proving successful is indicated by the volume of auction sales which Thos C. Riley & Co., are planning to handle during the coming months. The Old Colony Trust Co., Mr. Riley is to sell, on August 15, No. 442 Beacon street on the water side near the corner of Massachusetts avenue. This was formerly the estate of A. G. Van Nostrand, the well-known lawyer. The location is close to Massachusetts avenue where there has been considerable attention directed due to the proposed new Harvard Bridge and the beautifying of the river.

The increase in values on the water side of Beacon street and the north side of Commonwealth avenue during the past twenty-four months has been remarkable. The residential part of the Back Bay did not share in the really boom of Metropolitan Boston up to a year and a half ago, when the low values there attracted the attention of many of the skilful realty operators and speculative builders who have picked up what vacant land there was for the purpose of improving it with offices for the medical profession or for apartments. Since then there have been more sales in the Back Bay than for any similar period in its history.

For Francis N. Balch, Commissioner, Mr. Riley is to sell 5 Peterboro street, Roxbury, adjoining All Saints Church. The property was formerly owned and occupied by the late Reverend Thomas Moylan. This sale will be held on August 14th. It is in the most central part of Roxbury and it is expected that lively bidding will take place.

NEAR HUNTINGTON AVENUE

The three-story, brick and stone swell front apartment house, located at No. 19 Vancouver street, near Huntington avenue, has been sold to Mary Sullivan, who will make improvements prior to occupying one of the suites. The total assessed valuation is $9,200, on which $2,900 is on the land. The grantor was Lillian B. Houghton. J. A. Cronin was the broker in the transaction.

VARIOUS BUSINESS LEASES

Ursula M. Ryan has leased the second floor of No. 13 Summer street to Filene-Thomas Company, wholesale grocers.

A suite of offices on the eighth floor of the Newport Building, No. 68 Devonshire street, has been leased by the American Industrial & Bond Corporation, from Harry W. Goddard.

Russell J. Goodnow, guardian of Daniel Goodnow, has leased the entire fourth floor of the building at No. 297 Atlantic avenue and Nos. 54-56 India street, to the Hayes Company, for the manufacture of surgical appliances.

The estate of A. A. Rosenthal has leased the fifth floor of the building at Nos. 204-216 South street, to the C. F. Hovey Company, for storage purposes.

A. M. Cutterman & Sons Co. have leased to George T. Johnson Co., the second floor at Nos. 76-78 High street.

The above leases were negotiated by the office of C. W. Whittier & Bro.

MID TOWN AND SOUTH END

D. A. Shultze, Inc., have leased to the M. M. Ross Company, the store and basement at No. 66 Stuart street, to the new building at the corner of Tremont and Stuart streets. The Ross Company will conduct a paint and varnish business on the premises.

Louis K. Liggett Company have renewed for a long term of years the lease of the store and basement at No. 572 Columbus avenue, Jamaica Plain, Massachusetts avenue. Edgar L. Mulvey is the lessor.

The Walton Lunch Company have renewed the lease of the store and basement at Nos. 44-46 Summer street, leasing from the Thomas Long Company who have leased the entire building for a long term.

These leases were negotiated by the office of Whitcomb & Company.

CASEY TO HEAD MORSE STORES

Steven R. Casey, now by taking charge of the well-known men's clothing establishment in Chicago. Returning to Boston as a thoroughly retail clothing manager, he became connected with the popular clothing house, Leopold Morse's. The new Leopold Morse branch store at No. 46 Bromfield street will also be under his supervision.

Steven R. Casey entered the retail clothing business in Boston many years ago, serving his apprenticeship with a retail custom tailoring establishment. After years as a clothing salesman he arose to the position of manager, at the end of the business which he is now connected with as a result of his excellent salesmanship and executive ability. Mr. Casey has been a resident of Boston for many years and is well known in business and social circles.

Dividend Declarations

CABOT MANUFACTURING CO. declared quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent, on common, payable August 15, stock of record August 3.

WILL & BAUMER CANDLE CO. declared quarterly dividend of 25 cents on common, payable August 15, stock of record August 2.

MANHATTAN SHIRT declared quarterly dividend of 75 cents on common, payable September 1, stock of record August 15.

TRAVEL BRIEFS

NATIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL

The Department of the Interior, through Supt. Eakin of Glacier National Park, announces that travel to Glacier Park during the first 30 days this season shows a marked increase over all previous years. With one-third of the season passed, the registration figures exceed those of 1922 for the entire season. This is the greatest stride in Glacier Park's history. More automobiles entered the park during the first 14 days of July than were registered during all of last year.

The report of the Hotel Company also shows a record season. Tourists are registered from every state in the Union and they also have come from 14 foreign countries during the first month of the season.

SCHULTZ ON VACATION

John H. Schultz, general agent of the Colonial & Northeastern Railway, left Sunday for Buffalo. With his family, he will spend a two weeks' vacation in Buffalo and western Ontario.

DRESDEN, ME., REGULAR LANDING.

The Eastern Steamship Lines steamer "City of Rockland" now making between Boston and Gardiner, began with the sailing from Boston on Saturday, July 28, its regular landing at Dresden, Me. This regular sailing days from Boston on the Kennebec Lines are Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Saturdays from Foster's Wharf at 6 p. m.

SEATTLE PORT AGENT.

C. F. Gorman, eastern Traffic Agent of the Port of Seattle, is spending a few days in the city in the interest of the development of the far Northwest gateway to the Orient. Mr. Gorman is calling upon New England manufacturers, exporters and importers during business with the Far East.

Seattle, the only Pacific coast port served by four great transcontinental railways, is also the American port nearest the Orient. In the development of its port facilities over $10,000,000 have been spent for terminals, piers and warehouses. As the principal terminal of the Hill lines, and is number, large terminals have been created to assemble lumber for all intercoastal lines, whereby additional trans-continental roads terminating in Seattle.

NEW DAYLIGHT SERVICE.

To provide for a very much needed quick day service from Chicago to Rochester, Minn., the home of the famous Dr. Mayo surgical clinic, the Chicago & Northwestern Railway announces that, within ten days or so, a new fast service will be inaugurated leaving Chicago at 10:25 a. m. A similar improvement is made in the present eastbound train leaving Rochester at 4:50 p. m.

SHORT SEA TRIPS

For those who seek rest and relaxation from the oppressive heat of the city, a short sea trip at the week end and is most desirable and affords a relief that can be obtained in no other way.

Probably no other city can compare with Boston in the number and the variety of these short trips which can be made over the week-end. Among a number of popular trips which can be made via the boats of the Eastern Steamship lines are the following:

By the Portland line steamer leaving from Central Wharf, Northport, Belfast, Rockport, Winterport and Bangor. Rockland is the first point reached from Boston. Here connection is made for all points on the Bar Harbor and Bluehill lines. Way up to sea are Vinal Haven and Islesboro, which is lands of rugged beauty. The Lafayette National Park is reached from Bar Harbor. Bangor is the terminal and the gateway to the woods and lakes of northern and eastern Maine.

Not the least attractive feature of these short journeys is the trip from Boston to New York via the Cape Cod Canal. Steamer leaves north side of India Wharf every day at 5 p. m. and reaches the eastern entrance of the canal at about 8 p. m. Arrives in New York from 8 to 8:30 a. m., the following morning.

For those who desire a longer voyage, the International Line steamer which leaves Central Wharf on Mondays and Fridays at 10 a. m. for Eastport, Lubec and St. John. Eastport and Lubec are the easternmost centers in the United States and occupy one of the most delightful situations on the map of North America. At St. John one stands at the threshold of another summer land of entertainment; the Canadian Maritime Provinces, which to any time from the city are many attractive summering places. Fredericton, located on the St. John River, is reached by rail or steamer. Across the Bay of Fundy to Digby is a most enjoyable sail, and the Annapolis Valley, the greatest apple growing country in the world.

The Boston & Yarmouth Steamship Company's steamer Bunker Hill leaves daily, except Saturday at 2 p. m. for Yarmouth, due to arrive early the next morning. Yarmouth is a most popularly called "The Land of Evangeline Route." Here connection is made with the Dominion Atlantic Railway for Nova Scotia points. The Canadian National Railways for all Nova Scotia Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland points.

TRY YOUR HAND WRITING SOME LOCAL LAFS

Customer—I was told to buy either a camera or a cambode and I can't remember which.

Clerk—Ah! Is the chicken dead or alive?

By Alice E. Butler, No. 227 Harvard avenue, Allston.

"The boss offered me an interest in the business today."

"He did?"

"Yes. He said that if I didn't take an interest pretty soon he'd fire me."

By Ruth Fine, No. 87 Market street, Cambridge.

"What has become of your watch? The one you used to have had a handsome gold case."

"It never it gold, but circumstances alter cases."

By Miss Elsie Stolp, No. 165 Ermeadin street, South Boston.

The above three jokes are awarded a dollar each for daily prizes.

In addition, each week, the Boston American selects fifteen of these jokes, engravings, titles and grinds and they are reproduced in a motion picture and shown in various theatres of greater Boston. A total of $25 in prizes is awarded the authors of the jokes used on the screen, beginning with a first prize of $5 and tapering down to twelve dollar prizes.

The jokes used in the film are not being printed in this issue.

The film is being booked by the following theatres:

Gordon Circuit Houses—Washington Street Olympia Scollay Square Olympia, Central Square, Cambridge; Capitol, Allston; Olympia, Lynn Malden; Strand, Dorchester, Mass. Codman Square, Dorchester, Mass. Olympia, Chelsea, Mass; Harvard, North Cambridge, Mass.

Other Theatres—Orpheum, Malden, Mass.; Central, Somerville, Mass. Melrose, Melrose, Mass.; Imperial, South Boston, Mass.; Eglesion Square, Roxbury, Mass.; Everett Square Olympia, Somerville; Mystic Loring Hall, Hingham, Mass.; Woburn, Woburn, Mass.

Casino, Quincy Point, Mass.; Palace, Hotel's Rock Mass.; Premier, Norwood, Mass.; Strand, Lawrence, Mass.; Majestic, Brockton, Mass.; Star, Taunton, Mass.; Orient Garden, East Boston, Mass.; Capitol, Malden, Mass.; Apollo, Nantasket, Mass.

Send your Local Lafs to the Local Laf Editor, Boston American, No. 30 Summer street, Boston, Mass.

Lost and Found

Lost, Female Airedale

[illegible] SOUTH LOGAN [illegible] Reward. [illegible] Dog [illegible] Newburyport, Mass.

Lost—Female [illegible] dog, name [illegible] Reward. Return to MRS. [illegible] Medford. Mass. 727 Mystic [illegible] Medford. Mass. 727 Mystic [illegible] M'ssachusetts.

Lost—Puppy, [illegible] Reward. Return to 1 [illegible] ETHEL H. LIN [illegible] Ave., Dorchester. Tel. Dor. 4284-J.

Automobiles

AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE

USED FORDS

We have 4 Ford Chassis equipped with [illegible] speed, pleasure truck bodies. Come in and [illegible] a fortune from the [illegible] we have listed below.

Ford Chassis, 1917	$45.00
Ford Chassis, 1918	54.00
Ford Chassis, 1919	65.00
Ford Chassis, 1922	135.00
Ford Coupelet, 1923	310-325

BURNETT & SHERMAN, INC.
1019 COMMONWEALTH AVE.
Opp. Lenox St. Brighton 3400

1923 OAKLAND 6-44 Demonstrator

RUNS LESS THAN 5000 MILES. IN JUST NICELY BROKEN IN. SOLD WITH NEW CAR GUARANTEE. CALL MR. BROWN, KENMORE 3220.

FORD Touring, Coupelet or Sedan with Starter and Demountable Rims $3.00 per week
MOTOR PARTS CO
104 Brookline Ave. Tel. B. B. 3660

HUDSON
Super Six Touring
Excellent condition, all [illegible] demonstrator. Call Garage [illegible] 3020 or Res. 7359.

1922 Oldsmobile Touring
EXCEPTIONALLY clean job, low mileage, [illegible] tires. $650. AUBURN GARAGE, 2040 Mass. Ave., Arlington. Tel. Lex. 0600.

1921 Velie Touring
In good condition all over. Must be sold at once. Leaving the state. BOSTON OAKLAND CO. 655 Beacon St. Kenmore 3220

1921 FORD SEDAN
This car is in good condition and will be sold quick sale. Terms arranged. MR. FANDY, Kenmore 3220.

1922 BUICK COUPE
Less than 15,000 miles and in perfect condition MR. BROWNE, Kenmore 3220.

BUICK ROADSTER
[illegible] Will sell for $150 or quick. Inquire Dorchester Auto Co., 1 [illegible] Dorchester.

FORD with [illegible] body in good condition and [illegible] equipped with good tires. $100. Dorchester 1357-W.

FOR SALE—Dependable small touring car in good condition and price; perfect shape. Come and take a ride. Price $125. Call [illegible] Ave.

FOR SALE—Late 19 Buick six roadster, four [illegible] wheels. Will [illegible] Kenmore 3220.

[illegible] selected from [illegible] $250 to $4,500 [illegible] Ave., Boston. Call [illegible] Garage for your [illegible] Open [illegible] Tel. 5151 Back Bay.

FORD with [illegible] 30, perfect [illegible] tires, has bargain [illegible] Inquire 1 [illegible] Ave., Dorchester.

1922 FORD, Touring, $195. Baby Metz [illegible] Tel. Dor. 2276-M.

5-PASS. touring car, $195 WILLIAMS, 484 Brighton. Tel. Brighton 3307-M.

AUTO TIRES

3244 600-CHECK First Quality Tires, [illegible] Tubes, $7.95. 3245 [illegible] Tanks, $7.95. New [illegible] guaranteed. Send for [illegible] MOTORS CO., 939 Beacon st. Boston. Kenmore 3307.

USED TIRES, 2681-30x3½, $3.00; other sizes $4.95, good [illegible] Tubes $1.00. A-1 TIRE CO., 50 Columbus [illegible]

AUTOS FOR HIRE

Hire a Ford; Drive It Yourself
All Types of Ford Cars, for Rent, by the Hour, Day, Week or Month. Telephone Arlington 3158

Hire a Dodge; Drive It Yourself
Hour, Day, Week or Month. Telephone Arlington 3158

MOTORCYCLES AND BICYCLES

NEW and Used Bicycles for [illegible] Motorcycles. INDIAN CYCLE CO., 18 Warren st., opp. Dudley St. Terminal. Open evenings.

Business Opportunities

MEAT MARKET, New York style, and grocery store for sale, good reason; only for Jewish people. 25 Cross [illegible]

Dancing

ERNER'S
DANCING ACADEMY
$25 Mass. Ave. at Huntington
Class Mon., Tues., Thurs. at 8 p. m.
Wed., Fri., Sat. Private lessons daily
STAGE DANCING Guaranteed
Soft-Shoe, Eccentric, Waltz, Clog, Wing, Frisco, 535 Mass. Ave., B. B. 8135

WISEMAN 500 MASS. AVE. Central sq. Cambridge
GUARANTEED MODERN DANCING IN 4 LESSONS
Also all kinds of classic dancing. Tel. Kenmore 9100

LOOMIS 93 MASS. AVE. TEL. KENMORE 6752
Modern or stage. Open all Summer

BAY STATE SCHOOL [illegible] Boylston [illegible] Wed. Sat. classes Tues., Thurs.; private lessons [illegible]

Employment

FEMALE HELP—MISCELLANEOUS

LADIES, Gentlemen, we train you for movies, dramatic, vaudeville and [illegible] courses. Call or write 149 Boylston st., Room 662.

Employment

HELP WANTED—MALE

WANTED
MANAGER for Alteration Dept.
APPLY
CHERRY & CO., INC.
New Bedford, Mass.

WANTED EXPERIENCED KNITTER
On Circular Latch Needle Machine
APPLY
Suffolk Knitting Mills
16 New St., East Boston

Sole Cutters and Sorters wanted for Middle West. State experience, references, last place of employment and wages expected. Y-188, Boston American.

FIREMEN
1st or 2nd Class
[illegible] LAUNDRY—Laundry [illegible] piece and pressers; must be able to [illegible] 48 hours. Pay $25.00 per week. Room and board [illegible] Apply to [illegible] ROBBINS LAUNDRY, Faith [illegible] Mass. Tel. 70.

STONE SETTERS
STONE CUTTERS
STONE MASONS
WANTED—Union Job; one Cutter for [illegible] Apply at Office of Quincy Granite Co., 31 Beacon st., Boston, or Quincy, Mass.

BEACHMONT—2 large [illegible] house-keeping rooms [illegible] 429 Bunker Hill Ave.

BEACHMONT—2 furnished rooms and kitchenette, [illegible] Bunker Hill Ave.

FURNISHED front room for couple; modern [illegible] kitchen privilege [illegible]

FERN—2 rooms, [illegible] housekeeping; [illegible] Fern st., Dorchester.

HYDE—Large [illegible] kitchenette, clean [illegible] rooms 120 Hyde Ave.

MELROSE—Large furnished room, [illegible] in private family; [illegible] Melrose, near steam and electric [illegible] Melrose 0265-M.

NICE clean [illegible] room; home comforts; [illegible] 126 Tremont st.

RIVERDALE—2 [illegible] furnished rooms, light housekeeping, all [illegible] 1 Riverdale st.

ROXBURY—Room in private family, [illegible] Roxbury 0265-R.

ST. BOTOLPH ST., 174—For Albemarle [illegible] large [illegible] room with [illegible] view at Beachmont [illegible] Tel. Beach 0277.

SQUARE—Nice kitchenette room, parlor floor, [illegible] Washington st., Somerville.

Union Park

UPHAM—Large [illegible] 28 Magnolia st., [illegible] bath from running water in room. $4 wk.; reference.

WINTHROP [illegible] room, [illegible] running water in room, $4 wk.; reference.

WINTHROP [illegible] room, [illegible] Somerville [illegible]

[illegible] near cars. 47 Atherton st. Somerville line. W. [illegible]

[illegible] 2 connecting rooms, [illegible] keeping. 4 Somerset [illegible]

[illegible] 2 connecting rooms, [illegible] keeping. 4 Somerset [illegible]

[illegible] 3

A Bostonian should live each day as one who is about to go on a journey.—Professor Francis G. Peabody, Harvard University.

BOSTON AMERICAN

Largest Evening Circulation in New England—August 6, 1923

The city of Boston expended $200,937 for the special benefit of soldiers and sailors of the World War in 1921-22.

Lend Us Your Eyes and Your Ears

An editor is never Argus-eyed or ubiquitous. A thousand important things which ought to receive comment in this column escape the single eye of the editor.

Occasionally he vaguely feels the inadequacy of his labor and wishes he could be everywhere at once; that he could see all conditions as all the people see them and could call attention to all the things that need public attention called to them.

The editor of the Boston American is in that mood today. He would like to be everywhere so that he might not overlook important things on which he could make editorial comment.

Therefore it has occurred to us to ask for aid. If there is anything which from your experience in reading this column you think the Boston American would want to criticise, either favorably or unfavorably, or if there is any constructive editorial comment which you think the Boston American could make; if there is any wrong that you think the Boston American could help correct in this column; if there is any worthy object which you think the Boston American could help promote, we wish you would write to us and explain it.

We shall appreciate your aid and be grateful for it, whether we agree with you and adopt your suggestions or whether we do not. If we do adopt them we will write you a letter acknowledging that the inspiration for the editorial came from you.

We do not care for aid on national and international questions, for those questions are as much within our view as within yours. We should like suggestions on Massachusetts and New England subjects. Make them very brief and be sure that you are right about any facts in your suggestion.

The Boston American tries to be the most correct newspaper in this column in America. Misstatements of fact are humiliating even though they are natural and inevitable.

He Doesn't Believe in Man-Eating Sharks

But There ARE Sharks That Might Change His Belief

Copyright, 1923, by Star Company

This reader says: "Don't be afraid of sharks. They don't bite," he adds; "they are afraid of men."

There is no doubt that the shark, like the lion of the jungle, is a timid animal. Unless he is starving timidity controls him and he flies from man. But how can you be sure that YOUR lion or YOUR shark is not hungry enough to forget his timidity? That's the question.

Men have lost legs and lives on occasions when the shark happened to be hungry.

You read this well-meaning letter from a good reader with the feeling of the famous Samuel Johnson, who said suddenly in the midst of a talkative company and apropos of nothing: "Buffon says the black bear is harmless. But I should not like to trust myself with him."

Now read the letter from Mr. Jayne of Brooklyn:

This being the height of the bathing season, especially along the Atlantic coast of North America, there arises again the great anxiety of the shark. As a "globe trotter" and "world traveler," let me cite one experience which might, to some extent, quiet the fears of some of the more skeptical.

Anchored off the coast of Yucatan, three miles from Progreso, our steamer was surrounded by sharks of the so-called man-eating variety. Fastening a huge chunk of meat on a hook, a stout rope for a fishing line, and a log for a bobber, we tried our luck at shark-fishing. The sharks, being thus attracted, came clearly into view, many of them the largest of the species. One was finally caught, but, in being pulled out of the water, broke the hook in two. As the day was frightfully hot, ten or more of the seamen decided to go in swimming, much to the consternation of the passengers on board, all of whom, believing in the old theory of the man-eating shark, expected to see the sailors devoured alive. Without the slightest hesitancy, after stripping off their clothing, the sailors had plunged into the water. The sharks scooted away in great haste, and only with the greatest coaxing, with pieces of meat thrown into the water, could they be induced to come at all near, so long as any of the men remained in swimming.

From an advantageous position on the upper deck of the ship one could clearly see Mr. Shark keeping at a safe distance away.

I have questioned hundreds of seasoned old tars in different parts of the world, and, while all had their theories, I am yet unable to find any person who can prove that the so-called "man-eating shark" will actually attack a live man.

J. JAY JAYNE.

139 Lafayette Av., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Victims of Alcoholism

Report of Dr. Wilson of City Hospital Indicates That They Are Mostly "Hard-Boiled Rounders"

If we were to judge by a superficial examination of the newspaper report of Dr. Edmund W. Wilson, assistant superintendent of the Boston City Hospital, we should conclude that prohibition was causing a spread of drunkenness, for he says, "before the Volstead act the highest number of drunks admitted to the hospital in any one year was 1,400, while last year there were more than 2,000 admitted for alcoholism."

But if we examine the statement a little more closely we find that since the Volstead act "our alcoholic patients are of the type that loaf round in the parks—the real hard-boiled rounders and toughs. The week-end drunken person rarely comes here now."

It was not the hard-boiled tough and drunkard whom prohibition ever sought to cure. You can no more stop those men from drinking than you can stop an habitual thief from stealing. Prohibition is meant to prevent men who are not confirmed drunkards from drinking—the men who drink whenever they get their pay, from good-fellowship and from all the temptations which are put in one's way when liquor is allowed to be sold.

That sort of drinking, which is 90 per cent. of the drinking, no longer fills the alcoholic wards.

Joys and Glooms

'Twas in a Hotel Lobby That Gladys Met Her Fate

By T. E. Powers

Copyright, 1923, Star Co.

YOUNG WIFE BRUTALLY MURDERED

ROME, Aug. 6.—Police have revealed a brutal crime near Spoleto. A blacksmith of that town, a young man of twenty-four, had a wife of but eighteen, with whom he was not always on good terms. A few days ago, however, he induced her to go for a walk in the country to a spot where a very high bridge ran across a ravine.

As soon as they reached the bridge a quarrel arose between them, and the husband, becoming infuriated, seized his wife in his arms and threw her over the parapet.

THE VOICE OF NEW ENGLAND

No Attention Paid to Anonymous Communications

Let Woman Face Her Years

Editor Boston American:

Of what benefit is it to the matured woman to try to look half her age?

What is in the back of her head when she has her face "lifted"?

Does the process lift her thoughts?

Does it really improve her looks, and is man deceived by the artifice?

How would the strong, full-grown oaks of the Autumn forest look if they pruned themselves of their twining leaves?

What is all this mad craze for youthful appearance that never deceives?

The face for a moment may be made to look more youthful, but never the shoulders, the back, the whole body that time has shaped and settled.

All women, regardless of age, should strive to be pretty, fashionable even, of her day and hour, but those lines on the face that have been made by patience under suffering, by strength when facing separations, by motherhood—should those lines that are what the woman has become through the great privilege of prolonged life be effaced?

I say never!

MRS. G. V. TYLER.

WORDS FROM THE LIPS OF WISE MEN

THAT ought to be called a loss that is gained by the sacrifice of character.

* * *

To be great one must know how to push his fortunes to the utmost.

* * *

Truth never was indebted to a lie.

* * *

Often the precious present is wasted in visions of the future.

* * *

He is wise who has wit enough for his own affairs.

* * *

Almost everything that is great has been done by youth.

THE HELPING HAND

Do Not Inclose Stamps. Letters Will Not Be Answered Personally. No Attention Paid to Telephone Calls. No Names Are Published.

Expecting a Baby

Editor Helping Hand:

Some time ago I wrote, asking for baby clothes, and Mrs. T., of Revere, sent me some blouses and ties for my boys. Now, can you send me the address of some mother who has some baby clothes to spare? I am expecting the baby August 15, but have had such a hard time getting along I have been unable to get anything for what is coming.

MRS. W. M.

Sending M. H. a Box

Editor Helping Hand:

I just received Mrs. M. H.'s address and thank you. I am sending her a box. I have a pair of ankle ties for a little girl, size 8, almost new, and a pair of baby's shoes, size 5; two pairs of rompers for baby 1½ years old, and bonnet and two dresses for a three-year-old.

MRS. C. A. M.

Many thanks for all you are doing. We have no requests on file for shoes these sizes, so will hold your kind offer for replies.

Thankful for Help

Editor Helping Hand:

I thank you a thousand times for the good work you have done. It has helped me so much and I have met with very nice people through the column. I surely appreciate everything I got, as I had such a dread of the Winter, but I am now much better prepared for work and school.

MRS. M. W.

Long Out of Work

Editor Helping Hand:

I am the mother of four children, three girls, ages nine, seven and one year, and one little boy aged five. My husband is an ex-service man and has been out of work for a long time. He has just got work, but we are so far behind in our bills that we don't have a chance to get much to wear. If anyone has a dark street dress, size 40, and a pair of low shoes, size 4½, or any clothes for the children, I would be very thankful.

MRS. M. E. S.

Offers Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

We have a few babies' clothes that could be used for the enclosed clipping, and also a few dresses for the daughter that could be readily made over. We also have a few pairs of baby shoes that some mother might find suitable for a youngster from one to two. Should be glad to do all possible to help you bring a bit of sunshine where shadows have fallen.

MRS H. M.

We think you are. You have been sent the address of Mrs. C. C., and of Mrs. A. H. M., who will appreciate the shoes. Thank you.

Wants Baby Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

I am writing to know if there is anyone having baby clothes to give away. I am separated from my husband because of his abuse of me. I am not getting any money from him. I have a little girl 2½ years old and expect another baby September 15. I am living with my mother, but she has five children of her own, and can't afford to give me anything. If you have anything in the line of baby clothes and a pair of house shoes, size 5½, for myself, I would appreciate them. I am 21 years old and five feet five inches tall.

MRS. A. M. J.

$10 More for Mrs. M. H.

Editor Helping Hand:

Have seen and read your letter from Mrs. M. H., and am more than pleased that she seems to be happier. I would like to inform her that my little gift to her has turned out to be a very profitable investment, it having been returned to me many times over—though not through the medium my nom de plume might suggest, but through an entirely different channel. It is true in this case as in many other cases that the great Giver will not permit Himself to be outdone in generosity, and in token of my esteem and gratitude to Him I herewith forward another ten dollars to Mrs. M. H., hoping that her health, happiness and prosperity will increase. With many thanks to you, dear editor, I remain, very truly yours,

A LAWRENCE SPORT.

"Cast thy bread upon the waters, for thou shalt find it after many days." The ten dollars is being forwarded to Mrs. M. H., and the editor wishes to add his sincerest thanks to hers for your great generosity. Below is a recent letter from Mrs. M. H., written before this last contribution of yours was received.

Saving Eyesight

Editor Helping Hand:

Your letter enclosing check for two dollars donated by A. W. F. was received this morning. Many, many thanks for it. I went to see an oculist today. I shall have to receive some treatment before getting the glasses fitted, but I must have the glasses to save my eyesight. Dear editor, I am so thankful to you. It seems like a wonderful inspiration you must have had in conceiving the idea of the Helping Hand column, your wonderful work in relieving the poor, the hungry and the unclothed.

MRS. M. H.

Again we say we don't deserve the praise and thanks, which belong really to all these generous readers—like "A Lawrence Sport"—who have made this column and its work possible.

Needs School Dresses

Editor Helping Hand:

I am writing to you to ask you if any of the readers would kindly send us a few clothes. My father is sickly and seldom gets more than one week's work in a month. If anyone has any dresses to spare, they would be appreciated by my little sister, who is starting to school this year. The others are boys, eight and ten. I would like a bathing suit, as I live near enough to the beach, but I haven't any bathing suit. Anything would be appreciated, as with what money my father makes, my mother finds it hard to keep us clothed. I am twelve years old and my little sister is six.

R. E. S.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON TORNADO SWARMS

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

A gentleman who says he is interested in a community supposed to lie in oil territory which has been visited by three terrible tornadoes in the last twelve years asks whether it is possible that "imprisoned gas beneath the earth's surface, being in convulsions, could cause a tornado above the surface."

NO, it could not. Tornadoes are not the result of gaseous emanations from the earth, but they are localized vortices formed in the atmosphere along the southern or southeastern border of a large cyclonic storm or area of low barometric pressure, which is crossing the country in an easterly or northeasterly direction. Certain regions, owing to their local peculiarities, and particularly their relation to the habitual tracks of cyclonic storms, are liable, in an uncommon degree, to the visitations of tornadoes.

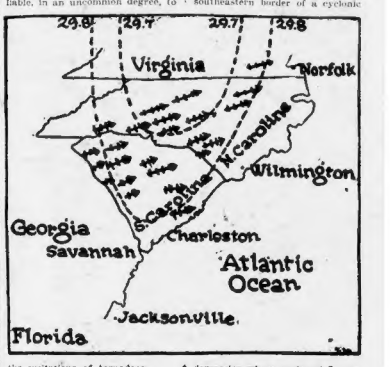
It is possible from the appearance of the daily weather chart during the season most commonly early Spring when tornadoes are likely to occur) to point out approximately the districts where danger is to be apprehended. But all the causes concerned in the production and progress of these strange twisting storms are not yet completely understood. There have been years when almost a plague of tornadoes was experienced, while in many other years they have been few and relatively harmless. It is a moot question whether they have any relation to the sun-spot period.

In seasons favorable to them they sometimes occur, so to speak, in flocks or "schools."

Because of the light which it throws upon the location of tornadoes with reference to the centres of cyclonic depression crossing the country, as well because of its curious interest in itself, I here reproduce in substance one of the remarkable charts of a single day's tornadoes published by the Signal Service in connection with J. P. Finley's "Tornado Studies for 1884." That was a year of extraordinary tornadic activity, the number of these storms occurring during its course in different States being as follows: Georgia, 38; South Carolina, 22; Alabama, 18; North Carolina, 12; Kansas 12; Iowa, 10; Wisconsin, 10; Dakota, 8; Kentucky, 7; Mississippi, 7; Texas, 6; New York, 6; Indiana, 4; Ohio, 3; Missouri, 3; Minnesota, 3; Pennsylvania, 2; Arkansas, 2; Nebraska, 2; Colorado, 2; Tennessee, 2; Illinois, 1; Indian Territory, 1, and Louisiana, 1.

But the storms varied very greatly in intensity and destructiveness.

On February 19 of that year, a most extraordinary swarm of tornadoes broke out along the southeastern border of a cyclonic depression whose centre at 7 a. m. Washington time was around Davenport, Iowa. Between 7 a. m. and 3 p. m., the storm centre meanwhile advancing eastward, fifteen tornadoes raced over longer or shorter distances in the States of Missouri, Illinois, Kentucky, Indiana, Tennessee, Mississippi, and Georgia.



Between 3 p. m. and sundown there were eighteen tornadoes in Alabama and Georgia. Between sundown and 11 p. m., when the low centre had turned northeastward and swept from Indiana up over Lake Huron, twenty-six more tornadoes broke out in South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia. Our chart shows this curious swarming of the tornadoes after sundown on that memorable date. Eight hundred lives were destroyed on that day, 2,500 were wounded, and the loss of property was between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000.

HEROINES OF HISTORY

JOAN OF BRITTANY

By Mark Stuyvesant

BRITTANY, the province in the northwest of France, was always looked upon by the English with envious eyes, and no one looked upon it more hungrily than Edward III. when he was King of England.

So, when the Duke of Brittany died, leaving no heir, there was a controversy between his two brothers, Charles, Duke of Blois, and John, Count of Montfort. The French sided with the Duke of Blois, and England immediately took up the cudgels of the younger son, John, Count of Montfort.

John of Montfort was promptly seized by the French Government and thrown into prison. But there was someone with his interests at heart, who set about at once to plan and plot and scheme to hold the duchy for the imprisoned Count.

It was his wife—one of the real heroines of the fourteenth century in which she lived—who started the campaign to defend the rights of John of Montfort.

A very romantic scene took place which is described as one of the romantic episodes of history, when the Countess of Montfort sent heralds forth and asked the subjects of her husband to come to her castle at Rennes.

Then the great lady appeared on the balustrade with her little son encircled by her arm and passionately pleaded with her people to defend the rights of her boy who represented an ancient and noble house. She assured them that the English would aid them, and spoke to them with such convincing sincerity that the Bretons gave a loud cheer as they pledged their swords to the courageous Joan.

Before entering the conflict, Joan took care to have her little boy safely conducted to the friendly shores of England, where he would be safe from harm.

Then she returned to Hennebont and waited feverishly for the aid England had promised.

Clad in a suit of armor, with her horse ever ready to carry her into the fray, Joan took command. And it was her fine spirit which kept her men encouraged to defend the castle—which they did successfully for a time.

The Duke of Blois was much surprised when he found what a difficult task was his because he had laughed scornfully when told that it was a woman who led his enemy.

When it was thought that the Montfort forces would be obliged to surrender, the bishop was about to talk of terms with the Duke of Blois, Joan ran once more to the tower of her castle hoping that she might see the sail of one of the English fleet.

Her heart thrilled as she saw on the horizon what she thought might be a ship. And her courage increased as she feverishly watched the speck develop into a ship.

Soon the English fleet sailed into the harbor, dropped anchor, and in a short while defeated the Duke of Blois and burned his encampment.

Then followed a treaty whereby John of Montfort was set free, and he and his brave wife were once more united.

For this splendid act of heroism Joan of Brittany is remembered, and her memory is cherished by all who read the history of the Bretons.

Copyright, 1923, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.